REDS POWER TWO MAJOR DRIVES

Truman Prepares War Report And Its Effects For Nation

Truman Asks UMT Action Be Delayed

Would Hold Off Until January

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP) — President Truman expressed hope today that Congress will wait until January to act on Universal Military Training legislation.

A universal training program could not be put into operation "in the immediately foreseeable future," the President said, and "it does not seem to me immediately necessary" for Congress to enact it.

Writes Committee

Mr. Truman expressed his views in a letter to Chairman Tydings (D-Md) and Vinson (D-Ga) of the Senate and House Armed Services committees after the two legislators discussed UMT with him at the White House.

While he said he is "just as strongly in favor of it today as I have ever been," Mr. Truman wrote:

"However, the realities of the situation are that if such legislation were enacted tomorrow it could not possibly be put into effect at once."

The program, he continued, would require many installations and thousands of experienced military officers for training not available now because of the Korean situation.

Lodge Wants Increase

The President's letter to the committee heads followed by a few hours a plea by Senator Lodge (R-Mass) that Congress provide an armed force of 3,000,000 before it recesses. Lodge told the Senate every able-bodied young man should be required to give 18 months' military service.

Lodge said universal military training would be of little value in present circumstances — that what is needed is universal service.

Some members of Congress are now pushing the idea of universal training. The general proposition is that young men of 18 to 20 would have six months of training in camps plus six months with the reserves or national guard.

Lodge said UMT would build up a reserve of trained men, but would not add to military forces in being, which he called the great need.

He said the United States is "faltering and failing" to put enough manpower into its armed forces to counter the threat of 175 Russian divisions.

Plans Fireside Chat Over Radio

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP) — President Truman today was writing a fireside chat on the Korean War — its progress, its aims, and its future cost in blood, dollars and civilian sacrifice.

The time of the broadcast-telecast was not fixed because, a White House official said, Congress has not yet given Mr. Truman the limited mobilization powers he asked six weeks ago.

In Congress, a conference snarled in dispute over standby price, wage and rationing powers undertook to work until midnight if necessary to get agreement on the mobilization bill.

The need for controls and domestic belt-tightening, to arm the fighting forces and quash inflation, was expected to be Mr. Truman's major theme.

Speculate on Speech

But the White House official said military matters and international affairs also will be covered. This led to the belief that the President will reaffirm this country's peaceful intentions and disavow any aggressive aims.

Two top defense figures — General Douglas MacArthur and Secretary of the Navy Matthews — have voiced sentiments on military strategy which Mr. Truman has felt obliged to disavow in the last five days.

Matthews said in a Boston speech that Americans should consider embracing the role of "aggressors for peace." MacArthur sent an address to the Veterans of Foreign Wars in Chicago, but withdrew it on White House orders. It envisaged Formosa as a vital link in this country's Pacific defenses. Administration policy, on the contrary, seeks to isolate or "neutralize" the island, held by the Chinese Nationalist government, from the Pacific fighting.

Works On Controls

While Washington buzzed over this show of cleavage on policy, Congress tried to work out the dispute over how much leeway to give the President in applying wage, price and rationing controls.

The house-approved bill would grant him almost complete discretion to apply price controls as he sees the need.

UN To Air Formosan Issue

Soldiers Are Never Done

A temporary lull in their area overlooking the Naktong River on central Korean war front gives these American soldiers a chance to check weapons and take a sunbath. Pfc. U. S. Blocks Move To Ask Red China

Russia, America Agree On Agenda

By MAX HARRELSON

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 29 (AP) — The United Nations Security Council decided today to give the Formosan problem a full airing, but turned down a Soviet demand that red China be invited to take part in discussions here.

In one of their rare instances of agreement, the United States and Russia both were in the council majority which agreed to place the Formosan question on the council's agenda. The United States, however, vigorously opposed the move to invite a Chinese communist representative to Lake Success.

The Formosan issue grew out of a complaint by Chou En-Lai, foreign minister of the Peiping regime, who charged the United States with aggression against Formosa. The United States replied that it would welcome a full U. N. inquiry.

Under the proposal adopted today, the Formosan question now goes at the bottom of the agenda under the Korean conflict, previously the only order of business. The vote on this was 7 to 2, with Egypt abstaining and Yugoslavia not participating. China and Cuba cast the negative votes.

Russia's Jakob A. Malik, president of the council for this month, then pressed for an immediate vote on his own proposal to invite a Chinese communist representative here. This was defeated when it received only four affirmative votes instead of the required seven. Russia, Norway, Yugoslavia and India voted for it. Nationalist China, the United States, Cuba and Ecuador voted against and Egypt, France and Britain abstained.

The council then adjourned until Thursday at 2 p.m. (EST).

That will be Malik's last day as president, but he indicated he planned to continue attending the council under the presidency of Britain's Sir Gladwyn Jebb. That was the implication seen in his statement that he reserved the right to raise again the question of inviting the Chinese communists to send a representative.

MacArthur Gets Foreign Policy Tip From Truman

President Also Praises General

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP) — President Truman today sent General Douglas MacArthur a pat-on-the-back for his conduct of the Korean War — and a broad hint that the White House is determined to run American Foreign policy without interference.

The President's action came less than 24 hours after the White House confirmed that Mr. Truman had personally ordered MacArthur to withdraw a controversial statement on Formosa, the island refuge of Chiang Kai-Shek's Chinese Nationalist Government.

Although administration officials declined comment, Mr. Truman's letter to MacArthur apparently was designed:

1. To clarify MacArthur's understanding of White House policy and remind him to keep in line.

2. To soften the string of the incident to the five-star general and also to bulwark MacArthur's prestige—or "face"—in the Orient.

A number of Republican lawmakers, meanwhile, continued their critical volleys over the MacArthur episode, contending that it points up a gaping breach between the military and the administration on Far East policy.

Open Attacks On Defense Of Pohang, Taegu

Drive Troops Out Of Kigye Position

By RUSSELL BRINES

TOKYO, Wednesday, Aug. 30 (AP) — North Korean reds powered two major pushes today against a 40-mile arc defending the American advanced supply base on Taegu and the eastern anchor of Pohang.

A 20,000-man attack on the eastren end still was three miles short of Pohang, second best port city in United Nations hands. But it gained ground last night and pushed the South Koreans out of Kigye, nine air miles northwest of Pohang. General MacArthur's spokesman today called this attack "a major effort."

The spokesman also termed "major" a push by other communist forces about 18 miles northeast of Taegu down a road which connects with the Taegu-Pohang highway. This push is in the vicinity of Uihung. Pohang is at one end of the 40-mile battle arc, Uihung at the other.

Repulse Red Attack

A mid-morning communique of the U. S. Eighth Army said the South Korean Eighth Division, which is fighting to the east of Uihung, repulsed a 3,000-man red attack last night. But below Uihung on the highway itself, the South Korean Sixth Division had to withdraw an unspecified distance in a line-straightening operation. It also had to cope with a group of 200 red infiltrators.

Despite this attack and a communist minor success in the southern sector, main attention was centered on Pohang with its port facilities and nearby American air base.

Swarms of planes were giving close strafing support to protect Pohang. The defending South Korean Third Division, in positions three miles north of Pohang, were under mortar and artillery fire.

Associated Press Correspondent Don Huth, reporting on the situation at Pohang, the eastern anchor of the 120-mile battle perimeter, said red patrolling was heavy last night three miles north of that port. He said military sources at U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters had no confirmation of reports that the reds have succeeded in throwing a ring of men two-third of the way around that city.

Action Continues

Nine air miles northwest of Pohang, the action continued to seesaw. Last night the communists pushed the South Korean Capital division troops out of the town of Kigye.

Kigye has changed hands three times since last weekend. Important in the area is a highway, two miles south of Kigye running between Pohang and the advanced American base of Taegu, 45 air miles to the southwest.

Huth said South Koreans have

Withholding Tax On Corporation Dividends Sought

Prefer It To Loophole Plug

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP) — Three Democratic Senators — Lehman of New York, Douglas of Illinois and Humphrey of Minnesota — drove today to put a 10 per cent withholding tax on corporation dividends.

Humphrey shouted to the Senate that, instead of plugging tax law loopholes, the $4,508,000,000 tax boosting bill now pending had "put a welcome mat in front of the loopholes x x x and greased 'em." It continues "tax evasion by coupon clippers," he said.

A withholding on dividends, Humphrey said would create no new tax obligations but would collect $170,000,000 a year from persons who now fail to report dividend payments in their individual income tax statements.

The three Senators offered the dividend withholding as an amendment to the pending bill that proposes a $4,508,000,000 increase in taxes — principally on individual and corporation income — to help pay for the Korean War and America's rearming program.

Humphrey is one of the Senators urging that a $4,000,000,000-a-year excess profits levy on corporations be included in the bill. But the excess profits issue was pushed aside temporarily, without a vote, while the senators shouted at one another about loopholes.

Big-Three Talks Aimed At Defense

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP) — Strategy sessions of the western anti-communist powers in New York next month will be dominated by an effort to win a race against time in rearming North America and Western Europe.

This is apparent from inquiry among responsible diplomatic officials here. They are no longer so confident as they were before the Korean crisis that the west has a comfortable three or four years to get ready for a showdown with the Soviet Union.

The emphasis on the American side now favors maximum rather than merely urgent speed in solving the complicated problems of manufacturing weapons, organizing armies and air forces, meeting related financial and political issues, and finding a place for Western Germany in all this.

Secretary of State Acheson is prepared to tell his colleagues from Britain and France, and other members of the North Atlantic Security Council, that the need of the day is a supreme effort to get the west ready in time. The view among top American diplomats is that the will to make this effort and the strength which will flow from it are the best guarantors of peace.

Sweeping Communist Control Bill Passes House 354 To 20

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP)—The House passed a sweeping Communist Control Bill today, going far beyond President Truman's proposal to require registration of every party member and every "front" group.

The measure now goes to the Senate where closely parallel legislation is set for action soon, perhaps this week.

The roll call vote on final passage was 354 to 20.

Just before the roll was called the House turned down, 153 to 64, a substitute whose sponsor, Rep. Celler (D-NY) said was the administration's bill with some immigration features taken out. The Celler proposal was killed on a teller vote in which the members march past tally clerks but are not recorded by name.

The temper of the House was indicated early in the debate when it became obvious that opposition to the bill would be drowned out by complaints that it still does not go far enough.

Only five House members spoke against the measure, which was sponsored by the Committee on Un-American Activities.

They were Reps. Celler, Marcantonio (ALP-NY), Multer (D-NY), Javits (R,Lib-NY), and Burdick (R-ND).

President Truman asked for only limited measures to combat espionage and subversion: (a) Registration of persons trained abroad for such activity, (b) A longer time before the statute of limitations bars prosecution of spies (c) More authority to prescribe security rules for military installations and (d) Closer control powers over deportable aliens.

He objected to some pending legislation—he obviously referred to some of the registration provisions in the measure the House passed today — as a threat to innocent groups and an effort to control thinking.

The House gave him most of what he wanted and went on from there.

Lewis Bluntly Informs Green Of Strike Stand

Says "We Do Our Own No-Striking"

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP) — In sarcastic words, John L. Lewis served notice today that his United Mine Workers will not be bound by any pledge other union leaders may make to keep the labor peace.

"We do our own no-striking," he wrote in a "memo" to AFL President William Green.

He left the usual Lewis uncertainty as to just how much the communication means. There was no immediate way to tell whether the coal miners and the miscellaneous workers organized with them consider the strike weapon an appropriate one for the times.

What he had to say on the point was cryptic:

"I am sure that you will pardon me when I suggest that the mine workers are not yet ready for you to sell them down the river. Restrict your pledges to your own outfit. We do our own no-striking."

That followed a sentence telling Green that "the press chronicles you as plodding about the country seeking someone to whom you can give a 'no-strike pledge.' "

Green slashed back quickly in language with about as many barbs as Lewis' own.

His basic suggestion, in the politest words, was that Lewis might be out of place in any group adopting a no-strike policy "in order to defend our country and save it from communist aggression."

Green said President Truman has not yet asked the AFL for any such pledge but went on:

"However, let me inform you in positive terms, as I have stated publicly, that we stand ready now, as we did in World War II when we gave the no-strike pledge, to do so whenever the President of the United States advises us such action is necessary to protect our country against communist aggression."

Family Allotment Plan Compromised

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP) — A compromise plan for monthly assistance payments to the dependents of all enlisted men in the armed services was worked out today by a Senate-House committee.

Under it, the payments would vary from a low of $85 for one dependent of lower ranked enlisted men to as much as $165 for families of top non-commissioned officers with three or more dependents.

Part of the money would come out of the pay of the enlisted men.

Senate Votes To Draft Doctors

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP)—The Senate voted today to let President Truman draft physicians, dentists and allied specialists for the armed services.

The action came by unanimous voice vote after brief debate.

The legislation now goes to the House which is ready to act on a similar bill.

Quickie Strike Disrupts Ford

DETROIT, Aug. 29 (AP) — A quickie strike to add pressure to demands of CIO United Auto Workers for immediate wage increases crippled operations of the Ford Motor Company's gigantic River Rouge plant for a time today.

The union is attempting to get Ford to reopen its contract, which has until January to run. Originally the company declined. Wages were to have been discussed at a company-union meeting today but the company refused to discuss pay boosts because of the walkout.

Since Ford's original refusal to reopen the contract, General Motor has put into effect a five cents an hour cost-of-living raise, Chrysler has voluntarily lifted wages 10 cents an hour and the union has won a nine-cent contract increase from Packard.

Today's disruption at Ford's plant occurred as 2,000 tool and die workers walked out for a meeting with union officials "to find out what they're doing to get us wage raises like those given by Packard, Chrysler and General Motors."

Controls Bill Tie Up Ends

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP)—A Senate-House Conference Committee broke a deadlock on anti-inflation legislation tonight by agreeing to give President Truman broad authority to apply wage and price controls on a selective basis.

Senator Maybank (D-SC) announced the agreement after hours of wrangling over how much freedom the president should be allowed to invoke controls.

Some details of the legislation still remain to be worked out by the conference committee. But Maybank predicted this would be done speedily tomorrow morning.

Whatever compromise the conferees agree upon is still subject to final approval by the House and the Senate before the legislation can be sent to the White House.

The scrap which for several days deadlocked efforts to iron out differences between separate bills passed by the House and Senate centered on whether the President should be allowed to put wage and price controls into effect bit by bit or on almost everything if he imposed any at all.

Taft, Searching For Votes, Heckled On Plant Visit

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 29 (AP)—Senator Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio), searching for labor votes in heavily Democratic Youngstown, was heckled today by about 100 CIO United steelworkers as his car swung through a steel plant gate.

The Republican Senate policy leader was here as part of his strenuous campaign for reelection this fall.

The unionists, when they heard Taft was going to visit the plant they work in—the big Campbell Works of Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co., left their jobs two hours before he arrived.

Taft did not plan to make a speech at the plant.

Some 3,400 other workers remained inside, but departure of the protesting employes from the boiler house and blooming mill idled about 1,500. Steel finishing operations were halted.

Taft refused to cancel his scheduled visit when told that the group of protesting workers had gathered at the gate. A police guard was on duty when his automobile entered and left the plant, but there was no disturbance. There were some boos and catcalls.

After an hour-long tour of the plant's open hearth and machine shop divisions — both operating — Taft left. Inside the plan he chatted with some of the workers and shook hands with a number of them. He appeared unruffled by the pickets.

"Even most of the pickets smiled at me when I waved and seemed glad to meet a notorious person," Taft commented.

The plant gates did not reopen for more than an hour after Taft left, but when they did, all but about 10 of the men went back to work.

U. S. War Prisoners Cable Malik For Peace--He Says

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 29 (AP) — Russia's Jakob A. Malik today distributed a cable, purportedly signed by 39 American prisoners of war in Korea, calling for withdrawal of U. S. troops from Korea in order to end "this senseless bloodshed."

American sources at U. N. said they had no way of knowing whether the men who allegedly signed the cable actually were prisoners or the circumstances under which they signed, whether voluntarily or under duress.

"There is no sense, no need for continuation of this war," the cable said. "Further intervention by the United States will result in great and needless loss of young American life.

"While there is yet time, while many are still living who may otherwise fall dead, America must and should withdraw its forces from Korea."

Malik said the appeal was addressed to him in his capacity as president of the U. N. Security Council, not as Soviet delegate.

The purported signers identified themselves as American prisoners in a North Korean camp, and said they were well fed, well housed and well treated.

"We receive three meals a day, even with bread, which certainly satisfies our appetites," they said.

The men begged for an end to American air attacks, saying "we ourselves, being quartered in a mere dwelling district, are also exposed to the brutal American air raids."

They denounced being sent to Korea as part of a "United Nations police force" and explained "the illegality of this action by the United Nations had not yet been brought to our attention."

They declared they had been shocked to arrive in Korea and discover that the South Koreans "were not our friends. x x x"

Effort Is Made To Draft Dewey

By DREW PEARSON

Powerful, last-minute efforts were made over the weekend by no less than the Rockefeller family to draft Thomas E. Dewey to run for Governor of New York—and perhaps have another try at the presidency.

Winthrop Aldrich, head of the Chase National Bank, conferred over the weekend with his brother-in-law, John D. Rockefeller in Bar Harbor, Me.; and together they phoned Roy Howard, head of the Scripps-Howard newspapers and a powerful Dewey backer.

They also telephoned Frank Gannett, head of the Gannett newspaper chain which blankets New York state, and asked him to come to New York immediately.

Aldrich pointed out to both Roy Howard and Gannett that the country faced a crisis and that Dewey must be persuaded to run again.

Gannett was on his yacht on Lake Ontario when the Bar Harbor call came through on Sunday, and following it, he flew in his private plane to New York for lunch with Aldrich on Monday. With him went his close friend and budding political leader, Carl Hallenauer of the Bausch and Lomb Optical Company in Rochester.

Howard agreed to run an editorial in the New York World-Telegram, urging the Republican party to draft Dewey for a third term. A similar editorial in the New York Herald Tribune, incidentally, brought forth only a few favorable letters.

Meanwhile, Lt. Gov. Joe Hanley, the proposed candidate if Dewey does not run, has told GOP leaders that they will have to make up their minds soon or find another candidate.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP) — President Truman today sent General Douglas MacArthur a pat-on-the-back for his conduct of the Korean War — and a broad hint that the White House is determined to run American Foreign policy without interference.

The President's action came less than 24 hours after the White House confirmed that Mr. Truman had personally ordered MacArthur to withdraw a controversial statement on Formosa, the island refuge of Chiang Kai-Shek's Chinese Nationalist Government.

Although administration officials declined comment, Mr. Truman's letter to MacArthur apparently was designed:

1. To clarify MacArthur's understanding of White House policy and remind him to keep in line.

2. To soften the string of the incident to the five-star general and also to bulwark MacArthur's prestige—or "face"—in the Orient.

A number of Republican lawmakers, meanwhile, continued their critical volleys over the MacArthur episode, contending that it points up a gaping breach between the military and the administration on Far East policy.

Open Attacks On Defense Of Pohang, Taegu

Drive Troops Out Of Kigye Position

By RUSSELL BRINES

TOKYO, Wednesday, Aug. 30 (AP) — North Korean reds powered two major pushes today against a 40-mile arc defending the American advanced supply base on Taegu and the eastern anchor of Pohang.

A 20,000-man attack on the eastren end still was three miles short of Pohang, second best port city in United Nations hands. But it gained ground last night and pushed the South Koreans out of Kigye, nine air miles northwest of Pohang. General MacArthur's spokesman today called this attack "a major effort."

The spokesman also termed "major" a push by other communist forces about 18 miles northeast of Taegu down a road which connects with the Taegu-Pohang highway. This push is in the vicinity of Uihung. Pohang is at one end of the 40-mile battle arc, Uihung at the other.

Repulse Red Attack

A mid-morning communique of the U. S. Eighth Army said the South Korean Eighth Division, which is fighting to the east of Uihung, repulsed a 3,000-man red attack last night. But below Uihung on the highway itself, the South Korean Sixth Division had to withdraw an unspecified distance in a line-straightening operation. It also had to cope with a group of 200 red infiltrators.

Despite this attack and a communist minor success in the southern sector, main attention was centered on Pohang with its port facilities and nearby American air base.

Swarms of planes were giving close strafing support to protect Pohang. The defending South Korean Third Division, in positions three miles north of Pohang, were under mortar and artillery fire.

Associated Press Correspondent Don Huth, reporting on the situation at Pohang, the eastern anchor of the 120-mile battle perimeter, said red patrolling was heavy last night three miles north of that port. He said military sources at U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters had no confirmation of reports that the reds have succeeded in throwing a ring of men two-third of the way around that city.

Action Continues

Nine air miles northwest of Pohang, the action continued to seesaw. Last night the communists pushed the South Korean Capital division troops out of the town of Kigye.

Kigye has changed hands three times since last weekend. Important in the area is a highway, two miles south of Kigye running between Pohang and the advanced American base of Taegu, 45 air miles to the southwest.

Huth said South Koreans have

Withholding Tax On Corporation Dividends Sought

Prefer It To Loophole Plug

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP) — Three Democratic Senators — Lehman of New York, Douglas of Illinois and Humphrey of Minnesota — drove today to put a 10 per cent withholding tax on corporation dividends.

Humphrey shouted to the Senate that, instead of plugging tax law loopholes, the $4,508,000,000 tax boosting bill now pending had "put a welcome mat in front of the loopholes x x x and greased 'em." It continues "tax evasion by coupon clippers," he said.

A withholding on dividends, Humphrey said would create no new tax obligations but would collect $170,000,000 a year from persons who now fail to report dividend payments in their individual income tax statements.

The three Senators offered the dividend withholding as an amendment to the pending bill that proposes a $4,508,000,000 increase in taxes — principally on individual and corporation income — to help pay for the Korean War and America's rearming program.

Humphrey is one of the Senators urging that a $4,000,000,000-a-year excess profits levy on corporations be included in the bill. But the excess profits issue was pushed aside temporarily, without a vote, while the senators shouted at one another about loopholes.

Sweeping Communist Control Bill Passes House 354 To 20

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP)—The House passed a sweeping Communist Control Bill today, going far beyond President Truman's proposal to require registration of every party member and every "front" group.

The measure now goes to the Senate where closely parallel legislation is set for action soon, perhaps this week.

The roll call vote on final passage was 354 to 20.

Just before the roll was called the House turned down, 153 to 64, a substitute whose sponsor, Rep. Celler (D-NY) said was the administration's bill with some immigration features taken out. The Celler proposal was killed on a teller vote in which the members march past tally clerks but are not recorded by name.

The temper of the House was indicated early in the debate when it became obvious that opposition to the bill would be drowned out by complaints that it still does not go far enough.

Only five House members spoke against the measure, which was sponsored by the Committee on Un-American Activities.

They were Reps. Celler, Marcantonio (ALP-NY), Multer (D-NY), Javits (R,Lib-NY), and Burdick (R-ND).

President Truman asked for only limited measures to combat espionage and subversion: (a) Registration of persons trained abroad for such activity, (b) A longer time before the statute of limitations bars prosecution of spies (c) More authority to prescribe security rules for military installations and (d) Closer control powers over deportable aliens.

He objected to some pending legislation—he obviously referred to some of the registration provisions in the measure the House passed today — as a threat to innocent groups and an effort to control thinking.

The House gave him most of what he wanted and went on from there.

Lewis Bluntly Informs Green Of Strike Stand

Says "We Do Our Own No-Striking"

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP) — In sarcastic words, John L. Lewis served notice today that his United Mine Workers will not be bound by any pledge other union leaders may make to keep the labor peace.

"We do our own no-striking," he wrote in a "memo" to AFL President William Green.

He left the usual Lewis uncertainty as to just how much the communication means. There was no immediate way to tell whether the coal miners and the miscellaneous workers organized with them consider the strike weapon an appropriate one for the times.

What he had to say on the point was cryptic:

"I am sure that you will pardon me when I suggest that the mine workers are not yet ready for you to sell them down the river. Restrict your pledges to your own outfit. We do our own no-striking."

That followed a sentence telling Green that "the press chronicles you as plodding about the country seeking someone to whom you can give a 'no-strike pledge.' "

Green slashed back quickly in language with about as many barbs as Lewis' own.

His basic suggestion, in the politest words, was that Lewis might be out of place in any group adopting a no-strike policy "in order to defend our country and save it from communist aggression."

Green said President Truman has not yet asked the AFL for any such pledge but went on:

"However, let me inform you in positive terms, as I have stated publicly, that we stand ready now, as we did in World War II when we gave the no-strike pledge, to do so whenever the President of the United States advises us such action is necessary to protect our country against communist aggression."

Quickie Strike Disrupts Ford

DETROIT, Aug. 29 (AP) — A quickie strike to add pressure to demands of CIO United Auto Workers for immediate wage increases crippled operations of the Ford Motor Company's gigantic River Rouge plant for a time today.

The union is attempting to get Ford to reopen its contract, which has until January to run. Originally the company declined. Wages were to have been discussed at a company-union meeting today but the company refused to discuss pay boosts because of the walkout.

Since Ford's original refusal to reopen the contract, General Motor has put into effect a five cents an hour cost-of-living raise, Chrysler has voluntarily lifted wages 10 cents an hour, and the union has won a nine-cent contract increase from Packard.

Today's disruption at Ford's plant occurred as 2,000 tool and die workers walked out for a meeting with union officials "to find out what they're doing to get us wage raises like those given by Packard, Chrysler and General Motors."

Controls Bill Tie Up Ends

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP)—A Senate-House Conference Committee broke a deadlock on anti-inflation legislation tonight by agreeing to give President Truman broad authority to apply wage and price controls on a selective basis.

Senator Maybank (D-SC) announced the agreement after hours of wrangling over how much freedom the president should be allowed to invoke controls.

Some details of the legislation still remain to be worked out by the conference committee. But Maybank predicted this would be done speedily tomorrow morning.

Whatever compromise the conferees agree upon is still subject to final approval by the House and the Senate before the legislation can be sent to the White House.

The scrap which for several days deadlocked efforts to iron out differences between separate bills passed by the House and Senate centered on whether the President should be allowed to put wage and price controls into effect bit by bit or on almost everything if he imposed any at all.

Taft, Searching For Votes, Heckled On Plant Visit

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 29 (AP)—Senator Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio), searching for labor votes in heavily Democratic Youngstown, was heckled today by about 100 CIO United steelworkers as his car swung through a steel plant gate.

The Republican Senate policy leader was here as part of his strenuous campaign for reelection this fall.

The unionists, when they heard Taft was going to visit the plant they work in—the big Campbell Works of Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co., left their jobs two hours before he arrived.

Taft did not plan to make a speech at the plant.

Some 3,400 other workers remained inside, but departure of the protesting employes from the boiler house and blooming mill idled about 1,500. Steel finishing operations were halted.

Taft refused to cancel his scheduled visit when told that the group of protesting workers had gathered at the gate. A police guard was on duty when his automobile entered and left the plant, but there was no disturbance. There were some boos and catcalls.

After an hour-long tour of the plant's open hearth and machine shop divisions — both operating — Taft left. Inside the plan he chatted with some of the workers and shook hands with a number of them. He appeared unruffled by the pickets.

"Even most of the pickets smiled at me when I waved and seemed glad to meet a notorious person," Taft commented.

The plant gates did not reopen for more than an hour after Taft left, but when they did, all but about 10 of the men went back to work.

Family Allotment Plan Compromised

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP) — A compromise plan for monthly assistance payments to the dependents of all enlisted men in the armed services was worked out today by a Senate-House committee.

Under it, the payments would vary from a low of $85 for one dependent of lower ranked enlisted men to as much as $165 for families of top non-commissioned officers with three or more dependents.

Part of the money would come out of the pay of the enlisted men.

Senate Votes To Draft Doctors

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP)—The Senate voted today to let President Truman draft physicians, dentists and allied specialists for the armed services.

The action came by unanimous voice vote after brief debate.

The legislation now goes to the House which is ready to act on a similar bill.

U. S. War Prisoners Cable Malik For Peace--He Says

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 29 (AP) — Russia's Jakob A. Malik today distributed a cable, purportedly signed by 39 American prisoners of war in Korea, calling for withdrawal of U. S. troops from Korea in order to end "this senseless bloodshed."

American sources at U. N. said they had no way of knowing whether the men who allegedly signed the cable actually were prisoners or the circumstances under which they signed, whether voluntarily or under duress.

"There is no sense, no need for continuation of this war," the cable said. "Further intervention by the United States will result in great and needless loss of young American life.

"While there is yet time, while many are still living who may otherwise fall dead, America must and should withdraw its forces from Korea."

Malik said the appeal was addressed to him in his capacity as president of the U. N. Security Council, not as Soviet delegate.

The purported signers identified themselves as American prisoners in a North Korean camp, and said they were well fed, well housed and well treated.

"We receive three meals a day, even with bread, which certainly satisfies our appetites," they said.

The men begged for an end to American air attacks, saying "we ourselves, being quartered in a mere dwelling district, are also exposed to the brutal American air raids."

They denounced being sent to Korea as part of a "United Nations police force" and explained "the illegality of this action by the United Nations had not yet been brought to our attention."

They declared they had been shocked to arrive in Korea and discover that the South Koreans "were not our friends. x x x"

Effort Is Made To Draft Dewey

By DREW PEARSON

Powerful, last-minute efforts were made over the weekend by no less than the Rockefeller family to draft Thomas E. Dewey to run for Governor of New York—and perhaps have another try at the presidency.

Winthrop Aldrich, head of the Chase National Bank, conferred over the weekend with his brother-in-law, John D. Rockefeller in Bar Harbor, Me.; and together they phoned Roy Howard, head of the Scripps-Howard newspapers and a powerful Dewey backer.

They also telephoned Frank Gannett, head of the Gannett newspaper chain which blankets New York state, and asked him to come to New York immediately.

Aldrich pointed out to both Roy Howard and Gannett that the country faced a crisis and that Dewey must be persuaded to run again.

Gannett was on his yacht on Lake Ontario when the Bar Harbor call came through on Sunday, and following it, he flew in his private plane to New York for lunch with Aldrich on Monday. With him went his close friend and budding political leader, Carl Hallenauer of the Bausch and Lomb Optical Company in Rochester.

Howard agreed to run an editorial in the New York World-Telegram, urging the Republican party to draft Dewey for a third term. A similar editorial in the New York Herald Tribune, incidentally, brought forth only a few favorable letters.

Meanwhile, Lt. Gov. Joe Hanley, the proposed candidate if Dewey does not run, has told GOP leaders that they will have to make up their minds soon or find another candidate.

Canadian Commons Move To Restore Strike-Bound Rails

OTTAWA, Aug. 29 (AP)—The House of Commons quickly pushed toward enactment tonight a government bill directing resumption of Canadian railway operations — halted a week ago by a nationwide strike. The end of the walkout apparently was in sight.

The measure instructs the railways and the unions to get the rail lines operating within 48 hours of its passage. Pending a final settlement, the workers are to receive a provisional wage increase of four cents an hour—the best offer made by the railways in the collapsed negotiations.

If the railways and the unions fail to settle their differences within 15 days, the measure provides that the government itself will appoint an arbitrator. The legislation guarantees that no employe shall be discharged by reason of having gone on strike.

The House gave the legislation its first reading, the first step toward passage, during the day and tonight began consideration of the measure on second reading.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP)—The Senate Judiciary Committee today proposed an investigation of the "competence, fitness and legal qualifications" of all federal judges.

Flash Floods Inundate D. C. Areas Again

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP) — Sections of the greater Washington area were inundated by flash floods today for the third time in 10 days.

Flood water depths up to eight feet were reported in some areas but the Weather Bureau Station at National Airport, across the Potomac River in Virginia, reported recording only a 'trace" of rain.

The worst hit sector of the city was roughly bounded by Third and 13th Streets and Hamilton and Rittenhouse Streets, Northwest, the fire board said.

Cellars were flooded, automobiles were abandoned in high water and the electrical storm and wind accompanying the rain knocked down trees, which in turn tore down electric wires.

Firemen reported that automobiles floated in eight feet of water in the 6200 block of Third Street, northwest. At Fifth and Ingraham Street police rescued a cab driver and woman passenger marooned in an automobile which was up to the door handles in water.

In Prince Georges County, Md., the police radio station at Hyattsville was knocked out by the storm. In Takoma Park, Md., a bridge was washed out.

British Troops Land In Korea

A SOUTH KOREAN PORT, Aug. 30 (Wednesday) (INS) — Kilted Highlanders, only too well known to the Nazis as "Ladies From Hell," faced a new foe in Korea today, the stirring farewell skirl o' the pipes still singing in their ears.

A Battalion of the famed Argyle and Sutherland Highlanders, plus a renowned British Middlesex battalion, reached their first bivouac "Somewhere in Korea" Tuesday night.

They had made a hilarious journey by train and truck from a southern port, spending the night singing and dancing the Highland fling to the music of mouth organs.

It was with light hearts that they marched off towards the perils of the fighting front after their landing at this port.

To the drone and skirl of the bagpipes, however, was added a note unknown before in the centuries-long histories of the famous units.

An American negro band first solemnly played "God Save The King," then swung so lustily into "St. Louis Blues" they made the pipes sound like church music.

Ecuadorean Girl Attacked In Wooded Area In Arlington

ARLINGTON, Va., Aug. 29 (AP)—A 23-year-old Ecuadorean student was stripped, beaten and raped late today, she told police, by a giant, nude negro man.

Miss Eva Moscoso, who lives with an aunt, related that she was attacked in a heavily wooded area not far from the Fairlington Development.

She said she escaped somehow from her attacker and fled to a nearby street, with nothing to cover her except a brown paper bag.

In the street she met three little boys, Brooks Claxton, 9, Robert Price, 9, and Timothy Hahn, 10, and they helped her knock on house doors until finally Miss. J. R. Greene answered at her home.

Miss Greene said the girl sobbed "Oh, Mama Mia, please help me," and collapsed.

Neighbors, attracted by the girl's screams, called police and an ambulance.

FBI Director Warns Women Are More Deadly In Crime Than Men

NEW YORK, Aug. 29. (INS)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover warned today that women are more deadly in crime than men and unless the mounting female-crime trend is reversed, there can be no improvement in the general national crime picture.

Hoover, writing in the September issue of Cosmopolitan magazine, said that although women committed fewer crimes than men last year, their proportion of murders was five to every four committed by men.

He added that women are more active than men also in "certain of the gentler ways of separating people from property, such as larceny, forgery and counterfeiting."

The FBI director warned that although male criminals still far outnumber the females, the proportion is changing. He said:

"In 10 years, the number of women fingerprinted annually by American police has mounted nearly 80 per cent, against a 33 per cent increase for the men. This is not a mere wartime phenomenon, but a social malady that appeared before Pearl Harbor and has continued to spread since V-J Day."

Attempting to explain the high number of women murderers, Hoover said that "most murders are committed in rage, so it seems natural enough for the emotional sex to show a predilection for murder." He added that many women criminals are expert actresses and declared:

"They can feign the sweetest innocence when, in fact, their hearts are as black as coal."

But, he added, Bonnie Parker, sweetheart of Killer Clyde Barrow, really looked her part. She smoked cigars and actually carried a revolver.

Women who committed less violent crimes include Vernice Charla who had 90 aliases and scattered $1,250,000 in worthless checks over the country.

Hoover said that the fictional heroine who steals money to send her son through theological seminary "simply doesn't exist." He declared:

"There is no such thing as a female criminal with a heart of gold."

The great bulk of women's misdeeds, he said, are "grimy, sordid stories that strike at the very heart of the family and the nation." Because crime arises in the home, he concluded, the nation cannot expect an improvement in the general crime picture, either male or female, until the trend is reversed.

Troops In Alaska Begin Grim Game Of Total Defense

FAIRBANKS, Alaska — (AP) — Ground and air troops of far north installations have started a grim game of all-out defense.

The training exercises, dubbed "Dutch Door," is believed to be the largest scale maneuver staged by Alaska military units. It will last until Sept. 16.

Brig. Gen. David H. Baker, commander of the 5001st Composite Wing at Ladd Air Force Base, described the problem this way:

The town of Nome, which hangs on the edge of the Arctic Circle just across the Bering Straits from Siberia, was "captured by the enemy Aug. 15." Galena and McGrath, inland points on the Yukon River, subsequently fell to small airborne detachments Aug. 18.

Under the provisions of the problem, the President of the United States proclaimed martial law in the territory on the day of Galena's fall.

The enemy then began the strengthening of fighter, troop carrier and airborne units in the preparations for an assault upon Ladd and Eielson Air Bases.

Taking the problem there, Ladd and Eielson units will try to ward off the theoretical assault.

Army combat troops stationed at Ladd and Fort Richardson will act the part of aggressor units. They will wear green uniforms, helmets of an unusual design and will carry blank ammunition. Parachute dummies will be dropped during the maneuvers to represent enemy forces.

Plans for the defense have been carefully correlated by Gen. Baker and Col. William Eads, Eielson Air Base commander.

Lockheed F-94's, one of the Air Force's newest jet fighters, will make its initial appearance in the mock operations. They will be supported by F-80 Shooting Stars and F-82 all-weather fighters.

Ladd and Eielson personnel will be restricted to their bases during the operation except for brief interim periods.

The present system of punctuating the written language grew out of a systems by Aldus Manutius, an Italian scholar and printer of the Fifteenth Century.

Smith To Be Judge At Reading Fair

A LaVale resident, C. Arthur Smith, has been named one of four pigeon judges at the Reading Fair, Reading, Pa., September 10 to September 17.

Smith, who was in charge of the poultry exhibit at the Cumberland Fair last week, has the largest group of show pigeons in the area. Serving with him as judges at Reading will Walter Zimmer, Rochester, N. Y.; Earl E. Himmelberger, Westfield, N. J.; and William F. Meyer, Westfield.

Legion Band To Meet

George Zegles, chairman of the Fort Cumberland Nost No. 13, American Legion, band committee, has announced that the post band will meet tonight at 8 o'clock for rehearsal.

Zegles stated that all musicians desiring to affiliate with the band are urged to bring their instruments to the session.

"Ike" Not Interested In Running For Senate

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower is said to have been approached recently by scouts of the New York Republican organization, to see if he would run for senator this fall. With Gov. Thomas E. Dewey out of the race, the party is left with 74-year-old Lieut.-Gov. Joe R. Hanley to run for governor. Hanley is a respected old gentleman, but is rated as a better vote-getter in rural areas than in the cities. This, in New York, is not good. A strong running-mate for senator is called for, and he must be strong indeed, since his Democratic opponent will be Senator Herbert H. Lehman. Eisenhouser doubtless seemed a natural choice.

Equally naturally "Ike" was not interested. Whether or not the presidency of Columbia University is as satisfactory a job as he anticipated, it is far preferable to a senatorship. The president of Columbia is, by virtue of his position, one of the nation's eminent citizens; a United States senator is but one out of 96, few of whom are even names to the nation. And there is a good deal of drudgery and errand-running for exacting constituents which might not strike Eisenhower as sufficiently taxing to his abilities.

One other consideration may have moved him to decline. If there should be general mobilization, Eisenhower would certainly be recalled to active service. He doubtless would not care to accept an office which he might not be able to keep for long.

A 50 Billion Congress

The general appropriation bill in Congress covers more than 500 pages of fine print and contains so many items that nobody knows exactly how much money it provides. The best guess seems to be that about $34,000,000,000 is allotted to non-military government agencies.

But it is emphasized this figure is "rough." It is all of that. It is especially rough on the taxpayers who will be called upon to supply the funds. It is much rougher than it would have been if Congress had gone through with its original program to slice appropriations by 10 per cent.

As it is economies actually effected total approximately $600,000,000 and these are to be accomplished not by direct action of Congress but by ordering the Budget Bureau somehow to save that much money.

In adopting this round-about procedure Congress has dodged a major duty. A more responsible legislative body and one with the courage to forget the coming elections would have stated explicitly what projects were to be eliminated or reduced and what agencies called upon to get along with smaller appropriations. To put this burden on the Budget Bureau is a case of political buckpassing.

In any event, this will be a $50,000,000,000 Congress —$34,000,000,000 for the regular departments and $16,000,000,000 for the military establishment. With military expenses spiraling and no disposition to cut non-essential government spending, what government expenditures will be next year is anybody's guess.

When The Earth Quakes

A recent earthquake, surpassing in intensity any that have been recorded for a long time, has been provisionally centered in eastern Tibet, a region from which statistics of damage and death will come but slowly. It caused some damage in India. It is thus placed in the same quarter of the world in which occurred the most terrible earthquake ever recorded, that which in 1556 caused an estimated 830,000 deaths in Shensi Province, China.

While Europe and the United States have been remarkably free from earthquake disasters, South America has had several and China and Japan have been cursed with many. Lisbon, the Portuguese capital, holds the unenviable distinction of being the only important city to have experienced two great earthquake disasters. One in 1531 caused deaths estimated at 30,000, and the second in 1765 killed 60,000.

In the United States the worst earthquake was the 1906 catastrophe, taking 700 lives, which is remembered as the San Francisco fire rather than a quake. The fire, started by the quake, caused the greater damage. A serious earth shock killed 27 in Charleston, South Carolina, in 1886. Americans are most fortunate to live in a part of the world where the results of these unpredictable and unmanageable shakings of the earth are recorded in such small figures.

Mike Fink

"I'm half wild horse and half cock-eyed alligator, and the rest of me is crooked snags and red-hot snapping turtle." This was the battlecry of Mike Fink, king of the keel-boat men who, early in the 19th century, poled heavy-laden rafts up and down the Mississippi River. He has lately been brought to memory by the movement to have his body, now buried at the mouth of the Yellowstone, where he met his death, transferred to his birthplace in Fort Pitt Park, Pittsburgh.

Mike's feats would seem fabulous if they were not so well attested. He and a companion would fill a tin cup with whisky, place it by turns on each other's head, and shoot at it with a rifle from 70 yards away. The cup was always bored through without injury to its living support.

This sounds like an American version of the fable of William Tell and the apple, but Mike was a real personage, born in 1770 and killed in 1823. Paul Bunyan, on the other hand, the hero of the logging camps, is purely mythical. The new interest in both adds to our list of folk heroes, and enriches the American heritage.

Which River Is Which

Can the name of the Mississippi River be wrong? It should be called the Ohio, says Col. John L. Person of the United States Army Engineers. His reason is that at Cairo, where the rivers join, the Ohio pours in twenty per cent more water than the Mississippi.

It has also been argued that the Missouri is the main stream and not the Mississippi. The Missouri is the longer of the two, from the point of their juncture and foreign geographers are impressed when told the length of the Missouri-Mississippi.

Telling which is the main river and which the branch may sometimes be baffling. In the 18th century the Wabash River was thought to be the main stream, and the Ohio, into which it flows, only a branch. Maps of that day record that impression. Be that as it may, however, the Mississippi is now named. It would be easier to change its course than its name.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Leukemia Remedies

LEUKEMIA still makes the headlines, especially when the parents of a critically ill child issue a frantic appeal for blood donors. So far, the disease has resisted all form of treatment except in isolated instances where life has been prolonged by utilizing ACTH, aminopterin, X-ray or nitrogen mustard.

There is an acute and a chronic form. The two are related but the manifestations are different and the acute variety is most frequent in children. It runs a short and dramatic course, ending fatally within a few months. The chronic type is milder and usually afflicts adults; years usually elapse before the victim becomes incapacitated. Weakness and enlargement of the lymph glands are the primary symptoms.

The youngster with acute leukemia may not appear ill until the disorder is full-blown. In some, the first signs may be black and blue marks caused by spontaneous skin hemorrhages. In others, enlarged lymph glands, paleness, and slight fever are the initial indications. The true nature of the condition may escape detection unless a blood count is taken, as this is the only way in which the diagnosis can be made.

In leukemia there is a lawless multiplication of the white cells (leucocytes). The count may become so high that the blood assumes a milky color, which explains the meaning of the word leukemia. The disturbance has been referred to as "cancer of the blood" but most authorities frown on this implication. They believe that the cause lies in the blood forming organs and that the findings in this fluid are but a single manifestation of the disease. Regardless of type, the white count may go as high as 500,000. (The normal is less than 10,000.) Many of the white corpuscles are abnormal or young leucocytes that have escaped into the circulation, before they have had a chance to mature, from the overactive lymph glands, bone marrow, or other blood manufacturing structures.

In the last fey years various remedies have become available. Prior to that time treatment was aimed at relieving distressing symptoms and X-ray and arsenic were the old standbys in this respect. The new products have selped to prolong life, and aminopterin, a folic acid antagonist, is one of the most popular. To the best of our knowledge the white cells need folic acid in order to mature. Aminopterin is similar in chemical structure to folic acid and when it is administered the growing white cells pick it up by mistake. But aminopterin has no food value and the cells are unable to develop. Unfortunately many of the normal cells are affected in the same way and therein lies the difficulty.

Nitrogen mustard also has been employed but is less effective and often produces uncomfortable reactions, in some instances so severe we can say that "the treatment is worse than the disease." The chemical leads to remissions which are so short and disappointing that ultimately the remedy is discontinued. Radioactive phosphorus is one of the latest plans but is far from the long awaited cure. The same can be said of ACTH, cortisone, urethane, and stilbamidine. Most physicians are still utilizing X-ray and frequently resort to blood transfusions to overcome weakness and anemia and to improve the feeling of well being of the victim.

TOMORROW: Dr. Van Dellen discusses pinworm infestations in children.

NEURITIS

G. R. writes: Are vitamins helpful in neuritis?

REPLY

Yes, if vitamin deficiency is responsible. Niacin and thiamin are most commonly prescribed. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on neuritis.

HEART STUDY

J. N. writes: Is it possible to obtain an accurate heart analysis by means of a stethoscope?

REPLY.

This is only part of the examination but unquestionably the most important. By listening to the heart the physician can detect the strength and rate of the beat, the rhythm, and whether or not leakage exists. Other instruments such as the electrocardiogram are better in diagnosing specific conditions like coronary thrombosis.

Shimon Was Tipped Off By U. S. Attorney's Office Of His Investigation A Year Ago; Congressional Democrats To Lower The Boom On Secretary Johnson

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON.—A TIP TO SENATOR PEPPER ON WIRE-TAPPING:

Why not subpoena John Fihelly, assistant to U.S. Attorney Morris Fay.

You will find that the police lieutenant who practiced Russian wiretap methods in the nation's capital was vacationing at Nagshead, N. C., when his police superiors began investigating him in August of last year for tapping the wires of Howard Hughes and others.

At that time Shimon received a mysterious phone call tipping him off as to what was happening. And he rushed back to Washington, where assistant U.S. Attorney Fihelly told him he was under investigation.

The meeting between Fihelly and Shimon took place early in August in the cocktail room of the Raleigh Hotel.

In other words, Shimon knew that he was being investigated almost from the start. But the amazing fact is that the tip came from the U.S. Attorney's office, which is supposed to uphold the law, not violate it.

This little incident may help to explain why — a year later — U.S. Attorney Fay's office again demonstrated a touching regard for Shimon by delaying a grand jury investigation of his wire-tapping until the statute of limitations had almost expired.

EXIT LOUEY JOHNSON? — Big guns in the Democratic Party led by Speaker Sam Rayburn are hot on the trail of Secretary of Defense Louey Johnson. They know that Johnson is passing out information to the Republicans against Dean Acheson and U.S. foreign policy generally. The men he is working through are Senators Brewster of Maine and Wherry of Nebraska, two of Truman's bitterest opponents. . . . Therefore, Johnson will soon feel the full force of Senator Lyndon Johnson's new "Truman committee," which will make a thorough investigation of our military setup, and lower the boom on Louey sometime after elections. Don Cook of the SEC will be chief counsel and will play his part well. . . . Johnson is so bitter at Acheson that when he appeared before closed-door Senate Foreign Relations Committee Hearings, he looked around the room and inquired mockingly: "Is there anyone from the State Department listening?" Again he snarled: "This is not the diplomat speaking, but the military."

CHURCHILL PREDICTS WAR—Here is the inside story behind Winston Churchill's stirring demand for a unified Western European army. Before he made it, he told Paul Reynaud, ex-prime minister of France, that he is certain war with Russia will come before Christmas of 1951 and the West will lose all of Europe six weeks after the first shot is fired unless his plan is adopted. Churchill drew much applause but no support from the British government.

UNIFICATION WORKS — Congratulations to the three secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force for their friendly teamwork. Sitting around the table, they work out mutual problems before passing them on to Secretary of Defense Johnson. This has done away with the interservice dickering that used to take place in Johnson's office. As a result, unification is now working better than ever.

BUSINESS BEFORE DEFENSE—The Army is having trouble buying parts for its equipment — because most manufacturers are still catering to private business. The Army can't get delivery on resistors for nine months, because civilian orders have priority. Yet resistors are essential for walkie-talkies and tank radios, badly needed in Korea. du-Pont has also held up a large order of wire by raising prices on the wire covering. So the entire order now has to be renegotiated.

MORE RENT CONTROLS—Housing Expeditor Tighe Woods will ask Congress to restore his wartime power to control rents. He wants authority to slap new controls on critical housing areas and to nullify the action of cities already decontrolled. Woods' recommendations are now on their way to Congress via the Budget Bureau.

ACHESON'S HEALTH—It will be denied but Secretary Acheson is seriously thinking of resigning after the first of January even though President Truman wants him to stay on. The terrific strain of directing foreign policy plus McCarthy's vicious attacks have made Acheson look ten years older. Doctors forced him to go on a complete two-week vacation, which has helped. But many friends fear he won't be able to stand the pace.

Johnson's Special Agent

Such hilarious reports have come back to the capital regarding Senator Harry Cain's comic opera trip across Europe as "the special agent of the Secretary of Defense," that Secretary Johnson recently complained to President Truman:

"But he isn't my representative. I never authorized him to go to Europe for me."

No wonder Johnson is worried over the way Cain poses as his "special agent."

The Senator from Washington, dressed in the uniform of a Reserve colonel, recently lined up a group of generals and U.S. diplomats in Germany. And waving a finger under the nose of a two-star general he demanded, "Now, what's your problem?"

The general's eyes popped. Not wanting to be discourteous he mumbled something about lack of adequate reserves.

"Write me a memo," snorted Cain. "I'll take care of that!"

As the astounded officers dispersed, one general inquired: "Is that guy crazy?"

NOTE—The Senator from Washington is not crazy, though his twin brother has been locked up in the booby-hatch.

NOT ENOUGH TROOPS—Secretary of Defense Johnson complained of the manpower shortage at a closed-door session of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, but was reluctant to do anything about it. He reported that the Army is still six divisions short of its 18 division goal, yet hesitates to step up the draft because of public reaction. . . . Johnson urged a law to authorize universal military training, but said the time is not ripe to put UMT in action.

HOME-FRONT PREPARATIONS —Within thirty days President Truman will appoint a special board to advise him on prices. The board will keep a careful eye on all major commodities and will have the power to slap controls on any products that get out of line. . . Truman is also planning to set up a new agency to take over coordination of Civilian Defense. By the end of the year this new agency will be passing out federal money to cities all over the country in an all-out effort to secure at least a minimum degree of defense against surprise A-bomb attack. This is probably the most important—and most neglected problem facing the nation.

Stassen Proposes Action On Russian Aggression

By MARK SULLIVAN

OUR people watch Korea, concentrating their attention on battles there. Unconsciously or wishfully they assume that sooner or later we will triumph there, and that this will be the end of the chapter. It could be the end of the chapter but only the beginning of the book. This ought to be clear from the preparations we are making for a prolonged and major war, and is crystal clear to those who think through. Thinking through is only approximately possible even to the best informed. For not all the data is available to anyone, much of its exists only in the minds of the Russian communist heads, their intentions and plans.

One who has thought through with thoroughness and clarity is former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minn., now president of the University of Pennsylvania. He concludes that Russian communism aims to overcome the United States by definite methods, carefully planned. One method, major in importance, is, in Mr. Stassen's words: "The continuous embroiling of . . . the United States in minor wars at distant difficult points to tire and waken us and bleed us white."

Committed To Opposition

The present example of this is Korea. Belief held in thoroughly informed quarters is the Russian communism plans aggressions similar to the Korean one in from five to eight other places distantly separated from each other. The aggressions will be opposed by the United States, we have committed ourselves to it.

Consider now the military strength we have for this opposition—the military strength that is already in existence and available for service overseas. A large part of this was already in use before Korea, as occupation forces in Japan and Germany. A percentage of our remaining available strength is now being used in Korea. What this percentage is cannot be estimated with any accuracy. It is almost certain a large percentage, for undoubtedly we are making use in Korea of everything we can spare in the way of men, material and any other factors that enter into military strength.

Imagine now that Russian communism makes another aggression while the Korean war is still on, in Formosa, for example. This would call for an additional percentage of our military strength, probably at least as much as in Korea. Yet another aggression in any of the places where aggression is apprehended, would demand an additional percentage of our strength. Some of the anticipated or feared aggressions, as in Europe, would demand large percentages.

Add up all these percentages, and the sum is more than we have. This is a grim conclusion. To escape it or minimize it we turn to possible counteracting factors. We consider that possibly Russian communism may not make the new aggressions soon, and that we may have time to increase our strength. But to assume that Russian communism will withhold further aggressions until we build up our strength is to assume that it will forego an immense advantage which it has planned for and in use of which it has made a beginning in Korea. Similarly vain for the same reason is any assumption that the aggressions will not go on simultaneously. To assume that is to assume that Russian communism will not use this method of overcoming us.

Other Nations Limited

One counteracting factor which has substance is that we will have help from the other countries which are with us in resisting the Korean aggression, as called for by the United Nations. But willing though the other nations have been to come forward, limitations upon what they can do is suggested by the amount they have been able to contribute thus far. Besides, some of these countries are directly in the line of expected aggressions, they must build up and maintain their home defenses.

The sum of all is that Russian communism is in the way of overcoming us by a method of warfare it devised, in which it has the initiative and in which we are on the defensive, obliged to adjust ourselves to the moves that Russian communism makes. The one advantage we have, commonly believed to be decisive if we use it, is the atomic bomb. But here is part of the ingenuity of the method of warfare Russian communism is practicing. It assumes that while we might use the atomic bomb against an attack made upon us by

Statement By MacArthur Upsets Top Policymakers

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29—A nervous weekend was spent by President Truman, the Joint Chiefs of Staff and policymakers of the Cabinet as it was debated just how to de-emphasize the declaration made by General MacArthur in which he advocated that Formosa should be fended against occupation by any power hostile to the United States.

All sides appear today to have been satisfied with the outcome. For, on the one hand, the text of the MacArthur statement has been published to the world and, at the same time, the American government has on record an announcement beforehand that it did not approve or authorize the document.

The reason why the statement was published centers on a curious accident in publishing operations for which nobody was to blame. General McArthur had sent a copy of his massage to "U.S. News & World Report," a weekly newsmagagine published here, and last Thursday the editors had requested and obtained from the public relations director of the Veterans of Foreign Wars—to whose convention in Chicago the message was to have been delivered early Monday—permission to publish it in an issue that was to be printed on Saturday and mailed to reach subscribers on Monday.

Too Late For Withdrawal

When President Truman, after conferences with officials here, ordered the General on Sunday to withdraw the statement, it was too late for the magazine to recall any of the more than 400,000 copies it had printed because they had already been mailed to individual addresses throughout the United States. Because the text was printed already, the White House didn't urge any other publications to refrain from printing it and Representative Joseph Martin, Republican leader, read the massage into the "Congressional Record," so it would be available to everybody.

Thus both sides had their way—those who didn't want to see the MacArthur message suppressed and those who wanted it made clear that what MacArthur said was not necessarily America's official policy.

Examination of the text of the General's communication will show that, while it is a strongly worded document on the subject of defending Formosa, it does not conflict with State Department policy except that it was interjected at the wrong time into the public prints. For the State Department was planning this week to welcome a thorough treatment of the Formosa question by the United Nations. Hence arguments on the strategic importance of Formosa by General MacArthur or anybody else were, to say the least, inopportune.

Views Have Support

So far the General's reasoning is concerned, it accords with what military men here have always felt —namely, that Formosa must not be allowed to fall into hostile hands. It goes without saying that the General's views are unanimously supported by the military experts and that any effort to minimize the importance of these strategic considerations will not sit well with the military.

General MacArtrur did make a passing reference to those who want to soft pedal the Formosa defense problem. He thinks that those who say such discussion will alienate the peoples of Asia are wrong and that resoluteness and positiveness wins respect in the Oriental world.

When it's all boiled down, it will be found that the MacArthur statement has strengthened the case for an indefinite occupation of Formosa by the United States until such time as the United Nations wants to set up a trusteeship or mandate or is ready to take over the job of occupation on an international basis.

As to keeping Formosa out of the hands of the communists of China or Russia, this, to be sure, General MacArthur has made very clear indeed—and, if the truth were known, there aren't many in the civilian branches of the government who would disagree with this thesis. It's simply that the MacArthur message was not timed to fit in with the high policy operations of the State Department and the instructions it was sending to American Ambassador Austin at the United Nations. If the message had been published in the normal way, it would have been necessary later to repudiate it. So perhaps the method of asking for withdrawal in advance was the only way out of the confusion.

These Days By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Radio Revolt

THE REVOLT of the pro-Americans in the Radio Writers Guild continues. James A. Stabile, executive secretary, on August 17, resigned for these reasons:

"I, among others, pleaded with the council to take a forthright stand on the resolution, which called for the formation of a writers' group through which writers in all media could volunteer their services to our country during this crisis. Instead, the council adopted a resolution which in my considered judgment qualifies the positive and forthright action that the situation called for."

This was followed by the resignation of Daisy Amoury, a member of its council, because:

"Finding myself completely out of sympathy with certain actions and policies of the RWG council, it has become necessary for me to send you my resignation as a member of council, effective immediately."

The resolution over which this quarrel developed should have been pro forma in any American organization. It simply offered full support to our government in time of war, when other Americans are dying for their country. Yet, this particular organization, the Radio Writers Guild, is so committed and organized and manned that it could not see such a simple matter through.

Radio writers are an important segment of the instruments for expression and education. Our children listen to the radio even as they do their homework. While the soap operas and westerns and murders seem simple enough, I have at times wondered why so little that is heroic in American life is put before them. Are we so devoted to murder, to shooting and shrieking that little or nothing else interests our children? Is murder our principal sport?

I am told that the advertising agencies advise the sponsors that this sort of thing is the best fare for radio because it is safe. It is non-political, non-ideological, non-controversial. But are the minds of our children to be corrupted because advertising men find that safer than a controversy over some fine character in American history?

Sometime ago, Elizabeth Winston Todd appeared before the House Committee on Un-American Activities. She gave as her profession, associate director, working for the Columbia Broadcasting System, Inc. Then she was asked the usual question:

"Mr. Russell. Have you ever been a member of the Communist party?

"Mrs. Todd. I refuse to answer that question on the ground that my answer might tend to incriminate me."

And this went on for some time. For instance, this colloquy occurred:

"Mr. Russell. Mrs. Todd, do you believe in the overthrow of the United States Government by force and violence?

"Mrs. Todd. I refuse to answer that question on the ground my answer would tend to incriminate me.

"Mr. Russell. Have you ever advocated that the United States Government be overthrown by force and violence?

"Mrs. Todd. I refuse to answer that question on the ground my answer would tend to incriminate me."

There were many questions which could have been answered by a yes or a no, but for which Mrs. Todd followed a uniform formula of reply pursued generally by Communists.

An assistant director in a radio studio is quite a responsible job. One would imagine that Mrs. Todd had had a long experience in radio. However, it appears that her experience had been elsewhere, including the Tennessee Valley Authority. And she was a member of the union there that switched from the AFL to one of the left-wing CIO unions. On this subject she was queried:

"Mr. Appell. Will you tell the committee how the employes of TVA happened to break away from the AFL local and change to the CIO union?

"Mrs. Todd. They took a vote to change to United Federal Workers.

"Mr. Appell. Was the changing from AFL to CIO ever discussed in the Communist party? Was that Communist party strategy?

"Mrs. Todd. I refuse to answer that question on the ground my answer would tend to incriminate me."

I cite the Todd testimony not to condemn the Columbia Broadcasting System, Inc., which is no better or worse than any other, but to point to carelessness in the employment of persons in positions where they can influence the minds of our children. Many of them attack the very business processes that pay for the sponsorship of "entertainment" which can be and has been used as a vehicle to destroy them.

"Ike" Not Interested In Running For Senate

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower is said to have been approached recently by scouts of the New York Republican organization, to see if he would run for senator this fall. With Gov. Thomas E. Dewey out of the race, the party is left with 74-year-old Lieut.-Gov. Joe R. Hanley to run for governor. Hanley is a respected old gentleman, but is rated as a better vote-getter in rural areas than in the cities. This, in New York, is not good. A strong running-mate for senator is called for, and he must be strong indeed, since his Democratic opponent will be Senator Herbert H. Lehman. Eisenhouser doubtless seemed a natural choice.

Equally naturally "Ike" was not interested. Whether or not the presidency of Columbia University is as satisfactory a job as he anticipated, it is far preferable to a senatorship. The president of Columbia is, by virtue of his position, one of the nation's eminent citizens; a United States senator is but one out of 96, few of whom are even names to the nation. And there is a good deal of drudgery and errand-running for exacting constituents which might not strike Eisenhower as sufficiently taxing to his abilities.

One other consideration may have moved him to decline. If there should be general mobilization, Eisenhower would certainly be recalled to active service. He doubtless would not care to accept an office which he might not be able to keep for long.

A 50 Billion Congress

The general appropriation bill in Congress covers more than 500 pages of fine print and contains so many items that nobody knows exactly how much money it provides. The best guess seems to be that about $34,000,000,000 is allotted to non-military government agencies.

But it is emphasized this figure is "rough." It is all of that. It is especially rough on the taxpayers who will be called upon to supply the funds. It is much rougher than it would have been if Congress had gone through with its original program to slice appropriations by 10 per cent.

As it is economies actually effected total approximately $600,000,000 and these are to be accomplished not by direct action of Congress but by ordering the Budget Bureau somehow to save that much money.

In adopting this round-about procedure Congress has dodged a major duty. A more responsible legislative body and one with the courage to forget the coming elections would have stated explicitly what projects were to be eliminated or reduced and what agencies called upon to get along with smaller appropriations. To put this burden on the Budget Bureau is a case of political buckpassing.

In any event, this will be a $50,000,000,000 Congress —$34,000,000,000 for the regular departments and $16,000,000,000 for the military establishment. With military expenses spiraling and no disposition to cut non-essential government spending, what government expenditures will be next year is anybody's guess.

When The Earth Quakes

A recent earthquake, surpassing in intensity any that have been recorded for a long time, has been provisionally centered in eastern Tibet, a region from which statistics of damage and death will come but slowly. It caused some damage in India. It is thus placed in the same quarter of the world in which occurred the most terrible earthquake ever recorded, that which in 1556 caused an estimated 830,000 deaths in Shensi Province, China.

While Europe and the United States have been remarkably free from earthquake disasters, South America has had several and China and Japan have been cursed with many. Lisbon, the Portuguese capital, holds the unenviable distinction of being the only important city to have experienced two great earthquake disasters. One in 1531 caused deaths estimated at 30,000, and the second in 1765 killed 60,000.

In the United States the worst earthquake was the 1906 catastrophe, taking 700 lives, which is remembered as the San Francisco fire rather than a quake. The fire, started by the quake, caused the greater damage. A serious earth shock killed 27 in Charleston, South Carolina, in 1886. Americans are most fortunate to live in a part of the world where the results of these unpredictable and unmanageable shakings of the earth are recorded in such small figures.

Mike Fink

"I'm half wild horse and half cock-eyed alligator, and the rest of me is crooked snags and red-hot snapping turtle." This was the battlecry of Mike Fink, king of the keel-boat men who, early in the 19th century, poled heavy-laden rafts up and down the Mississippi River. He has lately been brought to memory by the movement to have his body, now buried at the mouth of the Yellowstone, where he met his death, transferred to his birthplace in Fort Pitt Park, Pittsburgh.

Mike's feats would seem fabulous if they were not so well attested. He and a companion would fill a tin cup with whisky, place it by turns on each other's head, and shoot at it with a rifle from 70 yards away. The cup was always bored through without injury to its living support.

This sounds like an American version of the fable of William Tell and the apple, but Mike was a real personage, born in 1770 and killed in 1823. Paul Bunyan, on the other hand, the hero of the logging camps, is purely mythical. The new interest in both adds to our list of folk heroes, and enriches the American heritage.

Which River Is Which

Can the name of the Mississippi River be wrong? It should be called the Ohio, says Col. John L. Person of the United States Army Engineers. His reason is that at Cairo, where the rivers join, the Ohio pours in twenty per cent more water than the Mississippi.

It has also been argued that the Missouri is the main stream and not the Mississippi. The Missouri is the longer of the two, from the point of their juncture and foreign geographers are impressed when told the length of the Missouri-Mississippi.

Telling which is the main river and which the branch may sometimes be baffling. In the 18th century the Wabash River was thought to be the main stream, and the Ohio, into which it flows, only a branch. Maps of that day record that impression. Be that as it may, however, the Mississippi is now named. It would be easier to change its course than its name.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Leukemia Remedies

LEUKEMIA still makes the headlines, especially when the parents of a critically ill child issue a frantic appeal for blood donors. So far, the disease has resisted all form of treatment except in isolated instances where life has been prolonged by utilizing ACTH, aminopterin, X-ray or nitrogen mustard.

There is an acute and a chronic form. The two are related but the manifestations are different and the acute variety is most frequent in children. It runs a short and dramatic course, ending fatally within a few months. The chronic type is milder and usually afflicts adults; years usually elapse before the victim becomes incapacitated. Weakness and enlargement of the lymph glands are the primary symptoms.

The youngster with acute leukemia may not appear ill until the disorder is full-blown. In some, the first signs may be black and blue marks caused by spontaneous skin hemorrhages. In others, enlarged lymph glands, paleness, and slight fever are the initial indications. The true nature of the condition may escape detection unless a blood count is taken, as this is the only way in which the diagnosis can be made.

In leukemia there is a lawless multiplication of the white cells (leucocytes). The count may become so high that the blood assumes a milky color, which explains the meaning of the word leukemia. The disturbance has been referred to as "cancer of the blood" but most authorities frown on this implication. They believe that the cause lies in the blood forming organs and that the findings in this fluid are but a single manifestation of the disease. Regardless of type, the white count may go as high as 500,000. (The normal is less than 10,000.) Many of the white corpuscles are abnormal or young leucocytes that have escaped into the circulation, before they have had a chance to mature, from the overactive lymph glands, bone marrow, or other blood manufacturing structures.

In the last fey years various remedies have become available. Prior to that time treatment was aimed at relieving distressing symptoms and X-ray and arsenic were the old standbys in this respect. The new products have selped to prolong life, and aminopterin, a folic acid antagonist, is one of the most popular. To the best of our knowledge the white cells need folic acid in order to mature. Aminopterin is similar in chemical structure to folic acid and when it is administered the growing white cells pick it up by mistake. But aminopterin has no food value and the cells are unable to develop. Unfortunately many of the normal cells are affected in the same way and therein lies the difficulty.

Nitrogen mustard also has been employed but is less effective and often produces uncomfortable reactions, in some instances so severe we can say that "the treatment is worse than the disease." The chemical leads to remissions which are so short and disappointing that ultimately the remedy is discontinued. Radioactive phosphorus is one of the latest plans but is far from the long awaited cure. The same can be said of ACTH, cortisone, urethane, and stilbamidine. Most physicians are still utilizing X-ray and frequently resort to blood transfusions to overcome weakness and anemia and to improve the feeling of well being of the victim.

TOMORROW: Dr. Van Dellen discusses pinworm infestations in children.

Shimon Was Tipped Off By U. S. Attorney's Office Of His Investigation A Year Ago; Congressional Democrats To Lower The Boom On Secretary Johnson

But many friends fear he won't be able to stand the pace.

Johnson's Special Agent

Such hilarious reports have come back to the capital regarding Senator Harry Cain's comic opera trip across Europe as "the special agent of the Secretary of Defense," that Secretary Johnson recently complained to President Truman:

"But he isn't my representative. I never authorized him to go to Europe for me."

No wonder Johnson is worried over the way Cain poses as his "special agent."

The Senator from Washington, dressed in the uniform of a Reserve colonel, recently lined up a group of generals and U.S. diplomats in Germany. And waving a finger under the nose of a two-star general he demanded, "Now, what's your problem?"

The general's eyes popped. Not wanting to be discourteous he mumbled something about lack of adequate reserves.

"Write me a memo," snorted Cain. "I'll take care of that!"

As the astounded officers dispersed, one general inquired: "Is that guy crazy?"

NOTE—The Senator from Washington is not crazy, though his twin brother has been locked up in the booby-hatch.

NOT ENOUGH TROOPS—Secretary of Defense Johnson complained of the manpower shortage at a closed-door session of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, but was reluctant to do anything about it. He reported that the Army is still six divisions short of its 18 division goal, yet hesitates to step up the draft because of public reaction. . . . Johnson urged a law to authorize universal military training, but said the time is not ripe to put UMT in action.

HOME-FRONT PREPARATIONS—Within thirty days President Truman will appoint a special board to advise him on prices. The board will keep a careful eye on all major commodities and will have the power to slap controls on any products that get out of line. . . . Truman is also planning to set up a new agency to take over coordination of Civilian Defense. By the end of the year this new agency will be passing out federal money to cities all over the country in an all-out effort to secure at least a minimum degree of defense against surprise A-bomb attack. This is probably the most important—and most neglected problem facing the nation.

Stassen Proposes Action On Russian Aggression

By MARK SULLIVAN

OUR people watch Korea, concentrating their attention on battles there. Unconsciously or wishfully they assume that sooner or later we will triumph there, and that this will be the end of the chapter. It could be the end of the chapter but only the beginning of the book. This ought to be clear from the preparations we are making for a prolonged and major war, and is crystal clear to those who think through. Thinking through is only approximately possible even to the best informed. For not all the data is available to anyone, much of its exists only in the minds of the Russian communist heads, their intentions and plans.

One who has thought through with thoroughness and clarity is former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minn., now president of the University of Pennsylvania. He concludes that Russian communism aims to overcome the United States by definite methods, carefully planned. One method, major in importance, is, in Mr. Stassen's words: "The continuous embroiling of . . . the United States in minor wars at distant difficult points to tire and waken us and bleed us white."

Committed To Opposition

The present example of this is Korea. Belief held in thoroughly informed quarters is the Russian communism plans aggressions similar to the Korean one in from five to eight other places distantly separated from each other. The aggressions will be opposed by the United States, we have committed ourselves to it.

Consider now the military strength we have for this opposition—the military strength that is already in existence and available for service overseas. A large part of this was already in use before Korea, as occupation forces in Japan and Germany. A percentage of our remaining available strength is now being used in Korea. What this percentage is cannot be estimated with any accuracy. It is almost certain a large percentage, for undoubtedly we are making use in Korea of everything we can spare in the way of men, material and any other factors that enter into military strength.

Imagine now that Russian communism makes another aggression while the Korean war is still on, in Formosa, for example. This would call for an additional percentage of our military strength, probably at least as much as in Korea. Yet another aggression in any of the places where aggression is apprehended, would demand an additional percentage of our strength. Some of the anticipated or feared aggressions, as in Europe, would demand large percentages.

Add up all these percentages, and the sum is more than we have. This is a grim conclusion. To escape it or minimize it we turn to possible counteracting factors. We consider that possibly Russian communism may not make the new aggressions soon, and that we may have time to increase our strength. But to assume that Russian communism will withhold further aggressions until we build up our strength is to assume that it will forego an immense advantage which it has planned for and in use of which it has made a beginning in Korea. Similarly vain for the same reason is any assumption that the aggressions will not go on simultaneously. To assume that is to assume that Russian communism will not use this method of overcoming us.

Other Nations Limited

One counteracting factor which has substance is that we will have help from the other countries which are with us in resisting the Korean aggression, as called for by the United Nations. But willing though the other nations have been to come forward, limitations upon what they can do is suggested by the amount they have been able to contribute thus far. Besides, some of these countries are directly in the line of expected aggressions, they must build up and maintain their home defenses.

The sum of all is that Russian communism is in the way of overcoming us by a method of warfare it devised, in which it has the initiative and in which we are on the defensive, obliged to adjust ourselves to the moves that Russian communism makes. The one advantage we have, commonly believed to be decisive if we use it, is the atomic bomb. But here is part of the ingenuity of the method of warfare Russian communism is practicing. It assumes that while we might use the atomic bomb against an attack made upon us by

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29—A nervous weekend was spent by President Truman, the Joint Chiefs of Staff and policymakers of the Cabinet as it was debated just how to deemphasize the declaration made by General MacArthur in which he advocated that Formosa should be fended against occupation by any power hostile to the United States.

All sides appear today to have been satisfied with the outcome. For, on the one hand, the text of the MacArthur statement has been published to the world and, at the same time, the American government has on record an announcement beforehand that it did not approve or authorize the document.

The reason why the statement was published centers on a curious accident in publishing operations for which nobody was to blame. General McArthur had sent a copy of his massage to "U.S. News & World Report," a weekly newsmagagine published here, and last Thursday the editors had requested and obtained from the public relations director of the Veterans of Foreign Wars—to whose convention in Chicago the message was to have been delivered early Monday—permission to publish it in an issue that was to be printed on Saturday and mailed to reach subscribers on Monday.

Too Late For Withdrawal

When President Truman, after conferences with officials here, ordered the General on Sunday to withdraw the statement, it was too late for the magazine to recall any of the more than 400,000 copies it had printed because they had already been mailed to individual addresses throughout the United States. Because the text was printed already, the White House didn't urge any other publications to refrain from printing it and Representative Joseph Martin, Republican leader, read the massage into the "Congressional Record," so it would be available to everybody.

Thus both sides had their way—those who didn't want to see the MacArthur message suppressed and those who wanted it made clear that what MacArthur said was not necessarily America's official policy.

Examination of the text of the General's communication will show that, while it is a strongly worded document on the subject of defending Formosa, it does not conflict with State Department policy except that it was interjected at the wrong time into the public prints. For the State Department was planning this week to welcome a thorough treatment of the Formosa question by the United Nations. Hence arguments on the strategic importance of Formosa by General MacArthur or anybody else were, to say the least, inopportune.

Views Have Support

So far the General's reasoning is concerned, it accords with what military men here have always felt —namely, that Formosa must not be allowed to fall into hostile hands. It goes without saying that the General's views are unanimously supported by the military experts and that any effort to minimize the importance of these strategic considerations will not sit well with the military.

General MacArtrur did make a passing reference to those who want to soft pedal the Formosa defense problem. He thinks that those who say such discussion will alienate the peoples of Asia are wrong and that resoluteness and positiveness wins respect in the Oriental world.

When it's all boiled down, it will be found that the MacArthur statement has strengthened the case for an indefinite occupation of Formosa by the United States until such time as the United Nations wants to set up a trusteeship or mandate or is ready to take over the job of occupation on an international basis.

As to keeping Formosa out of the hands of the communists of China or Russia, this, to be sure, General MacArthur has made very clear indeed—and, if the truth were known, there aren't many in the civilian branches of the government who would disagree with this thesis. It's simply that the MacArthur message was not timed to fit in with the high policy operations of the State Department and the instructions it was sending to American Ambassador Austin at the United Nations. If the message had been published in the normal way, it would have been necessary later to repudiate it. So perhaps the method of asking for withdrawal in advance was the only way out of the confusion.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Radio Revolt

THE REVOLT of the pro-Americans in the Radio Writers Guild continues. James A. Stabile, executive secretary, on August 17, resigned for these reasons:

"I, among others, pleaded with the council to take a forthright stand on the resolution, which called for the formation of a writers' group through which writers in all media could volunteer their services to our country during this crisis. Instead, the council adopted a resolution which in my considered judgment qualifies the positive and forthright action that the situation called for."

This was followed by the resignation of Daisy Amoury, a member of its council, because:

"Finding myself completely out of sympathy with certain actions and policies of the RWG council, it has become necessary for me to send you my resignation as a member of council, effective immediately."

The resolution over which this quarrel developed should have been pro forma in any American organization. It simply offered full support to our government in time of war, when other Americans are dying for their country. Yet, this particular organization, the Radio Writers Guild, is so committed and organized and manned that it could not see such a simple matter through.

Radio writers are an important segment of the instruments for expression and education. Our children listen to the radio even as they do their homework. While the soap operas and westerns and murders seem simple enough, I have at times wondered why so little that is heroic in American life is put before them. Are we so devoted to murder, to shooting and shrieking that little or nothing else interests our children? Is murder our principal sport?

I am told that the advertising agencies advise the sponsors that this sort of thing is the best fare for radio because it is safe. It is non-political, non-ideological, non-controversial. But are the minds of our children to be corrupted because advertising men find that safer than a controversy over some fine character in American history?

Sometime ago, Elizabeth Winston Todd appeared before the House Committee on Un-American Activities. She gave as her profession, associate director, working for the Columbia Broadcasting System, Inc. Then she was asked the usual question:

"Mr. Russell. Have you ever been a member of the Communist party?

"Mrs. Todd, I refuse to answer that question on the ground that my answer might tend to incriminate me."

And this went on for some time. For instance, this colloquy occurred:

"Mr. Russell. Mrs. Todd, do you believe in the overthrow of the United States Government by force and violence?

"Mrs. Todd. I refuse to answer that question on the ground my answer would tend to incriminate me.

"Mr. Russell. Have you ever advocated that the United States Government be overthrown by force and violence?

"Mrs. Todd. I refuse to answer that question on the ground my answer would tend to incriminate me."

There were many questions which could have been answered by a yes or a no, but for which Mrs. Todd followed a uniform formula of reply pursued generally by Communists.

An assistant director in a radio studio is quite a responsible job. One would imagine that Mrs. Todd had had a long experience in radio. However, it appears that her experience had been elsewhere, including the Tennessee Valley Authority. And she was a member of the union there that switched from the AFL to one of the left-wing CIO unions. On this subject she was queried:

"Mr. Appell. Will you tell the committee how the employes of TVA happened to break away from the AFL local and change to the CIO union?

"Mrs. Todd. They took a vote to change to United Federal Workers.

"Mr. Appell. Was the changing from AFL to CIO ever discussed in the Communist party? Was that Communist party strategy?

"Mrs. Todd. I refuse to answer that question on the ground my answer would tend to incriminate me."

I cite the Todd testimony not to condemn the Columbia Broadcasting System, Inc., which is no better or worse than any other, but to point to carelessness in the employment of persons in positions where they can influence the minds of our children. Many of them attack the very business processes that pay for the sponsorship of "entertainment" which can be and has been used as a vehicle to destroy them.

Jeanne Hursh Entertained

Mrs. Joseph Pinto, Mrs. Nicholas Leftheis and Miss Maxine Leonard entertained with a linen shower honoring Miss Jeanne Frances Hursh, fiancee of Daniel W. Nose, Monday night at the home of the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Joseph T. Hoban, 157 Polk Street.

Miss Hursh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Miller Hursh, 723 Bedford Street, is to become the bride of Mr. Nose, a son of Mrs. Mary C. Nose, 119 Independence Street, and the late William Nose, on September 2, in St. Patrick's Catholic Church.

The hostesses used a pink and blue umbrella to conceal the shower gifts, while the same color scheme was repeated in the miniature umbrella favors. A wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom centered the refreshment table. The evening was spent informally.

Guests were Mrs. Hursh, Mrs. Mary Lee Abe, Miss Elsie Bowman, Mrs. Isabelle Dawson, Mrs. Helen Beebaugh, Mrs. Norman Geatz and Mrs. Hoban.

Country Club Will Hold Dance Sat.

The first of a series of dances of the Cumberand Country Club is to be held Saturday as part of the Labor Day weekend festivities. It will be semi-formal with Brad Hunt and his orchestra, Pittsburgh playing from 9:30 until 1:30.

From the advance ticket sale a large crowd is expected and those planning to attend are urged to make reservations at the club. Tickets may be purchased from any member of the committee or at the club. The dance is for all members of the club and their guests.

Other dances planned include a Halloween dance; one by the Playground Association September 23 and another in November and the Christmas holiday celebration.

Dr. and Mrs. F. T. Cawley are chairmen of arrangements. Their committee includes Mr. and Mrs. William Carscaden, Dr. and Mrs. Albert C. Eskin, Dr. and Mrs. C. N. Foose, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Jankins, Mr. and Mrs. Bert A. Mason, and Mr. and Mrs. Miles G. Thompson.

Deaths

ALSIP SERVICE

A service for Reamer Alsip, 69, of 802 Rodman Avenue, Portsmouth, Va., who died at Norfolk Hospital Sunday, was held at 3 p.m. yesterday from the chapel at Steins Funeral Home.

The pallbearers were Frank Siebert, Hubert L. Gillard, John Fortwangler, Victor Merkle, Herman L. Myers, and Charles DeBouck.

Interment was in Hillcrest Burial Park.

KELLEY FUNERAL

The rosary will be recited Thursday at 9 a.m. for John J. Kelley, 75, of 230 Oldtown Road, who died Monday, at the Scarpelli Funeral Home. It will be led by Rev. Robert Hopkins, assistant pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church.

"Miss America" Hen To Be Chosen

The "bald-headed row" of the poultry business perked up yesterday with the announcement that the annual Hen-of-the-Year Contest is to be revived at the annual Exposition of the Northeastern Poultry Producers Council (NEPPCO) scheduled for October 3, 4 and 5, at Harrisburg, Pa.

The contest, designed to pick a feathered "Miss America," will bring together the birds which have won the nation's major egg-laying contests during the past season and pit them against one another for the sweepstakes title.

With their performance already proved, the birds will be judged on appearance, conformance to breed specification, and similar technical points best-known to experts.

Always hotly contested, the event was dropped during the war and immediate post-war years. The title brings national attention to the breeder of the winning bird.

Cumberland Firm Has Low Road Work Bid

The Cumberland Contracting Company has submitted a low bid of $166,699 for building an extension and resurfacing a mile of Williams Road toward Twiggtown.

Bids for the federal-aid project were opened by the State Roads Commission yesterday in Baltimore. S. T. Brotemarkle Construction Company, this city, bid $172,273.

G. Bates Chaires, SRC district engineer, said that the highway would be drained, graded and resurfaced with macadam.

About 30 or 35 men are expected to be employed, he said. The Maryland State Employment Service office here has been named as the agency for furnishing labor on the project.

cleaned out red infiltrators who had menaced the main road leading south and west from Pohang.

However, a spokesman for the Korean advisory group said later information today from the Pohang sector was that the reds had reestablished the roadblock for about three miles along the highway.

The spokesman said the South Korean troops who yielded Kigye had fallen back south about one and a half miles. The Eighth Army communique today had put the distance at 300 to 400 yards.

The spokesman said the South Koreans defending Pohang withdrew "slightly" Tuesday under communist pressure.

Another slight reverse was suffered by the United Nations at the other end of the battlefront — the southern sector guarding the main supply port of Pusan. There early today, Korean reds stormed and occupied the crest of Battle Mountain, an observation peak about 35 air miles west of Pusan. But at dawn Wednesday, the U. S. 24th Regiment, a battle-seasoned negro outfit, began a counterattack.

Battle Mountain is one of the several important heights barring the way to level ground from Masan east to Pusan. Masan is 27 air miles from that main supply port.

Washington Whirl

By AUSTINE

She's been ballyhooed as Washington's Number One Hostess, interviewed, flattered, quoted and misquoted all over the country . . . When she first married and moved to Washington, no one thought that the slim, black-haired, 19-year-old girl who had been brought up in Europe would comet up the social horizon and rise to a fixed place as a star . . . She doesn't mind admitting that a large part of her social success is due to a modest millionaire who pays all the bills with a smile—her husband, one of the few men who's ever been able to make money (honestly) in Washington.

She has her own inimitable way of talking, dressing, entertaining, making friends . . . And, as you'll see, columning in an individual and enthusiastic style.

Washington Parties

By GWEN CAFRITZ

IT IS A DELIGHTFUL privilege to write about the parties that blossom in Washington.

It seems to me that without prejudice we are justified in considering the people here more significant from a bipartisan point of view than in any other city. Even at a reception or a cocktail party, there will be dozens of individuals, who would be the guests of honor anywhere else. Some of Washington's particular flavor comes from the Embassies and Legations and truly no matter how small the Country, it is able to send most attractive representatives to the Capital of the World.

GWEN CAFRITZ

Dinners are, of course, the piece de resistance in our date books. They reflect the feeling for elegance of our hosts and added to this ideal of form is the significant content inspired by the guest of honor.

During the past season, the presence of the Capital's Number One guests, the Veep and Veepess assured brilliant success to anyone whose dinner they graced with their presence. actually, though, at any Washington dinner you are able to enjoy some of the most exciting personalities of the Twentieth Century—sitting on either side of you—if you just take enough trouble to practice a little of that Seventeenth Century art (shades of la Rouchefoucauld) — conversation.

• — • — •

On the very first day of Spring, H. E., the Belgian Ambassador, entertained for the Vice President and Mrs. Barkley. Dinner at an important Embassy is always perfection, and Baron Silvercruys is an extraordinary host, of keen intellectual perception. When the Ambassador raised his glass of champagne to toast his guests of honor, the Vice President responded with a pefection of craftsmanship and his prodigious quality as a story-teller.

Another fascinating embassy is that of India. The Chatelaine Mme. Pandit is one of the greatest contemporary minds. Having the Indian Ambassador entertain in honor of the British Ambassador and Lady Franks is one of Washington's evolutionary pleasures.

• — • — •

We Washingtonians are fanastically busy. We like to go to the Supreme Court on Decision Days, attend important hearings on the Hill. Colorful Senator McCarthy of Wisconsin had the loveliest ladies forgetting their glorious gardens for the best show in town. Everyone is proud of their spiritual resources and tries to be civic minded and interested in worthwhile charities, but must attend four or five functions after sundown. Maybe the opening of an art exhibit, receptions and cocktail parties, then a mad dash to dress for dinner.

At one of these receptions you might have the privilege of meeting the President of the United States and Mrs. Truman. The President looks wonderfully well, with soverign simplicity thoroughly enjoys himself. To anyone who has lived in Europe, his attitude is Democracy personified. Mrs. Truman is all graciousness and charm, it is always a thrill to hear her remember your name as you come down the line to shake hands.

• — • — •

Perhaps the gayest of all doings are the dances. These generally take place at lavishly-decorated Embassies or at the exclusive clubs. At these balls, you see Washington's great beauties. Madame Henri Bonnet in a Dior creation, looking like a Goya portrait, Mrs. Joseeph E. Davies with her immaculately-coiffed Patrician head, wearing diamonds and pearl, golden-haired Mrs. Brien MacMahon, perhaps in a pink robe de style, exquisite Mrs. Eugene Carusi in white, and "best dressed" Mrs. William R. Hearst, Jr., in garnet by Charlie James and her ruby necklace.

Perhaps "The Best Party" was the Mayden's Choice Dance arranged by the Leap Year Dance committee. Even though it is not Leap Year, the ladies did all the cutting in, getting champagne and supper for their escorts. The dance was preceded by dinners where the ladies received the escort cards, and seated their beaux at the table. After-dinner cigars were offered to the ladies and some of them smoked them!

• — • — •

Of course, those of us who are so fortunate as to make our homes here are interested in Washington's serious side. We know that there is nothing static about the architectural grandeur that surrounds us, but that it houses a dynamic drama which we follow with fierce intellectual passion and reverently hope for a fine future not only for our great country but the entire world.

What should the girls take back to school? The determination to be beautiful, say Powers models!

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

GETTING ready for the school term ahead currently rates as the major feminine topic of conversation. With the back-to school movement on the tip of every feminine tongue — from six-year-olds to college seniors and to the mothers of that impressive part of the population—what's more natural than that the Powers Girls should be talking about it, too?

And as the Powers Girls say, there's a lot more to going back to school than the purchase of clothes and equipment. They ought to know — many of them boast school-age daughters, while others flaunt recent diplomas.

Model Talk

What makes a girl popular with the school crowd and successful after graduation besides book larnin'?

Take a look through the following model talk and you'll get some sure fire ideas:

Model Floyd: "If a young girl's face is her fortune, why does she persist in neglecting it? All the young ones are dying to use a little lipstick and the older ones use far far too much powder for a natural effect, yet how many of them keep their skin deep-cleansed? All it requires is removing make-up with a cleanser and washing the face twice daily with a mild soap and soft complexion brush. And it's the most important thing—that is, if they don't want to be sorry when they are our age!"

Model Doris: "What do you mean 'our age'? I'm only eighteen, but I sure wish I'd listened to all the posture advice I got in school. It took me two months of extensive training when I got started modeling to stand the way JRP insists we must. I'd have been saved all that if while I was in school I'd learned to walk and stand with my neck pulled up out of my shoulders and my waist up and out of my hips."

Golden Rules of Beauty

Model Marya: "Speaking of hips, can't the girls lay off sweets and cokes just a little? No matter what mothers tell them, they seem to believe they'll always have those youthful figures and gorgeous complexions regardless of what they eat."

Model Dinny: "You can't have beautiful hair and teeth either, if you ignore the rules of the Beauty Diet. Believe me, if I were in school again, I'd follow all the golden rules of good looke—a daily bath, deodorant application, dental floss drill, hair brushing, and weekly sessions for removal of underarm hair, a thorough shampoo, a fresh manimure, washing and mending clothes."

Model Pat: "When you come right down to it, that routine will turn a woman of any age into an attractive model of a Golden Rule Girl!"

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

S. Tupper Bigelow, of Toronto, relays the tale of a young doctor who hung up his shingle in a small town and waited for his first patient. Some days later one arrived—covered from head to foot with an angry, dangerous-looking rash. The puzzled young medico hastily consulted his text book but could find no help there. Finally he said to the patient, "Did you ever have this affliction before?" "Oh, sure, Doc," the patient replied. "I've had it twice before." "Well, damnation," diagnosed the doctor, "you've got it again."

A GI from Oklahoma, narrates Steve Cochran, was engaged in hand-to-hand combat with a Jap. As they threshed about in a jungle, the GI gasped, "Where you hail from, mister?" The Jap answered, "Yokohama." "Holy smoke," said the GI. "What are we fightin' fo'? Ah'm from Tulsa."

There are still fifty-eight reluctant witnesses who looked at treason through rose-colored eyeballs. Each one can absorb a year in clink and a grand plaster.

Sometimes Washington gets me so mad I could eat my breakfast food without cream or sugar. Cooler heads prevail and I stride off proudly for the morning train on all-fours.

Instead of trying the other fifty-eight in court why not wash 'em, shave 'em and let them start life all over again?

Machines have been devised that not only will clean eggs but also sort them as to size.

3,188 In Area Affected By New SS Law

About 3,188 area Social Security beneficiaries will receive substantial increases in their monthly checks under the amendments to the Social Security Act signed Monday by President Truman.

James S. Getty, manager of the local office, said yesterday that beneficiaries of this area will receive an estimated $109,078, under the new law in September or an increase of $49,264 over the $59,814 paid under the old law.

These automatic increases are scheduled to reach local beneficiaries during the first week of October, according to Getty.

Increases will range from 50 per cent to about 100 per cent.

Law Liberalized

For example, the average primary benefit of approximately $26 a month for a retired worker will be increased to about $46. A widow with two children who has been receiving $55 a month will get about $110 under the new amendments.

The new law also provides that a person may earn as much as $50 a month and still accept his insurance payment. The old figure was $14.99. This applies to people under 75 who are receiving benefits and are working on a job covered by Social Security. After attaining 75, a beneficiary may have any amount of earnings and still collect his insurance checks.

Another feature of the bill is the inclusion of several new categories under the old-age and survivors program. For some groups, coverage will be mandatory and others may come in only if the employer chooses and if two-thirds of the employes express a wish to participate.

One of the most significant aspects of the new bill, Getty pointed out, is the more liberal qualifying conditions.

Others Eligible

Anyone now 65 of more who has at least six "quarters of coverage" may be immediately eligible for monthly payments.

In the area serviced by the Cumberland field office, Getty said, there are about 300 persons who have filed claims, but had not, at the time of filing, acquired enough "quarters of coverage" to get benefits. The field office has been reviewing records for several weeks to screen all these persons and is preparing letters to notify them they may be eligible for benefits if another claim is filed.

The new law also gives wage credits of $160 a month toward old-age and survivors benefits for old-age and survivors benefits for military service in World War II.

The benefits will be continued to be paid in the same way—by payroll taxes on the workers and employers inolved—but self-employed persons may qualify by paying a special social security tax (2½ per cent to start) when they make their income tax returns at the end of each year.

Co-op Hospital Sues Doctors

ELK CITY, Okla. (AP) — The Farmers Union Hospital, a cooperative organization, has filed a $100,000 damage suit against the Beckman County Medical Association and 12 member doctors.

A suit climaxes a 20-year-fight between the co-operative hospital and other doctors. Hospital staff members have not been admitted to the county medical association.

In addition to the $100,000, hospital doctors asked trebled damages be assessed at $300,000. They filed the suit in district court here in behalf of the 2,800 families who are Union Hospital Association members.

The petition charges "conspiracy and restraint of trade and meddling and interfering with the metering out obstacles for the express purpose of causing harm and injury to the staff and the hospital-clinic."

The petition contends action of the society imposes disadvantages to the prepaid medical plan clinic and members of the staff in denying its physicians their lawful right to practice medicine in the county.

Dr. H. K. Speed, Sr., president of the Beckham County Medical Association, declined to comment on the suit.

The word "hooch," to indicate liquor, is derived from the Alaskan Indian village of Hoochinoo, meaning "grizzly bear fort."

The custom of having a best man at wedding ceremonies originated when primitive man would choose a wife by capturing her. He would bring along a trusted friend to ward off the attacks of the girl's relatives.

3,188 In Area Affected By New SS Law

About 3,188 area Social Security beneficiaries will receive substantial increases in their monthly checks under the amendments to the Social Security Act signed Monday by President Truman.

James S. Getty, manager of the local office, said yesterday that beneficiaries of this area will receive an estimated $109,078, under the new law in September or an increase of $49,264 over the $59,814 paid under the old law.

These automatic increases are scheduled to reach local beneficiaries during the first week of October, according to Getty.

Increases will range from 50 per cent to about 100 per cent.

Law Liberalized

For example, the average primary benefit of approximately $26 a month for a retired worker will be increased to about $46. A widow with two children who has been receiving $55 a month will get about $110 under the new amendments.

The new law also provides that a person may earn as much as $50 a month and still accept his insurance payment. The old figure was $14.99. This applies to people under 75 who are receiving benefits and are working on a job covered by Social Security. After attaining 75, a beneficiary may have any amount of earnings and still collect his insurance checks.

Another feature of the bill is the inclusion of several new categories under the old-age and survivors program. For some groups, coverage will be mandatory and others may come in only if the employer chooses and if two-thirds of the employes express a wish to participate.

One of the most significant aspects of the new bill, Getty pointed out, is the more liberal qualifying conditions.

Others Eligible

Anyone now 65 of more who has at least six "quarters of coverage" may be immediately eligible for monthly payments.

In the area serviced by the Cumberland field office, Getty said, there are about 300 persons who have filed claims, but had not, at the time of filing, acquired enough "quarters of coverage" to get benefits. The field office has been reviewing records for several weeks to screen all these persons and is preparing letters to notify them they may be eligible for benefits if another claim is filed.

The new law also gives wage credits of $160 a month toward old-age and survivors benefits for old-age and survivors benefits for military service in World War II.

The benefits will be continued to be paid in the same way—by payroll taxes on the workers and employers inolved—but self-employed persons may qualify by paying a special social security tax (2½ per cent to start) when they make their income tax returns at the end of each year.

Co-op Hospital Sues Doctors

ELK CITY, Okla. (AP) — The Farmers Union Hospital, a cooperative organization, has filed a $100,000 damage suit against the Beckman County Medical Association and 12 member doctors.

A suit climaxes a 20-year-fight between the co-operative hospital and other doctors. Hospital staff members have not been admitted to the county medical association.

In addition to the $100,000, hospital doctors asked trebled damages be assessed at $300,000. They filed the suit in district court here in behalf of the 2,800 families who are Union Hospital Association members.

The petition charges "conspiracy and restraint of trade and meddling and interfering with the metering out obstacles for the express purpose of causing harm and injury to the staff and the hospital-clinic."

The petition contends action of the society imposes disadvantages to the prepaid medical plan clinic and members of the staff in denying its physicians their lawful right to practice medicine in the county.

Dr. H. K. Speed, Sr., president of the Beckham County Medical Association, declined to comment on the suit.

The word "hooch," to indicate liquor, is derived from the Alaskan Indian village of Hoochinoo, meaning "grizzly bear fort."

The custom of having a best man at wedding ceremonies originated when primitive man would choose a wife by capturing her. He would bring along a trusted friend to ward off the attacks of the girl's relatives.

Israel Revisited

EARLY in 1949, my missus and I took a trip around the world, and one of the countries we got to see was Israel. At the time, many of the streets of Tel Aviv, Haifa and Jerusalem were still criss-crossed with barbed wire, and the roads leading through the hills of Judea were littered with burned-out trucks. Nevertheless, thanks to an old Chevvy and a pair of even older legs, I managed to see most of this tiny country and when I left it a few weeks later I was pretty excited about what I had seen.

Billy Rose

When we got back to New York, my old boss, Bernard M. Baruch asked me to put my enthusiasm in my pocket and try to estimate Israel's chances of survival in this highly competitive world. I told him that one swing around the globe wasn't enough to make an economic expert out of a Broadway jumping-jack, but that I had come away from Israel with the general impression that its people were (a) intelligent, (b) tough as nails, and (c) prepared to work like all get-out to make a go of their new lives.

"A business or a nation with those qualities usually gives a good account of itself," said Mr. Baruch

Since my visit, I've heard nothing to change my snap appraisal of Israel's chances. On the other hand, I've read darned little on the subject which could be classed as good objective reporting. Most of the favorable stuff was too favorable—obviously the work of men who were out to make as good a case for the new nation as possible. And as for the dissenters—well, as was to be expected, most of them sounded as if they were carrying a 2,000-year-old chip on their shoulders.

Last week, the galleys of a new book by Ralph McGill—"Israel Revisited," to be published in Atlanta, Ga., next month by Tupper and Love—showed up on my desk and I began to thumb through them out of a sense of duty. But what started as duty quickly became compulsion, for McGill, editor of one of the South's most trustworthy papers The Atlanta Constitution, had obviously gone to Israel with an open mind and crammed it with facts and figures before making it up

I've met Mr. McGill once or twice, and before I was halfway through his book I found myself wondering how this soft-spoken and hard-headed gentleman from Georgia had come to write such an incisive and insightful commentary on the complicated events now shaping up at the far end of the Mediterranean.

I got to thinking about it and, as I hunch it, the answer is triple pronged: First, McGill is an Irishman, which means that while he has a lively sense of justice in general he has no axiom—grind about Israel in particular. Second, he is first, foremost and fastidiously a newspaperman, avaricious for facts but plenty leary of special-pleading propaganda. And third, he has a long record as a fighting Southern liberal, and once he's gotten his facts straight he's not one to bypass those touchy areas where even angels fear to tiptoe.

When I finished reading "Israel Revisited," I was, of course, tickled to find that McGill's conclusions jibed with mine, but that's neither here nor there. The important thing is that, without pulling any punches, he has written a book about this controversial little country which one can read without prejudice or without suspecting the author of same.

Here, at last, is a meticulous and meaningful answer to the often-asked question, "What's Israel really like?"

Music, doctor . . . please.

Yes, sir, the University of Chicago clinics have just announced a new service for surgical patients . . . Operations with music . . . And this may revolutionize medicine.

From now on, don't be surprised if medical shingles read: "Dr. Jones . . . Specialist in heart, kidneys and be-bop."

When the patient tells the doctor he wants his appendix removed, the doctor will say, "Yes . . . but to what tune?"

And some famous bands may change their slogans to: "The sweetest music this side of the Mayo clinic."

Of course, there may be some danger in this new method. Picture a surgeon trying to operate to the music of Spike Jones.

And it may slow up medicine. I can see an operating room with the patient, nurses and doctors all ready, but the head surgeon says, "Hold it, men . . . we can't start until we get the okay from Petrillo."

Brian Donlevy Wins Top Spots In Hearts Of Spinster Teachers

HOLLYWOOD — (INS) — Virile Brian Donlevy may be a celluloid villian, but he is the sweetheart of the spinster school-teachers.

Today Donlevy became "the man we want to propose to us" as 88 members of a local chapter of the American Association of Private School Teachers voted him into top spots in their hearts.

Margaret Wynn, chapter president, sighed Donlevy's name as "The masculine ideal" of her sisters, whom she described as "mostly unmarried and over 21."

Each year the group takes a poll on the lover they would best like to pop the old question. Last year brawny Brian also received the trembling, unanimous "ooh, yes."

Previous romantic winners were Walter Pidgeon, Ronald Coleman and Spencer Tracy. This Miss Wynn says, proves something:

"We are unimpressed by leading men with retarded Penrod complexes. That is why we always choose a mature man."

"We picked Brian because of his virility, sophistication, intelligence, sense of humor and calm rationality —and he is so ruggedly handsome too."

Margaret said most unmarried professional women allow their unripened years of romance to slip by. So she and her sister teachers go to movies to "escape" by emotionally living the screen romances of such adult heroines as Irene Dunne and Joan Crawford.

"We have to settle for synthetic experiences, but we don't want them with immature male hopefuls, even though they be the bobby-soxers' dreamboats," she added.

The spinster-dreamers snort at Hollywood for being "short sighted" in persistently type-casting their dream love as a villain. Margaret sputtered:

"Every man has a certain amount of—uh—laxity in his nature to balance the elements of perfection. Mature women recognize and worship this in Brian."

So now the lonely maidens are raising a hullaboolooo with glamorville producers — they want movie moguls to let Donlevy sizzle the screens in a final close-up clinch—and win the heroine.

"Just as he has won our hearts," the spinsters sighed in unison.

St. Mary's To Open Sept. 6

The 1950-51 term at St. Mary's Parochial School will open Wednesday, September 6, with a mass preceding the event.

All students who did not register last spring may do so Tuesday, September 5, from 9 to 11 a. m.

There are three changes in the teaching staff for the grade school.

Sister Josita, who taught the Sixth Grade last year has been transferred to St. Martin's School, Louisville, Ky., and is being replaced by Sister Fabian, who comes here from St. Martin's.

Sister Donald, who taught the Fifth Grade last year, is being transferred to St. Peter Claver School, Louisville. She is being replaced by Sister Veronica, who comes here from St. George's in Louisville. Sister Veronica is a Cumberland native.

Sister Alfreda, who taught the First Grade, is being transferred to Our Lady of Lourdes in Louisville, where a new school is being opened. She will be replaced by Sister Julia, who comes here from St. Anthony's in Louisville.

A new sewing class will be started in the high school and is being sponsored by the Mother's Club of St. Mary's School.

St. Patrick's Parochial School will reopen September 6 along with Catholic Girl's Central High School. The business school connected with the high school will also open at the same time.

Several teacher changes will be announced later.

In 1949, the population of Australia was estimated at 7,912,000.

Brian Donlevy Wins Top Spots In Hearts Of Spinster Teachers

HOLLYWOOD — (INS) — Virile Brian Donlevy may be a celluloid villian, but he is the sweetheart of the spinster school-teachers.

Today Donlevy became "the man we want to propose to us" as 88 members of a local chapter of the American Association of Private School Teachers voted him into top spots in their hearts.

Margaret Wynn, chapter president, sighed Donlevy's name as "The masculine ideal" of her sisters, whom she described as "mostly unmarried and over 21."

Each year the group takes a poll on the lover they would best like to pop the old question. Last year brawny Brian also received the trembling, unanimous "ooh, yes."

Previous romantic winners were Walter Pidgeon, Ronald Coleman and Spencer Tracy. This Miss Wynn says, proves something:

"We are unimpressed by leading men with retarded Penrod complexes. That is why we always choose a mature man."

"We picked Brian because of his virility, sophistication, intelligence, sense of humor and calm rationality —and he is so ruggedly handsome too."

Margaret said most unmarried professional women allow their unripened years of romance to slip by. So she and her sister teachers go to movies to "escape" by emotionally living the screen romances of such adult heroines as Irene Dunne and Joan Crawford.

Yankees Gain On Detroit; Moose Win RC Loop Playoff Spot

Senators' 5-4 Night Win Cuts Tigers' Lead To .002

Sid Hudson Victor, New York Conquers Cleveland, 6 To 5

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP) — Washington's Sid Hudson further tightened the American League race tonight by beating Detroit, 5-4. President and Mrs. Truman, attending unannounced, saw the Senators shave the Tigers' margin over second place New York to a percentage advantage of .002.

President and Mrs. Truman watched the 5th place Senators win.

Pat Mullin, subbing for Hoot Evers who sprained his wrist in fielding practice this afternoon, homered for the Tigers with one aboard in the fifth inning but Hudson tightened after that and blanked the Bengals without another hit.

The victory was Hudson's 12th against 11 losses while Dizzy Trout, the Tiger starting pitcher who went the route, was charged with his fourth defeat against 11 wins.

Mr. Truman's visit to the ball park came as a surprise to newsmen and other fans. It was his first visit to the stadium since opening day and he stayed to the last out.

The Nats got 12 hits off Trout.

Refuses Protest

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP)—Will Harridge, president of the American League, refused tonight to honor a protest of the New York Yankees against the calling of the second game of their doubleheader with the Cleveland Indians.

In a statement to reporters, Harridge said: "the game is dead and will have to be replayed. The American League relies on the judgment of its umpires in such cases."

Harridge was here attending the Washington-Detroit game at Griffith Stadium.

HURLS NO-HITTER—Clarence "Pooch" Lewis tossed the first no-run, no-hit game in the Cumberland Dapper Dan Club's Little League on Monday afternoon when he pitched Manager Albert Paye's Yankees to a 1-0 victory over the Pirates in the Dapper Division of the circuit. Sixty-seven games had been played in the circuit prior to yesterday. "Pooch" faced only 19 batsmen in the six inning tilt, failed to issue a pass and fanned seven. The only Pirate to reach first base was on an error in the 4th inning.

Yankees Defeat Tribe In Tenth

Raschi Posts 17th Win Of Season, 6-5

NEW YORK N. Y., Aug. 29 (AP) — The New York Yankees pulled a ten-inning, 6 to 5 victory over the Cleveland Indians out of the fire and a series of floods today in a precedent-shattering affair that started by daylight and ended long after dark.

It started out to be an afternoon doubleheader, but dragged out more than six hours, with only one decision, under the new American League rule that permits the use of floodlights to complete certain games begun by daylight. It was the first time this rule had been revoked and the lights were turned on not once, but three times before the umpires gave in to the elements.

The Yanks were leading by 4 to 0 at that stage in the third inning of the well-named "nightcap." This postponement will be played as part of a doubleheader tomorrow.

As a result of the hard-earned New York victory, the Yanks crept closer to the league-leading Detroit Tigers, whose afternoon game in Washington, part of a scheduled day-night twin bill, also was rained out. Cleveland slipped into a tie with the triumphant Boston Red Sox for thrid place in the exciting pennant race.

Yankees File Protest

The Yankees management later announced that it was sending a protest to American League President William Harridge, who is in Washington, on the grounds that the game was called off before the field was in an unplayable condition. The Yankees said they would request that the game be continued from the point at which it was called.

A crowd of 57,871 paying customers turned out for the affair that was turned into a farce by the elements. And a surprisingly large part of the throng still was on hand when Umpire Bill Summers finally shouted "it's off" at 6:43 p.m. (EST) as the fourth of a series of thunderstorms began drenching the field which had just been uncovered.

'Twas Long Afternoon

The first game was delayed 27 minutes during the eighth inning, just after the lights had been turned on for the first time during a regular-season "day" game. There was a 55 minute interval between the first and second games and a delay of 69 minutes before the affair was called off. It was a long "afternoon" for everybody.

Squeezing over the deciding run in the top of the final inning, the Tigers nosed out the Indians last night in a Little League game at Penn Avenue Field by the score of 3-2 and upped their lead over the Tribe to 4½ games.

It was the fifth meeting of the teams managed by Norman Gerdeman and Bob "Sparky" Chisholm and it was the third victory for the latter's nine.

Lewis singled to open the 6th and moved to third base on an error by Irons. After McGregor popped to Don Paye and Cioni struck out, Wilson pushed a bunt past third baseman Groves who charged in on the play, and Lewis raced home with what proved to be the winning tally. McGann walked and Crawford fanned.

McGann started on the hill for the Tigers but pitched to only four batters, yielding a single and three walks to force in one of the Indians' runs. Galen McGregor came on to fan the side and get credit for the win as the Tigers scored three runs in the last three frames after trailing 2-0.

McGregor struck out 15 and walked five. He also helped his cause by belting a home run. Don Paye went the route for the Indians. He struck out 13 and gave up three passes.

The score:

What a thrill many of those Little Leaguers will receive on Thursday when they see their first major league baseball game in Pittsburgh.

It's something that will always be remembered.

We saw a major league game for the first time back in 1910 and it was at the Polo Grounds where the Giants and Yankees, who were then known as the Highlanders, played their home games.

That game stands out in our memory because an error by Jack Graney of the Cleveland Naps (now the Indians) enabled the Yankees to come from behind and win in the 9th inning. Graney dropped Cree's fly with the bases loaded to decide the issue. Hal Chase, one of the greatest first sackers of all time, was with the New York team.

Graney, incidentally, is the same fellow who is broadcasting major league games out of Cleveland now.

Among the major league stars of that era we saw perform were Jack Daubert, Babe Adams, Heinie Groh, Zach Wheat, George Burns, Dick Rudolph, Charley Herzog, Ed Reulbach, "Slim" Sallee, Mike Mowery, Bill McKechnie, "Chief" Meyers, Rube Marquard, Benny Kauff, "Ham" Hyatt, and "Nap" Rucker.

You don't forget names of great players so easily.

With the Australians ruling the tennis roost, following their decisive vietory over the United States in the Davis Cup series, albeit Fred T. Small (address, Celanese Corporation of America, New York City) is a happy man.

The former plant manager of Amcelle is a native of Australia, served with the Anzacs in the First World War and during the time he was connected with the plant here we kept him informed on Davis Cup play each year.

We recall that one one occasion Harry Hopman and other Australian Davis Cup players were the guests of the Smalls and the Aussies made many friends in Cumberland.

And talking about happy men we might add that Brother Gregory was tickled pink over the many fine letters he received from friends in Cumberland and vicinity following announcement that he was being transferred from LaSalle High to Central Catholic High in Pittsburgh.

"I'll never forget the nice things my friends said about me in those letters," the former Explorers' director of athletics declared.

Clem Clower of Petersburg, W. Va., who is doing a swell job as secretary of the Alleghany Baseball League, is back home after a successful 10-days' fishing trip at Venetian Lake in Temagami Provincial Forest in Canada.

He was accompanied by Cecil Shepherd, John Barger and George Ours, also of Petersburg.

Clem reports having a great time even thought they encountered some frosty weather. The group caught lake, rainbow and brook trout and northern pike.

Bobby Green will present his 16th amateur boxing show at Penn Avenue Field on Thursday, September 14.

Green's first show was in old St. Mary's church on the Oldtown Road, September 16, 1947. He also has staged shows at the State Armory and Community Park.

Bobby is the only survivor of the five who promoted amateur shows here in 1947-48. Those who tossed in the sponge were Henry Stitcher (Police Boys' Club); Jim Klosterman (Diamond A. C.); "Red" Mauk (Royale A. C.) and "Sparky" Chisholm (Amvets).

We like the story about the hotel clerk's refusal to let visitors to go up to George Ratterman's room when the pro football Yanks arrived to play the Bears in a recent exhibition game.

"You can't go up there," the clerk warned, "because Ruby's up there with him now. I don't know if it's his wife, sister or mother.

Ruby was up there to be sure—Martin Ruby, 250 pound tackle and roommate of the former Notre Dame and Buffalo Bills' backfield star.

Roland Eldridge Taylor, native of Paw Paw, is the new assistant coach at Berkeley Spring High School.

Taylor, successor to Tom Quinn, played basketball and baseball at Paw Paw High (1940-1943). He attended Potomac State and was graduated from Shepherd College in June.

Roland will assist Head Coach Jerry Calhourn in football and basketball and will handle baseball by himself.

Athletic Officials Of 5 States Will Discuss Eligibility Rules

Ramey Will Attend Baltimore Session

Mutual and reciprocal eligibility rules will be discussed at a meeting of public high school athletic representatives from six states on Monday, September 18 at Baltimore.

Invitations to the meeting were extended by the Maryland Public High School Athletic Association and have been accepted by the following delegates:

Edmund Wicht, Pennsylvania; George Ayers, Delaware; Walter Short, New Jersey; Clyde Richardson, Virginia, and William R. Fugitt, West Virginia.

H. V. Porter, Chicago, executive secretary of the National Federation of State High School Athletic Association, will also attend.

Maryland will be represented by Thomas C. Ferguson, Baltimore; Herbert R. Steiner, Towson; George Carrington, Crisfield; Andrew Norton, Baltimore; Crescent R. Bride, Rockville and Arthur G. Ramey, director of athletics for Allegany county.

Among the subjects to be discussed are age limits, semester attendance limit and academic requirements.

Rules governing athletic contest differ somewhat in many of the states and the purpose of this meeting is to reach a mutual understanding on eligibility of players taking part in inter-state contests.

Avila And Boone Suffer Injuries

NEW YORK, Aug. 29 (AP) — The Cleveland Indians temporarily lost the services of their young keystone combination of second baseman Bob Avila and Shortstop Ray Boone.

Avila pulled a leg muscle in the seventh inning of the Indians' first game with the New York Yankees today.

Boone was injured in the second inning of the second game. The Yanks' Billy Johnson collided with Boone on a force play at second and the Clevelander suffered a back injury.

Boston Crushes White Sox, 13-6

Doerr Wallops 23rd, Parnell Notches 13th

BOSTON, Aug. 29 (INS) — The Boston Red Sox crushed the Chicago White Sox, 13 to 6, today for their 14th victory in 15 games on the current home stand.

The late-inning surge and the Red Sox have employed so often during their hot streak won for them again today. Tied 6 to 6 as they entered the last half of the fifth inning. The Red Sox scored three runs, two of them on a homer by Bobby Doerr.

Three more crossed the plate in the seventh, and Doerr homered again in the eighth to bring his season's total to 23. Clyde Vollmer hit his seventh in the first inning.

Mel Parnell went all the way to record his 13th win for the Red Sox although he was touched for nine hits including a homer by Dave Philley, Belted hard in the early stages, he settled down to blank the White Sox in the last four innings.

Capot, 1949 3-Year-Old Champion, Is Retired Because Of Knee Injury

Won 12 Of 28 Races And Earned $345,260

NEW YORK, Aug. 29 (AP) — The Greentree Stable announced today that Capot, the 1949 three-year-old champion and "Horse Of The Year," is being retired because of an aggravated knee injury.

The brown four-year-old son of Menow-Piquet will be sent to the Greentree Farm at Lexington, Ky., for breeding purposes.

Capot, winner of the Preakness, Belmont Stakes, and Pimlico Special last year, and second in the Kentucky Derby, came out of a workout Sunday at Belmont Park with a swollen left knee.

Capot was kicked in the knee when a foal, and was under continuous treatment during his three years of racing.

"Capot has never taken a wrong step on any racetrack at any time," said John Hay (Jock) Whitney, co-owner of Greentree with his sister, Mrs. Charles S. Payson.

Capot started 28 times, and won 12 races, with four seconds and seven thirds. He is 23rd on the list of leading money-winning horses, with $345,260.

Negro Girl Is Ahead When Rain Halts Play

By HOWARD SIGMAND

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 29 (INS) — A torrential downpour struck the national singles championships today and interrupted what may become the tennis upset of the year.

Miss Althea Gibson, 22-year-old negro star from New York City, was within a game of defeating Wimbledon queen Louise Brough in the third and final set of their second round match when the rains came.

The lashing storm sent a jam-packed grandstand crowd scurrying for cover and caused tournament officials to call off the remaining matches until tomorrow.

Miss Gibson had come back to lead Miss Brough, 1-6, 6-3, and seven games to six in the third set. When the match is resumed tomorrow, Miss Brough will be serving in the fourteenth game.

The tall, slender, Miss Gibson, first member of her race ever to participate in the nationals, displayed wonderful reflex action and a smooth, well co-ordinated attack that had the second-ranked player in the nation a bit bewildered at times.

The Forest Hills deluge also stopped the match between Don McNeill, surprise conqueror of Ken McGregor yesterday, and Bill Talbert.

Talbert led the veteran McNeill, 6-1, 1-1, in the second set.

Those matches that got in before the storm went according to form.

Second-seeded Herbie Flam, the Beverly Hills, Cal., hotshot, went four sets in winning his second round match from Belgium's Philippe Washer, 6-1, 6-4, 6-8, 6-4.

The veteran Gardnar Mulloy had an easy time disposing of Hugh Stewart, Los Angeles, 6-1, 6-2, 6-1. Vic Seixas of Philadelphia ousted Chile's Ricardo Balbiers, 6-3, 6-2, 6-3.

Earl Cochell of Los Angeles eliminated Harry Likas, San Francisco, 6-0, 6-1, 6-2.

James Brink had to go five sets before taking care of England's Tony Mottram, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3.

In a first round match, third foreign seeded John Bromwich, the 31-year-old "grandpa" of Australia's Davis Cup kings, disposed of Cincinnati's young Tony Trabert, 6-4, 6-0, 7-5.

In women's play, both seeded foreign entrants hit the dust. Top-ranked Mrs. Annelies Bossi of Italy, was ousted by Betty Rosenquest of Orange, N. J., 6-4, 6-4. Mrs. Magda Rurac took second-seeded Mrs. J. G. Mottram of England, 1-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Defending champion Mrs. Margaret Osborne duPont swung into second round action after drawing an opening day bye with an easy, 6-0, 6-1, triumph over Mrs. Edna Salichs.

Pat Todd, Nancy Chaffee, Barbara Scofield, Shirley Fry and Nancy Morrison all scored straight set second round wins.

Brooklyn Slugs Chicago Hurlers

Dodgers Get 11 Hits, Win By Score Of 8-2

CHICAGO, Aug. 29 (INS)—The Brooklyn Dodgers hammered two Chicago pitchers for 11 hits today including Carl Furillo's homer as they beat the Cubs, 8 to 2, before 19,910 fans at Wrigley Field.

Frank Hiller, starting Chicago hurler, was slugged for five Dodger runs in the sixth. He was relieved by Doyle Lade, who was nudged for Furillo's circuit wallop.

Bob Borkowski drove in Roy Smalley with a Cub run in the sixth and a passed ball by Brooklyn catcher Roy Campanella let in the final Chicago tally in the ninth.

Five errors marred the Cubs' fielding.

Don Newcombe was the winning pitcher. Box:

Tigers Lose Evers

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP) — Detroit's American League pennant hopes suffered a jolt today when outfielder Hoot Evers sprained his right wrist in fielding practice prior to today's rained-out day game with Washington.

Evers, who ran into Griffith Stadium's fence while chasing a fly ball, was replaced by Pat Mullin in the Tigers' lineup for tonight's game with the Senators. Evers will be lost for an indefinite period.

Phillies Score 5-3 Win Over St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 29 (AP) — Robin Roberts hurled beautiful four-hit ball for eight innings but Jim Konstanty had to stop a ninth-inning St. Louis Cardinal rally to give the Philadelphia Phillies a 5 to 3 victory tonight. The triumph kept the Phils five and a half games ahead of the second-place Brooklyn Dodgers.

CCC Women Defeat Somerset Golfers

Women golfers of the Cumberland Country Club defeated the Somerset (Pa.) Country Club by the score of 6-3 in a match here yesterday in which the visiting team borrowed several players.

Miss Louise Glick and Mrs. William Cramer of the CCC defeated Mrs. G. L. Bowie and Mrs. Bargo, 3-0; Mrs. Charles Helmrich and Mrs. Bouch of the CCC won over Mrs. W. D. Smith and Mrs. Shoemaker, 3-0 and Mrs. H. W. Eliason and Mrs. H. Givens of the CCC lost to Mrs. McDowell and Mrs. C. A. Brotemarkle, 3-0.

Mrs. McDowell of Somerset and lowe net score of 80. Her gross was 120 and handicap 40.

Mrs. Bargo had the least number of putts for Somerset (35) and Mrs. R. W. Trevaskis had the least number of putts for Cumberland (27).

Green Bay Packers Defeat Giants, 10-0

BOSTON, Aug. 29 (INS) — The Green Bay Packers played rings around the New York Giants tonight to defeat the Gothamites, 10 to 0, in exhibition game before 12,053 football fans at Braves Field.

The Packers took the lead in the first period when Ted Fritsch booted a 39-yard field goal. Then, despite their obvious superiority, the big Packers failed to score again until the final quarter when Jack Cloud crashed over from the two yard line.

Fritsch kicked the point after touchdown.

A heavy rain delayed the start of the contest and held down the size of the crowd.

The Loyal Order of Moose tossers clinched fourth place and qualified for the playoffs in the Rocking Chair Softball League by defeating the Goodfellowship Club yesterday at Campobello by the score of 15-2.

Knights of Columbus, also battling for fourth place, finished "out of the money" although they defeated the Outdoor Club yesterday at Fort Hill, 12-4, because they are now unable to overtake the Moose. Each team has one more game on its schedule but it will not be played because the result will not affect the final standings. Had the Moose lost its last two contests and the K. of C. won two the race would have ended in a tie, necessitating a playoff for 4th place.

Joe Geatz's grand slam home run in the second inning started the Moose in the road to victory. All of the winners' runs were scored in the third, fourth and fifth frames. Ray Frye limited the G. F. C. to two hits, fanned seven and posted his 11th win against 10 losses for the season. Russ Minnicks garnered three hits in four trips to the plate for the Moose.

The K. of C. were aided by nine bases on balls in their triumph over the Outdoor Club. "Chick" Snider smacked a pair of two-baggers and "Bobby" Cavanaugh hit two singles for the Knights while Ray Swach featured in left field with several nice catches. Brady of the ODC rapped three singles and Neder homered in the 2nd inning. Jim Morrison, the loser, finished the season with an 18-5 record. Loibel of the K. of C. won 10 and lost 13.

Playoffs get underway Thursday at Penn Avenue Field with the Elks opposing the Outdoor Club at 6 p.m. and the Eagles battling the Moose at 7:15. All series will be best-of-three-games. Yesterday's scores:

County League Plans Playoffs

Teams Meet Tonight, Four Contests Today

Plans for the playoffs in the County Softball League will be discussed at a meeting of all managers and umpires today at 8 p. m. at the Corriganville American Legion Home.

The playoffs may be started next week.

Potomac Valley, Hyndman and Narrows Park are still engaged in a battle for the fourth place playoff spot.

The records of the teams are: Potomac Valley (22-18), Hyndman (21-19) and Narrows Park (20-19).

Narrows Park has three games yet to play with Wellersburg, Ellerslie and Potomac Valley.

Potomac Valley's two games are with Wellersburg and the Park and Hyndman's foes are LaVale and Stringtown. Each team plays 42 games during the regular season.

Tonight's league games are:

Wellersburg at Potomac Valley, Corriganville at Stringtown, LaVale at Hyndman an Ellerslie at Narrows Park.

The regular schedule ends on Friday.

Ronnie Cage Paces Cunningham Batsmen With .415 Average

Ronnie Cage led the batsmen of Cunningham's Grocery of the City Recreation Softball League with an average of .415 for the season.

Cage played in 26 games and collected 39 hits in 94 trips to the plate. Jimmie Eckard was the runner-up with an average of .407.

Cunningham's wound up the season with a record of 21 wins and nine defeats.

Paul Long, ace pitcher of the team, won 10 and lost one.

The team will practice Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at Locust Grove at 6 o'clock in preparation for the league playoffs. The averages:

Yankees Gain On Detroit; Moose Win RC Loop Playoff Spot

Senators' 5-4 Night Win Cuts Tigers' Lead To .002

Sid Hudson Victor, New York Conquers Cleveland, 6 To 5

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP) — Washington's Sid Hudson further tightened the American League race tonight by beating Detroit, 5-4. President and Mrs. Truman, attending unannounced, saw the Senators shave the Tigers' margin over second place New York to a percentage advantage of .002.

President and Mrs. Truman watched the 5th place Senators win.

Pat Mullin, subbing for Hoot Evers who sprained his wrist in fielding practice this afternoon, homered for the Tigers with one aboard in the fifth inning but Hudson tightened after that and blanked the Bengals without another hit.

HURLS NO-HITTER—Clarence "Pooch" Lewis tossed the first no-run, no-hit game in the Cumberland Dapper Dan Club's Little League on Monday afternoon when he pitched Manager Albert Paye's Yankees to a 1-0 victory over the Pirates in the Dapper Division of the circuit. Sixty-seven games had been played in the circuit prior to yesterday. "Pooch" faced only 19 batsmen in the six inning tilt, failed to issue a pass and fanned seven. The only Pirate to reach first base was on an error in the 4th inning.

Refuses Protest

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP)—Will Harridge, president of the American League, refused tonight to honor a protest of the New York Yankees against the calling of the second game of their doubleheader with the Cleveland Indians.

In a statement to reporters, Harridge said: "the game is dead and will have to be replayed. The American League relies on the judgment of its umpires in such cases."

Harridge was here attending the Washington-Detroit game at Griffith Stadium.

The victory was Hudson's 12th against 11 losses while Dizzy Trout, the Tiger starting pitcher who went the route, was charged with his fourth defeat against 11 wins.

Mr. Truman's visit to the ball park came as a surprise to newsmen and other fans. It was his first visit to the stadium since opening day and he stayed to the last out.

The Nats got 12 hits off Trout. Score:

Tigers	13	3	.813
Indians	9	8	.529
Dodgers	8	8	.500
Braves	3	14	.176

Squeezing over the deciding run in the top of the final inning, the Tigers nosed out the Indians last night in a Little League game at Penn Avenue Field by the score of 3-2 and upped their lead over the Tribe to 4½ games.

It was the fifth meeting of the teams managed by Norman Gerdeman and Bob "Sparky" Chisholm and it was the third victory for the latter's nine.

Lewis singled to open the 6th and moved to third base on an error by Irons. After McGregor popped to Don Paye and Cioni struck out, Wilson pushed a bunt past third baseman Groves who charged in on the play, and Lewis raced home with what proved to be the winning tally. McGann walked and Crawford fanned.

McGann started on the hill for the Tigers but pitched to only four batters, yielding a single and three walks to force in one of the Indians' runs. Galen McGregor came on to fan the side and get credit for the win as the Tigers scored three runs in the last three frames after trailing 2-0.

McGregor struck out 15 and walked five. He also helped his cause by belting a home run. Don Paye went the route for the Indians. He struck out 13 and gave up three passes.

The score:

Yankees Defeat Tribe In Tenth

Raschi Posts 17th Win Of Season, 6-5

NEW YORK N. Y., Aug. 29 (AP) — The New York Yankees pulled a ten-inning, 6 to 5 victory over the Cleveland Indians out of the fire and a series of floods today in a precedent-shattering affair that started by daylight and ended long after dark.

It started out to be an afternoon doubleheader, but dragged out more than six hours, with only one decision, under the new American League rule that permits the use of floodlights to complete certain games begun by daylight. It was the first time this rule had been revoked and the lights were turned on not once, but three times before the umpires gave in to the elements.

The Yanks were leading by 4 to 0 at that stage in the third inning of the well-named "nightcap." This postponement will be played as part of a doubleheader tomorrow.

As a result of the hard-earned New York victory, the Yanks crept closer to the league-leading Detroit Tigers, whose afternoon game in Washington, part of a scheduled day-night twin bill, also was rained out. Cleveland slipped into a tie with the triumphant Boston Red Sox for thrid place in the exciting pennant race.

Yankees File Protest

The Yankees management later announced that it was sending a protest to American League President William Harridge, who is in Washington, on the grounds that the game was called off before the field was in an unplayable condition. The Yankees said they would request that the game be continued from the point at which it was called.

A crowd of 57,871 paying customers turned out for the affair that was turned into a farce by the elements. And a surprisingly large part of the throng still was on hand when Umpire Bill Summers finally shouted "it's off" at 6:43 p.m. (EST) as the fourth of a series of thunderstorms began drenching the field which had just been uncovered.

'Twas Long Afternoon

The first game was delayed 27 minutes during the eighth inning, just after the lights had been turned on for the first time during a regular-season "day" game. There was a 55 minute interval between the first and second games and a delay of 69 minutes before the affair was called off. It was a long "afternoon" for everybody.

What a thrill many of those Little Leaguers will receive on Thursday when they see their first major league baseball game in Pittsburgh.

It's something that will always be remembered.

We saw a major league game for the first time back in 1910 and it was at the Polo Grounds where the Giants and Yankees, who were then known as the Highlanders, played their home games.

That game stands out in our memory because an error by Jack Graney of the Cleveland Naps (now the Indians) enabled the Yankees to come from behind and win in the 9th inning. Graney dropped Cree's fly with the bases loaded to decide the issue. Hal Chase, one of the greatest first sackers of all time, was with the New York team.

Graney, incidentally, is the same fellow who is broadcasting major league games out of Cleveland now.

Among the major league stars of that era we saw perform were Jack Daubert, Babe Adams, Heinie Groh, Zach Wheat, George Burns, Dick Rudolph, Charley Herzog, Ed Reulbach, "Slim" Sallee, Mike Mowery, Bill McKechnie, "Chief" Meyers, Rube Marquard, Benny Kauff, "Ham" Hyatt, and "Nap" Rucker.

You don't forget names of great players so easily.

With the Australians ruling the tennis roost, following their decisive victory over the United States in the Davis Cup series, albeit Fred T. Small (address, Celanese Corporation of America, New York City) is a happy man.

The former plant manager of Amcelle is a native of Australia, served with the Anzacs in the First World War and during the time he was connected with the plant here we kept him informed on Davis Cup play each year.

We recall that one one occasion Harry Hopman and other Australian Davis Cup players were the guests of the Smalls and the Aussies made many friends in Cumberland.

And talking about happy men we might add that Brother Gregory was tickled pink over the many fine letters he received from friends in Cumberland and vicinity following announcement that he was being transferred from LaSalle High to Central Catholic High in Pittsburgh.

"I'll never forget the nice things my friends said about me in those letters," the former Explorers' director of athletics declared.

Clem Clower of Petersburg, W. Va., who is doing a swell job as secretary of the Alleghany Baseball League, is back home after a successful 10-days' fishing trip at Venetian Lake in Temagami Provincial Forest in Canada.

He was accompanied by Cecil Shepherd, John Barger and George Ours, also of Petersburg.

Clem reports having a great time even thought they encountered some frosty weather. The group caught lake, rainbow and brook trout and northern pike.

Bobby Green will present his 16th amateur boxing show at Penn Avenue Field on Thursday, September 14.

Green's first show was in old St. Mary's church on the Oldtown Road, September 16, 1947. He also has staged shows at the State Armory and Community Park.

Bobby is the only survivor of the five who promoted amateur shows here in 1947-48. Those who tossed in the sponge were Henry Stitcher (Police Boys' Club); Jim Klosterman (Diamond A. C.); "Red" Mauk (Royale A. C.) and "Sparky" Chisholm (Amvets).

We like the story about the hotel clerk's refusal to let visitors to go up to George Ratterman's room when the pro football Yanks arrived to play the Bears in a recent exhibition game.

"You can't go up there," the clerk warned, "because Ruby's up there with him now. I don't know if it's his wife, sister or mother.

Ruby was up there to be sure—Martin Ruby, 250 pound tackle and roommate of the former Notre Dame and Buffalo Bills' backfield star.

Roland Eldridge Taylor, native of Paw Paw, is the new assistant coach at Berkeley Spring High School.

Taylor, successor to Tom Quinn, played basketball and baseball at Paw Paw High (1940-1943). He attended Potomac State and was graduated from Shepherd College in June.

Roland will assist Head Coach Jerry Calhourn in football and basketball and will handle baseball by himself.

Athletic Officials Of 5 States Will Discuss Eligibility Rules

Ramey Will Attend Baltimore Session

Mutual and reciprocal eligibility rules will be discussed at a meeting of public high school athletic representatives from six states on Monday, September 18 at Baltimore.

Invitations to the meeting were extended by the Maryland Public High School Athletic Association and have been accepted by the following delegates:

Edmund Wicht, Pennsylvania; George Ayers, Delaware; Walter Short, New Jersey; Clyde Richardson, Virginia, and William R. Fugitt, West Virginia.

H. V. Porter, Chicago, executive secretary of the National Federation of State High School Athletic Association, will also attend.

Maryland will be represented by Thomas C. Ferguson, Baltimore; Herbert R. Steiner, Towson; George Carrington, Crisfield; Andrew Norton, Baltimore; Crescent R. Bride, Rockville and Arthur G. Ramey, director of athletics for Allegany county.

Among the subjects to be discussed are age limits, semester attendance limit and academic requirements.

Rules governing athletic contest differ somewhat in many of the states and the purpose of this meeting is to reach a mutual understanding on eligibility of players taking part in inter-state contests.

Avila And Boone Suffer Injuries

NEW YORK, Aug. 29 (AP) — The Cleveland Indians temporarily lost the services of their young keystone combination of second baseman Bob Avila and Shortstop Ray Boone.

Avila pulled a leg muscle in the seventh inning of the Indians' first game with the New York Yankees today.

Boone was injured in the second inning of the second game. The Yanks' Billy Johnson collided with Boone on a force play at second and the Clevelander suffered a back injury.

Boston Crushes White Sox, 13-6

Doerr Wallops 23rd, Parnell Notches 13th

BOSTON, Aug. 29 (INS) — The Boston Red Sox crushed the Chicago White Sox, 13 to 6, today for their 14th victory in 15 games on the current home stand.

The late-inning surge and the Red Sox have employed so often during their hot streak won for them again today. Tied 6 to 6 as they entered the last half of the fifth inning. The Red Sox scored three runs, two of them on a homer by Bobby Doerr.

Three more crossed the plate in the seventh, and Doerr homered again in the eighth to bring his season's total to 23. Clyde Vollmer hit his seventh in the first inning.

Mel Parnell went all the way to record his 13th win for the Red Sox although he was touched for nine hits including a homer by Dave Philley, Belted hard in the early stages, he settled down to blank the White Sox in the last four innings. Box:

Capot, 1949 3-Year-Old Champion, Is Retired Because Of Knee Injury

Won 12 Of 28 Races And Earned $345,260

NEW YORK, Aug. 29 (AP) — The Greentree Stable announced today that Capot, the 1949 three-year-old champion and "Horse Of The Year," is being retired because of an aggravated knee injury.

The brown four-year-old son of Menow-Piquet will be sent to the Greentree Farm at Lexington, Ky., for breeding purposes.

Capot, winner of the Preakness, Belmont Stakes, and Pimlico Special last year, and second in the Kentucky Derby, came out of a workout Sunday at Belmont Park with a swollen left knee.

Capot was kicked in the knee when a foal, and was under continuous treatment during his three years of racing.

"Capot has never taken a wrong step on any racetrack at any time," said John Hay (Jock) Whitney, co-owner of Greentree with his sister, Mrs. Charles S. Payson.

Capot started 28 times, and won 12 races, with four seconds and seven thirds. He is 23rd on the list of leading money-winning horses with $345,260.

Althea Gibson Almost Upsets Louise Brough

Negro Girl Is Ahead When Rain Halts Play

By HOWARD SIGMAND

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 29 (INS) — A torrential downpour struck the national singles championships today and interrupted what may become the tennis upset of the year.

Miss Althea Gibson, 22-year-old negro star from New York City, was within a game of defeating Wimbledon queen Louise Brough in the third and final set of their second round match when the rains came.

The lashing storm sent a jam-packed grandstand crowd scurrying for cover and caused tournament officials to call off the remaining matches until tomorrow.

Miss Gibson had come back to lead Miss Brough, 1-6, 6-3, and seven games to six in the third set. When the match is resumed tomorrow, Miss Brough will be serving in the fourteenth game.

The tall, slender, Miss Gibson, first member of her race ever to participate in the nationals, displayed wonderful reflex action and a smooth, well co-ordinated attack that had the second-ranked player in the nation a bit bewildered at times.

The Forest Hills deluge also stopped the match between Don McNeill, surprise conqueror of Ken McGregor yesterday, and Bill Talbert.

Talbert led the veteran McNeill, 6-1, 1-1, in the second set.

Those matches that got in before the storm went according to form.

Second-seeded Herbie Flam, the Beverly Hills, Cal., hotshot, went four sets in winning his second round match from Belgium's Philippe Washer, 6-1, 6-4, 6-8, 6-4.

The veteran Gardnar Mulloy had an easy time disposing of Hugh Stewart, Los Angeles, 6-1, 6-2, 6-1. Vic Seixas of Philadelphia ousted Chile's Ricardo Balbiers, 6-3, 6-2, 6-3.

Earl Cochell of Los Angeles eliminated Harry Likas, San Francisco, 6-0, 6-1, 6-2.

James Brink had to go five sets before taking care of England's Tony Mottram, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3.

In a first round match, third foreign seeded John Bromwich, the 31-year-old "grandpa" of Australia's Davis Cup kings, disposed of Cincinnati's young Tony Trabert, 6-4, 6-0, 7-5.

In women's play, both seeded foreign entrants hit the dust. Top-ranked Mrs. Annelies Bossi of Italy, was ousted by Betty Rosenquest of Orange, N. J., 6-4, 6-4. Mrs. Magda Rurac took second-seeded Mrs. J. G. Mottram of England, 1-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Defending champion Mrs. Margaret Osborne duPont swung into second round action after drawing an opening day bye with an easy, 6-0, 6-1, triumph over Mrs. Edna Salichs.

Pat Todd, Nancy Chaffee, Barbara Scofield, Shirley Fry and Nancy Morrison all scored straight set second round wins.

Brooklyn Slugs Chicago Hurlers

Dodgers Get 11 Hits, Win By Score Of 8-2

CHICAGO, Aug. 29 (INS)—The Brooklyn Dodgers hammered two Chicago pitchers for 11 hits today including Carl Furillo's homer as they beat the Cubs, 8 to 2, before 19,910 fans at Wrigley Field.

Frank Hiller, starting Chicago hurler, was slugged for five Dodger runs in the sixth. He was relieved by Doyle Lade, who was nudged for Furillo's circuit wallop.

Bob Borkowski drove in Roy Smalley with a Cub run in the sixth and a passed ball by Brooklyn catcher Roy Campanella let in the final Chicago tally in the ninth.

Five errors marred the Cubs' fielding.

Don Newcombe was the winning pitcher. Box:

Tigers Lose Evers

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP) — Detroit's American League pennant hopes suffered a jolt today when outfielder Hoot Evers sprained his right wrist in fielding practice prior to today's rained-out day game with Washington.

Evers, who ran into Griffith Stadium's fence while chasing a fly ball, was replaced by Pat Mullin in the Tigers' lineup for tonight's game with the Senators. Evers will be lost for an indefinite period.

CCC Women Defeat Somerset Golfers

Women golfers of the Cumberland Country Club defeated the Somerset (Pa.) Country Club by the score of 6-3 in a match here yesterday in which the visiting team borrowed several players.

Miss Louise Glick and Mrs. William Cramer of the CCC defeated Mrs. G. L. Bowie and Mrs. Bargo, 3-0; Mrs. Charles Helmrich and Mrs. Bouch of the CCC won over Mrs. W. D. Smith and Mrs. Shoemaker, 3-0 and Mrs. H. W. Eliason and Mrs. H. Givens of the CCC lost to Mrs. McDowell and Mrs. C. A. Brotemarkle, 3-0.

Mrs. McDowell of Somerset and lowe net score of 80. Her gross was 120 and handicap 40.

Mrs. Bargo had the least number of putts for Somerset (35) and Mrs. R. W. Trevaskis had the least number of putts for Cumberland (27).

Green Bay Packers Defeat Giants, 10-0

BOSTON, Aug. 29 (INS) — The Green Bay Packers played rings around the New York Giants tonight to defeat the Gothamites, 10 to 0, in exhibition game before 12,053 football fans at Braves Field.

The Packers took the lead in the first period when Ted Fritsch booted a 39-yard field goal. Then, despite their obvious superiority, the big Packers failed to score again until the final quarter when Jack Cloud crashed over from the two yard line.

Fritsch kicked the point after touchdown.

A heavy rain delayed the start of the contest and held down the size of the crowd.

The Loyal Order of Moose tossers clinched fourth place and qualified for the playoffs in the Rocking Chair Softball League by defeating the Goodfellowship Club yesterday at Campobello by the score of 15-2.

Knights of Columbus, also battling for fourth place, finished "out of the money" although they defeated the Outdoor Club yesterday at Fort Hill, 12-4, because they are now unable to overtake the Moose. Each team has one more game on its schedule but it will not be played because the result will not affect the final standings. Had the Moose lost its last two contests and the K. of C. won two the race would have ended in a tie, necessitating a playoff for 4th place.

Joe Geatz's grand slam home run in the second inning started the Moose in the road to victory. All of the winners' runs were scored in the third, fourth and fifth frames. Ray Frye limited the G. F. C. to two hits, fanned seven and posted his 11th win against 10 losses for the season. Russ Minnicks garnered three hits in four trips to the plate for the Moose.

The K. of C. were aided by nine bases on balls in their triumph over the Outdoor Club. "Chick" Snider smacked a pair of two-baggers and "Bobby" Cavanaugh hit two singles for the Knights while Ray Swach featured in left field with several nice catches. Brady of the ODC rapped three singles and Neder homered in the 2nd inning. Jim Morrison, the loser, finished the season with an 18-5 record. Loibel of the K. of C. won 10 and lost 13.

Playoffs get underway Thursday at Penn Avenue Field with the Elks opposing the Outdoor Club at 6 p.m. and the Eagles battling the Moose at 7:15. All series will be best-of-three-games. Yesterday's scores:

County League Plans Playoffs

Teams Meet Tonight, Four Contests Today

Plans for the playoffs in the County Softball League will be discussed at a meeting of all managers and umpires today at 8 p. m. at the Corriganville American Legion Home.

The playoffs may be started next week.

Potomac Valley, Hyndman and Narrows Park are still engaged in a battle for the fourth place playoff spot.

The records of the teams are: Potomac Valley (22-18), Hyndman (21-19) and Narrows Park (20-19).

Narrows Park has three games yet to play with Wellersburg, Ellerslie and Potomac Valley.

Potomac Valley's two games are with Wellersburg and the Park and Hyndman's foes are LaVale and Stringtown. Each team plays 42 games during the regular season.

Tonight's league games are:

Wellersburg at Potomac Valley, Corriganville at Stringtown, LaVale at Hyndman an Ellerslie at Narrows Park.

The regular schedule ends on Friday.

Ronnie Cage Paces Cunningham Batsmen With .415 Average

Ronnie Cage led the batsmen of Cunningham's Grocery of the City Recreation Softball League with an average of .415 for the season.

Cage played in 26 games and collected 39 hits in 94 trips to the plate. Jimmie Eckard was the runner-up with an average of .407.

Cunningham's wound up the season with a record of 21 wins and nine defeats.

Paul Long, ace pitcher of the team, won 10 and lost one.

The team will practice Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at Locust Grove at 6 o'clock in preparation for the league playoffs. The averages:

Gnu Is Winner Of Feature At Atlantic City

Culmone Is Aboard, Aura Lee Is Second

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug 29 (AP) — Brookmeade Stable's Gnu won his first race of the year when he captured the featured Ocean City Purse before a "ladies day" crowd of 13,541 at the Atlantic Race track today. The 4-year-old gelding received a strong ride at the hands of Joe Culmone to prevail by a neck over Justin Funkhouser's Aura Lee.

J. C. O'Hara's West Milton was third with the favored Erigeron from the Grandview Stables lasting to be fourth in the six furlongs dash.

The mutuel payoffs were Gnu, $13.60, $5.80, $4.60; Aura Lee, $5.30, $4.00 and West Milton, $6.80.

Gnu, a 4-year-old homebred gelding, did not campaign as a sophomore and today's triumph was his first in nine starts this season. Gnu followed the pace of Erigeron and Aura Lee to head of the stretch where Culmone steered him between horses to emerge the victor in the mad scramble to the wire.

Baby Comet Scores

AQUEDUCT, N. Y., Aug. 20 (AP) — P. A. Markey's Baby Comet won a three-horse photo to take the honors in the Bridal Flower, a six-furlong allowance test for fillies and mares, feature of today's Queens County Jockey Club card.

The 3-year-old daughter of Teddy's Comet-Rose Baby, ridden by Apprentice Keith Stuart, broke on top and stayed there although tiring at the end of the six furlongs run in the good time of 1:11 2-5.

A head back came Warbern Stable's Fighting Fan with Lawrence W. Jennings' Winter Wheat another nose back in third place.

Winner Returns $27.40

SALEM, N. H., Aug. 29 (AP) — E. B. Ogden's Princeling, after three previous dismal efforts, woke up today and won as he pleased in the mile and 30 yards feature race before a 5,758 crowd at Rockingham Park.

Princeling took over from the pace-setting Sickle Sue when the field straightened out in the backstretch and came under the wire in 1:41. Sickle Sue managed to hold on for the place and Paper Mill gained the show. The favored athlete wound up a badly beaten sixth.

Princeling paid $27.40, $12.60 and $6.00, Sickle Sue returned $7.30, and $4.20 and Paper Mill $5.60 for show.

THE CUP GOES TO AUSTRALIA—Four members of the Australian team gather around the Davis Cup at Forest Hills, N. Y., after taking it from the United States by the score of four matches to one. The Aussies came through following a lapse of 11 years. Left to right: John Bromwich, Ken McGregor, George Worthington and Frank Sedgman.

Olympic Group OKs Germany And Japan

LAUSANNE, Switzerland, Aug. 29 (AP) — Germany and Japan will be permitted to come back into the Olympic Games fold in 1952 at Helsinki. The action favoring the two former axis powers was taken on unanimous vote of the six-member executive committee of the International Olympic Committee.

Although the full committee must act on the recommendation at a meeting next May in Vienna, it was generally believed the two nations would be finally accepted.

QUESTIONS

1—What famous old time auto race driver had a tire named after him?

2—What two Big Ten grid coaches were All-Americans in both football and basketball?

3—What city, not now in the National league, was represented by three pennant winners in that circuit?

A HEAVYWEIGHT hailing from St Paul, Minn., he reached the peak of his career when he fought for but failed to win the world title. Quite a number of cowboys were spectators at that fight. Who is he?

ANSWERS

1—Barney Oldfield. (Picture: Tommy Gibbons)

2—Wesley Fesler of Ohio State and Bennie Oosterbaan of Michigan.

A Word About Clothing Values

The basic cost of any suit is determined by quality of material, expertness of tailoring, and detail of style. It is possible, through wise selection, to make great savings on fine clothing. For instance, at Kaplon's, you can buy a suit bearing a retail value—based on quality of material, tailoring and style—of $60. Yet this suit costs you just $49.50 because Kaplon's is willing to accept a small profit to bring you better value. Even in the face of rising material and production costs this $60 suit continues to sell at $49.50. Stop in ... examine a NORTHBROOKE suit ... compare it with suits selling for $60 or more ... and you'll see that here is true value at a price you can afford to pay.

Gnu Is Winner Of Feature At Atlantic City

Culmone Is Aboard, Aura Lee Is Second

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug 29 (AP) — Brookmeade Stable's Gnu won his first race of the year when he captured the featured Ocean City Purse before a "ladies day" crowd of 13,541 at the Atlantic Race track today. The 4-year-old gelding received a strong ride at the hands of Joe Culmone to prevail by a neck over Justin Funkhouser's Aura Lee.

J. C. O'Hara's West Milton was third with the favored Erigeron from the Grandview Stables lasting to be fourth in the six furlongs dash.

The mutuel payoffs were Gnu, $13.60, $5.80, $4.60; Aura Lee, $5.30, $4.00 and West Milton, $6.80.

Gnu, a 4-year-old homebred gelding, did not campaign as a sophomore and today's triumph was his first in nine starts this season. Gnu followed the pace of Erigeron and Aura Lee to head of the stretch where Culmone steered him between horses to emerge the victor in the mad scramble to the wire.

Baby Comet Scores

AQUEDUCT, N. Y., Aug. 20 (AP) — P. A. Markey's Baby Comet won a three-horse photo to take the honors in the Bridal Flower, a six-furlong allowance test for fillies and mares, feature of today's Queens County Jockey Club card.

The 3-year-old daughter of Teddy's Comet-Rose Baby, ridden by Apprentice Keith Stuart, broke on top and stayed there although tiring at the end of the six furlongs run in the good time of 1:11 2-5.

A head back came Warbern Stable's Fighting Fan with Lawrence W. Jennings' Winter Wheat another nose back in third place.

Winner Returns $27.40

SALEM, N. H., Aug. 29 (AP) — E. B. Ogden's Princeling, after three previous dismal efforts, woke up today and won as he pleased in the mile and 30 yards feature race before a 5,758 crowd at Rockingham Park.

Princeling took over from the pace-setting Sickle Sue when the field straightened out in the backstretch and came under the wire in 1:41. Sickle Sue managed to hold on for the place and Paper Mill gained the show. The favored athlete wound up a badly beaten sixth.

Princeling paid $27.40, $12.60 and $6.00, Sickle Sue returned $7.30, and $4.20 and Paper Mill $5.60 for show.

THE CUP GOES TO AUSTRALIA—Four members of the Australian team gather around the Davis Cup at Forest Hills, N. Y., after taking it from the United States by the score of four matches to one. The Aussies came through following a lapse of 11 years. Left to right: John Bromwich, Ken McGregor, George Worthington and Frank Sedgman.

Olympic Group OKs Germany And Japan

LAUSANNE, Switzerland, Aug. 29 (AP) — Germany and Japan will be permitted to come back into the Olympic Games fold in 1952 at Helsinki. The action favoring the two former axis powers was taken on unanimous vote of the six-member executive committee of the International Olympic Committee.

Although the full committee must act on the recommendation at a meeting next May in Vienna, it was generally believed the two nations would be finally accepted.

A Word About Clothing Values

The basic cost of any suit is determined by quality of material, expertness of tailoring, and detail of style. It is possible, through wise selection, to make great savings on fine clothing. For instance, at Kaplon's, you can buy a suit bearing a retail value—based on quality of material, tailoring and style—of $60. Yet this suit costs you just $49.50 because Kaplon's is willing to accept a small profit to bring you better value. Even in the face of rising material and production costs this $60 suit continues to sell at $49.50. Stop in . . . examine a NORTHBROOKE suit . . . compare it with suits selling for $60 or more . . . and you'll see that here is true value at a price you can afford to pay.

Midland Group Gives $500 To Medical Center

$1,530.48 Netted From Centennial

MIDLAND — The Midland Centennial Committee approved a donation of $500 to the Midland Medical Center at a meeting Sunday at Red Men's Hall.

The meeting was called to decide upon the disposition of a $1,530.48 profit realized on the centennial celebration held here July 2 to 8. The medical center received the first donation from the funds.

The remaining $1,030.48 will be disposed of later.

A motion was approved making the presence of the seven committee members attending Sunday's meeting necessary for disposition of the remaining money.

They are John Jeffries, chairman, John J. Devlin, treasurer; James G. Blair, Walter E. Ross, Mrs. Helen Manley, Mrs. Bertie Clark and Mrs. Pearl Blair.

The financial committee reported gross receipts of $3,190.60 and expenditures (including the Midland Medical Center donation) of $1,659.-74, leaving a balance of $1,030.48.

A complete financial report will be sent to each organization supporting the centennial and a copy will be posted on the Midland Post Office bulletin board.

The committee of the Midland Medical Center appealed to the centennial group for money to defray present and future operating expenses.

The use of the $500 is considered another step in securing a doctor for Midland.

Dr. Henry H. Lodgson, LaVale, is present at the center every Thursday from 3 until 4 p. m.

CITY OF FROSTBURG

ORDINANCE NO. 451

AN ORDINANCE OF THE MAYOR AND COUNCILMEN OF FROSTBURG, MARYLAND, ENTITLED "AN ORDINANCE TO REGULATE THE OPERATION OF POOL ROOMS IN THE CITY OF FROSTBURG, MARYLAND."

SECTION 1.
BE IT ORDAINED BY THE MAYOR AND COUNCILMEN OF FROSTBURG, that a license issued by the City Clerk of the City of Frostburg shall be required of every person, firm, corporation, club or association operating a pool room within the city limits of Frostburg after the effective date of this ordinance, and that the said City Clerk shall issue such license after the following procedure has been followed:

The licensee shall make application for said license with the City Clerk, who shall forward said application to the Chief of Police of the City of Frostburg for investigation as to the character of the applicant and the nature of the premises on which said pool room is to be maintained, and the Chief of Police shall within fifteen (15) days after receiving said application make a report on the same to the Mayor and Councilmen of Frostburg and the Mayor and Councilmen shall either approve or reject the application for license; in the event said application is approved by a majority vote of said Mayor and Councilmen the City Clerk shall then forthwith issue a license for the operation of the pool room to the applicant.

SECTION 2.
AND BE IT FURTHER ORDAINED, that each application for such license shall state the name of the bona-fide operator of the pool room, and if it be a firm, corporation, club or association list the name of the officers of said firm, corporation, club or association, and said application shall state the location of the premises and the owner of same.

Said application shall also state thereon whether or not the applicant or applicants have ever been convicted of any violations of the laws of the State of Maryland or any ordinances of the City of Frostburg, excepting traffic violations.

SECTION 3.
AND BE IT FURTHER ORDAINED, that there shall be no charge made for said license and that this is not a revenue ordinance but purely a regulatory ordinance.

SECTION 4.
AND BE IT FURTHER ORDAINED, that any person, firm, corporation, club or association found guilty of operating a pool room after the date of the passage of this ordinance without first having obtained such a license shall be fined not less than Twenty-Five Dollars, ($25.00), nor more than One Hundred Dollars, ($100.00), upon conviction for each offense. The aforegoing sections, however, shall not be retroactive with regard to any pool rooms established before the effective date of this ordinance but shall be applicable only to pool rooms established after the effective date hereof.

SECTION 5.
AND BE IT FURTHER ORDAINED, that any person, firm, corporation, club or association operating a pool room prior to and upon effective date of this ordinance shall within ten days thereafter file with the City Clerk their name as the operator of said pool room, or if it be a firm, corporation, club or association the name of its officers, together with the name of the owner of the premises, the location of the same, and whether or not the operator or it be a firm, corporation, club or association, its officers have ever been convicted of any violation of the laws of the State of Maryland or any ordinance of the City of Frostburg, excepting traffic violations.

SECTION 6.
AND BE IT FURTHER ORDAINED, that this ordinance shall take effect from the dates of its passege and publication thereof as required by law.

Passed this 23rd day of August, 1950.
JESSE F. JACOBS, Mayor

Midland Group Gives $500 To Medical Center

$1,530.48 Netted From Centennial

MIDLAND — The Midland Centennial Committee approved a donation of $500 to the Midland Medical Center at a meeting Sunday at Red Men's Hall.

The meeting was called to decide upon the disposition of a $1,530.48 profit realized on the centennial celebration held here July 2 to 8. The medical center received the first donation from the funds.

The remaining $1,030.48 will be disposed of later.

A motion was approved making the presence of the seven committee members attending Sunday's meeting necessary for disposition of the remaining money.

They are John Jeffries, chairman, John J. Devlin, treasurer; James G. Blair, Walter E. Ross, Mrs. Helen Manley, Mrs. Bertie Clark and Mrs. Pearl Blair.

The financial committee reported gross receipts of $3,190.60 and expenditures (including the Midland Medical Center donation) of $1,659.-74, leaving a balance of $1,030.48.

A complete financial report will be sent to each organization supporting the centennial and a copy will be posted on the Midland Post Office bulletin board.

The committee of the Midland Medical Center appealed to the centennial group for money to defray present and future operating expenses.

The use of the $500 is considered another step in securing a doctor for Midland.

Dr. Henry H. Lodgson, LaVale, is present at the center every Thursday from 3 until 4 p. m.

CITY OF FROSTBURG

AN ORDINANCE OF THE MAYOR AND COUNCILMEN OF FROSTBURG, MARYLAND, ENTITLED "AN ORDINANCE TO REGULATE THE OPERATION OF POOL ROOMS IN THE CITY OF FROSTBURG, MARYLAND."

SECTION 1.
BE IT ORDAINED BY THE MAYOR AND COUNCILMEN OF FROSTBURG, that a license issued by the City Clerk of the City of Frostburg shall be required of every person, firm, corporation, club or association operating a pool room within the city limits of Frostburg after the effective date of this ordinance, and that the said City Clerk shall issue such license after the following procedure has been followed:

The licensee shall make application for said license with the City Clerk, who shall forward said application to the Chief of Police of the City of Frostburg for investigation as to the character of the applicant and the nature of the premises on which said pool room is to be maintained, and the Chief of Police shall within fifteen (15) days after receiving said application make a report on the same to the Mayor and Councilmen of Frostburg and the Mayor and Councilmen shall either approve or reject the application for license; in the event said application is approved by a majority vote of said Mayor and Councilmen the City Clerk shall then forthwith issue a license for the operation of the pool room to the applicant.

SECTION 2.
AND BE IT FURTHER ORDAINED, that each application for such license shall state the name of the bona-fide operator of the pool room, and if it be a firm, corporation, club or association list the name of the officers of said firm, corporation, club or association, and said application shall state the location of the premises and the owner of same.

Said application shall also state thereon whether or not the applicant or applicants have ever been convicted of any violations of the laws of the State of Maryland or any ordinances of the City of Frostburg, excepting traffic violations.

SECTION 3.
AND BE IT FURTHER ORDAINED, that there shall be no charge made for said license and that this is not a revenue ordinance but purely a regulatory ordinance.

SECTION 4.
AND BE IT FURTHER ORDAINED, that any person, firm, corporation, club or association found guilty of operating a pool room after the date of the passage of this ordinance without first having obtained such a license shall be fined not less than Twenty-Five Dollars, ($25.00), nor more than One Hundred Dollars, ($100.00), upon conviction for each offense. The aforegoing sections, however, shall not be retroactive with regard to any pool rooms established before the effective date of this ordinance but shall be applicable only to pool rooms established after the effective date hereof.

SECTION 5.
AND BE IT FURTHER ORDAINED, that any person, firm, corporation, club or association operating a pool room prior to and upon effective date of this ordinance shall within ten days thereafter file with the City Clerk their name as the operator of said pool room, or if it be a firm, corporation, club or association the name of its officers, together with the name of the owner of the premises, the location of the same, and whether or not the operator or it be a firm, corporation, club or association, its officers have ever been convicted of any violation of the laws of the State of Maryland or any ordinance of the City of Frostburg, excepting traffic violations.

SECTION 6.
AND BE IT FURTHER ORDAINED, that this ordinance shall take effect from the dates of its passege and publication thereof as required by law.

Passed this 23rd day of August, 1950.
JESSE F. JACOBS, Mayor

Final Story Hour Session Today

WESTERNPORT — Mrs. Orvel Kazlo, director of the story hour for the children of elementary school age during July and August at the Westernport Library, will have charge of the final program of the year this afternoon.

The titles of Mrs. Kazlo's stories will be "How The Corn Got His Ear" and "The First Dandelion." The program will include recordings loaned by the Allegany County School Board and songs by the children. Miss Joanna Grindle will also tell a story.

Mrs. Kazlo has been assisted by Mrs. Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., Mrs. Herbert Dawson, Miss Nellie Dowling and Miss Grindle of here and Miss Lela Taylor, Cumberland.

The story hour has been conducted for two years by Mrs. Kazlo and has been popular with the children, as many as 90 having been present at one session.

Coaster Derby Set Tomorrow

LONACONING—The Lonaconing Recreation Association and Street Decorating Committee celebration begins tomorow with the coaster derby on Douglas Avenue.

Band concerts will be held Friday and Saturday by the Lonaconing City band. "On Wheels Parade" will be held Saturday at 7:30 p. m.

A parcel post sale is being conducted by the Recreation Association and everyone is asked to contribute a "parcel post package" for the benefit sale. Donations of candy and the parcel post packages are to be left at Eichhorn's Store by tomorow at the latest.

Junior 4-H Club Plans Bake Sale

LONACONING — The Lonaconing Junior 4-H Club met at the V.F.W. home on Friday night, where a Christmas card project was discussed.

Peggy Wills modeled a dress. Donna Pase, who was elected chairman of the bake sale, announced the sale will be held September 2 at 10 a. m.

Those named to the bake sale committee are Rose Ann Kelly, Christine Kenny, Donna Moffatt, Jo Ann Moyer, Jean Green, Virginia Green, Bonnie Neat and Donna Lee Stafford.

Lonaconing Personals

Mr. and Ralph Strawbridge, Bethesda, spent the weekend with the latter's mother, Mrs. Agnes Reed, West Main Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh M. Arnold, Baltimore, spent the weekend with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Arnold, Sr., of West Main Street.

Lee R. Arnold, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Arnold, Sr., left Monday for Martinsburg, W. Va., to be inducted into the Army.

Mrs. Edward Elkins and two children, of State Street, have returned from a visit to Baltimore.

Mrs. Sarah Hadley has returned from Detroit, Mich., where she attended the funeral of her brother, John Ray.

Dr. and Mrs. Paul Eugene Frye and family moved Monday from their Main Street apartment to their newly purchased residence on East Main Steret. It is the former home of Mr .and Mrs. Thomas Wilson, who have moved to Largo, Fla.

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD

By DOROTHY MANNERS

(Substituting for vacationing Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 29—(INS)—If Eagle-Lion intends to do any legal firing in their breach of contract battle with Scott Brady, they'll get the chance in a day or two when a major studio announces Scott in the biggest assignment of his career.

John Darrow told me, "We have our legal side of the case firmly established. Eagle-Lion neglected to notify us in time of their intention to exercise their option. In spite of this, they intended to loan Brady to a non-major releasing company for an obviously inferior picture not in keeping with his present status."

• • •

Some cast for "Follow the Sun," Ben Hogan's movie life at 20th. Dennis O'Keefe joins Glenn Ford and Anne Baxter—Glenn and Anne being Mr. and Mrs. Hogan.

Dennis' part is that of Chuck Williams, the easy going pal of Ben's. The golf picture tees off in September with Sidney Lanfield (real life pal of Hogan's) directing and Sam Engel producing.

O'Keefe is one of our best golfers so this job will be extra easy for him to take.

• — • — •

The movie Yvonne De Carlo and Cornel Wilde were to have made for Jerry Brandt in Europe, "Lord Johnny," has been called off. They can't lick script troubles and so, rather than try to patch up the story, the whole venture is dead.

If Yvonne is disappointed over losing out on a trip to London and Paris, she isn't showing it. She gets a trip, anyway—to Baltimore where she is booked for two weeks' "personals" on the stage at a very fancy figure financially speaking.

• • •

Saw Sy Bartlett at the Seacombers and he tells me he is flying to London to give Peggy Cummins away when she marries Derek Dunnet in November.

"Peggy has no father to do the honors," Sy said, "and the kid and I have been pals ever since she came to Hollywood. I felt pretty flattered when she asked me to walk down the aisle with her at her wedding."

Peggy's wedding gown will also be from Hollywood. It is being made here from her own design, along with many other dresses in her trousseau. Not that Peg doesn't admire London styles—but they are a little on the mature side for a happy bride.

Never let it be said that Sylvia Ashley Gable is idle at Camp MGM while Clark toils making "Across the Wide Missouri" high in the Colorado Rockies.

Sylvia traveled 30 miles to Durango to preside at a local flower show and made a big hit with the local ladies.

She completed an 8x6 needle point rug she started soon after they were married.

Mrs. G. is also putting the finishing touches to an oil painting of Clark and herself which will hang over the fireplace in their home—if they ever get back there.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Among the jewels reported stolen by Hedy Lamarr are the fabulous diamond earrings given her by Husband No. 1, Fritz Mandl.

Just before Jeannette MacDonald left New York she lunched with Margaret Truman. She and the President's daughter have the same concert manager, Jim Davidson.

Joan Crawford, just out of the hospital herself, puts her three year old twins, Cathy and Cynthia, in for tonsilectomies next week. Now she wonders if anything else will happen before she starts "Goodbye My Fancy."

Connie Moore—she's never looked so beautiful in her life—isn't interested in movie offers until after her Cocoanut Grove appearance starting September 12.

Nan Grey left Bridegroom Frankie Laine in the midwest where he's making personals, to return here to redecorate their house. She catches up with him again in New York in a few weeks.

Raves, just raves, over the clothes Orry Kelly designed for "An American In Paris"—both the modern wardrobes and the frou-frou show girl number.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

ON THE LINE

By BOB CONSIDINE

HONOLULU, (INS)

PROBABLY not since the children's crusade of medieval times has there been a grimmer use of youngsters than in the Korean war.

They have been used as shields by subsequent waves of case-hardened North Korean troops. They have been used as infiltrators, after being trained to recognize and report on the position of U. S. and South Korean forces, their brand of equipment and where it is placed. There is one recorded case of a boy spy whose bicycle's motion generated the power he needed for his tiny portable radio—over which he was transmitting information to North Korean gunners well to the rear.

A wounded, neurotic American boy at Tokyo General Hospital tells the story of a Korean man, wife and their two young children—a boy and girl about 10 years old—who smiled and waved to him and his U. S. buddies as they walked up to the Korean's hut and rice paddy.

When the Americans were quite close, and waving and grinning in the eternally friendly fashion of Americans confronted by children, the Korean man reached down into the gear around his plough, extracted a tommy gun and began firing. So did the wife. So did the children.

The Korean kids shot it out to the death. The boy who is now in the Tokyo hospital, and close to a mental wreck, had to kill the little girl.

Our men have had to kill a lot of youngsters impressed into service by the conscienceless North Korean army. It was a case of kill the kids, or get killed.

But it is a kind of war that turns the stomaches of Americans, and turns some of their minds, too.

Recently, one of the enemy's many thrusts across the Naktong in the direction of Taegu was led by a line of very young boys armed with nothing but cap pistols. Behind them came seasoned Russian-trained North Korean troops who would shoot the children if they broke ranks and tried to retreat.

The lads had been "armed" with 30 caps each—of a kind which one can buy at almost any corner novelty store in the U. S. They came forward against South Korean forces commanded by Col. Lee Sun Kum, shooting their caps and shouting defiance. The South Koreans slaughtered them, but the kids kept shooting until they died with their pathetic pistols in their bloody little hands.

With most of the occupation troops gone from Japan, the black market price on American cigarets has doubled. No more guys giving their rations to Lotus Blossom Fujiyaka whon, in turn, would sell them to the market. Japanese businessmen who have acquired a taste for the American brands now must drop back to such Jap brands as "Peace"—which smoke like perfumed straw.

In advance of the arrival of British ground forces, sent from Hong Kong, the United Kingdom liaison mission considered it proper to release the following announcement:

"In view of the difficulties with regard to the various new posts established here in connection with the Korean hostilities, this mission has thought it might be helpful to inform all newspapers that Air Vice Marshal C. A. Bouchier's official title is as follows:

"'Senior United Kingdom military liaison officer to Gen. MacArthur as commanding general of all forces placed by members of the United Nations under unified command.'"

One of the biggest publishing successes in history is the Japanese edition of Reader's Digest. It is the brainchild of brilliant young Dennis McEvoy, son of J. P., and one-time copy boy on the Los Angeles Examiner.

Young McEvoy took some of his schooling in Tokyo and speaks the language better than most natives. Returning to Tokyo to write a piece for the Digest, after a career as a foreign correspondent and Marine, McEvoy suggested a Japanese edition and was immediately told to start one. Its circulation quickly mushroomed to 1,500,000. Today it is the biggest magazine in the world, excepting U. S.-published periodicals.

By BOB CONSIDINE

HONOLULU, (INS)

PROBABLY not since the children's crusade of medieval times has there been a grimmer use of youngsters than in the Korean war.

They have been used as shields by subsequent waves of case-hardened North Korean troops. They have been used as infiltrators, after being trained to recognize and report on the position of U. S. and South Korean forces, their brand of equipment and where it is placed. There is one recorded case of a boy spy whose bicycle's motion generated the power he needed for his tiny portable radio—over which he was transmitting information to North Korean gunners well to the rear.

A wounded, neurotic American boy at Tokyo General Hospital tells the story of a Korean man, wife and their two young children—a boy and girl about 10 years old—who smiled and waved to him and his U. S. buddies as they walked up to the Korean's hut and rice paddy.

When the Americans were quite close, and waving and grinning in the eternally friendly fashion of Americans confronted by children, the Korean man reached down into the gear around his plough, extracted a tommy gun and began firing. So did the wife. So did the children.

The Korean kids shot it out to the death. The boy who is now in the Tokyo hospital, and close to a mental wreck, had to kill the little girl.

Our men have had to kill a lot of youngsters impressed into service by the conscienceless North Korean army. It was a case of kill the kids, or get killed.

But it is a kind of war that turns the stomaches of Americans, and turns some of their minds, too.

Recently, one of the enemy's many thrusts across the Naktong in the direction of Taegu was led by a line of very young boys armed with nothing but cap pistols. Behind them came seasoned Russian-trained North Korean troops who would shoot the children if they broke ranks and tried to retreat.

The lads had been "armed" with 30 caps each—of a kind which one can buy at almost any corner novelty store in the U. S. They came forward against South Korean forces commanded by Col. Lee Sun Kum, shooting their caps and shouting defiance. The South Koreans slaughtered them, but the kids kept shooting until they died with their pathetic pistols in their bloody little hands.

With most of the occupation troops gone from Japan, the black market price on American cigarets has doubled. No more guys giving their rations to Lotus Blossom Fujiyaka whon, in turn, would sell them to the market. Japanese businessmen who have acquired a taste for the American brands now must drop back to such Jap brands as "Peace"—which smoke like perfumed straw.

In advance of the arrival of British ground forces, sent from Hong Kong, the United Kingdom liaison mission considered it proper to release the following announcement:

"In view of the difficulties with regard to the various new posts established here in connection with the Korean hostilities, this mission has thought it might be helpful to inform all newspapers that Air Vice Marshal C. A. Bouchier's official title is as follows:

"'Senior United Kingdom military liaison officer to Gen. MacArthur as commanding general of all forces placed by members of the United Nations under unified command.'"

One of the biggest publishing successes in history is the Japanese edition of Reader's Digest. It is the brainchild of brilliant young Dennis McEvoy, son of J. P., and one-time copy boy on the Los Angeles Examiner.

Young McEvoy took some of his schooling in Tokyo and speaks the language better than most natives. Returning to Tokyo to write a piece for the Digest, after a career as a foreign correspondent and Marine, McEvoy suggested a Japanese edition and was immediately told to start one. Its circulation quickly mushroomed to 1,500,000. Today it is the biggest magazine in the world, excepting U. S.-published periodicals.

AAA Passengers Set New Record

All American Aidways hauled 17,944 persons during the month of July, and in doing so set a new record for the third straight month in the number of passengers carried over its seven-state system.

The July figure also represents the highest number ever carried by any of the nation's 17 scheduled feeder lines in one month.

Forty-five per cent of July's air travel moved to and from cities beyond the route system operated by All American, according to Robert M. Love, president.

Of these interline passengers, 5,658 transferred from All American to other airlines bound for distant cities.

The remaining 2,313 were received by AAA for delivery to one of the 45 cities on its routes, Love explained.

At the Cumberland station, 269 passengers were handled during July of this year, while in the same month last year only 165 were hauled.

License Plate Plan Would Aid Local Charity

A proposal that the Allegany County tax collector handle the sale and distribution of auto and truck license plates here has been sent to State Senator Robert B. Kimble by W. A. Strother, county tax collector.

Strother said he would turn the net profits over to the Allegany County League for Crippled Children.

In a letter to Kimble released yesterday, Strother said in part:

"When the legislation was passed permitting county commissioners of the different counties to set up distributing points for automobile and truck license plates in their counties, I feel sure the reason for naming county treasurers as distributors was the fact that practically all state and county taxes in Maryland were collected by the treasurer of each county, Allegany County being one of the exceptions.

"As the time is fast moving toward the next session of the Legislature, I am asking you to consider introducing a bill naming the tax collector of this county as the distributor in this county . . .

"To set at rest any thought that I might profit by this legislation, I wish to assure you and the rest of the people of Allegany County that if this legislation is passed, whatever it is my lot to distribute I will donate all net profits from this source to the Allegany County League for Crippled Children . . .

"It is my conviction that the tax office is the only place with the proper setup for the distribution of license plates."

Strother said that Senator Kimble assured him of his support in the matters and believed the plan would not only aid owners of cars and trucks but at the same time would help a worthy charity.

Stassen Proposes

Russia directly, we will hesitate to use it against aggression that Russian communism inspires in small countries.

This condition has led to several suggestions. One by Mr. Stassen is especially concrete. He would have us, and the United Nations, serve formal notice on the Kremlin that we will hold it responsible—"that if the communist leaders do in fact start World War III by aggression through their satellites and puppets, we and our associates in the United Nations intend to finish it, in due time, against the Kremlin itself."

LAW OFFICES OF ALBERT A. DOUB
LIBERTY TRUST BUILDING
Norma Lane Billard vs. Paul Eugene Billard. No. 21,849 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.
ORDER OF PUBLICATION
The object of this suit is to procure a divorce a vinculo matrimonii by the complainant, Norma Lane Billard, from the respondent, Paul Eugene Billard.
The bill recites marriage in Rockville, Maryland, November 14, 1949; that no children were born of the marriage; that complainant has always been faithful and chaste wife to respondent; that respondent has committed adultry; that complainant has not lived or cohabited with respondent since she discovered his adultrous conduct and has not condoned same; that complainant is a resident of District of Columbia and respondent is a resident of Allegany County, Maryland.
Since institution of this suit it appears respondent has left Allegany County and his whereabouts is unknown. That two subpoenas issued for him in this case have been returned by the Sheriff, non-est.
It is thereupon ordered by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, this 29th day of August, 1950, that the complainant, Norma Lane Billard, by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some daily newspaper published in Allegany County, Maryland, once each week for four successive weeks before September 30, 1950, giving notice to the said absent respondent of the object and substance of this suit, warning him to be and appear in this Court, in person or by solicitor, on or before the 17th day of October, 1950, to show cause, if any he may have, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

Market Lacks Strength To Carry It To Decisive Gains

NEW YORK, Aug. 29 (AP) —There wasn't enough strength on the buying side today in the stock market to carry through for decisive gains.

Advances that ran from a dollar to two dollars a share were cut back at the close until they covered a spread of a few cents to a dollar.

The market today started its rise under the influence of steels and motors. Within a short time the rails, chemicals and some others joined in the forward march. But prices faltered about mid-way in the session. Thereafter things turned downward. The close found prices at the lowest point of the day but still a little ahead of the losing side.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced .2 of a point to 78.8. The industrial component lost .2 of a point.

IF YOU CAN LOSE ONE

WHEN you hold nine cards of a suit, between your own hand and the dummy, and your only honors are the ace and queen, both in the same hand, the best way to play the combination depends on whether you require all the tricks in order to make your contract or whether you can afford to lose a trick. If you can lose one, but not two, your play of the suit should be different from the usual finesse of the queen on the first round, which is the best play when all the tricks must be taken. To lose one, but give yourself maximum chance to prevent losing two, it is better to lead toward the honors, but play the ace on the first round, then later lead toward the queen.

South played this hand the way that would have been best if he had been in a grand slam contract. Paradoxically, that is not a good way to play it at a small slam, the reason being that in this case the declarer can afford to lose one trick, but not two.

He therefore should have employed the surest means of preventing the loss of two, instead of the only possible way to avoid losing any.

West made the cut and dried lead of the diamond K, which the A won. South counted up the situations in the side suits and saw he had

AAA Passengers Set New Record

All American Aidways hauled 17,944 persons during the month of July, and in doing so set a new record for the third straight month in the number of passengers carried over its seven-state system.

The July figure also represents the highest number ever carried by any of the nation's 17 scheduled feeder lines in one month.

Forty-five per cent of July's air travel moved to and from cities beyond the route system operated by All American, according to Robert M. Love, president.

Of these interline passengers, 5,658 transferred from All American to other airlines bound for distant cities.

The remaining 2,313 were received by AAA for delivery to one of the 45 cities on its routes, Love explained.

At the Cumberland station, 269 passengers were handled during July of this year, while in the same month last year only 165 were hauled.

License Plate Plan Would Aid Local Charity

A proposal that the Allegany County tax collector handle the sale and distribution of auto and truck license plates here has been sent to State Senator Robert B. Kimble by W. A. Strother, county tax collector.

Strother said he would turn the net profits over to the Allegany County League for Crippled Children.

In a letter to Kimble released yesterday, Strother said in part:

"When the legislation was passed permitting county commissioners of the different counties to set up distributing points for automobile and truck license plates in their counties, I feel sure the reason for naming county treasurers as distributors was the fact that practically all state and county taxes in Maryland were collected by the treasurer of each county, Allegany County being one of the exceptions.

"As the time is fast moving toward the next session of the Legislature, I am asking you to consider introducing a bill naming the tax collector of this county as the distributor in this county . . .

"To set at rest any thought that I might profit by this legislation, I wish to assure you and the rest of the people of Allegany County that if this legislation is passed, whatever it is my lot to distribute I will donate all net profits from this source to the Allegany County League for Crippled Children . . .

"It is my conviction that the tax office is the only place with the proper setup for the distribution of license plates."

Strother said that Senator Kimble assured him of his support in the matters and believed the plan would not only aid owners of cars and trucks but at the same time would help a worthy charity.

Stassen Proposes

Russia directly, we will hesitate to use it against aggression that Russian communism inspires in small countries.

This condition has led to several suggestions. One by Mr. Stassen is especially concrete. He would have us, and the United Nations, serve formal notice on the Kremlin that we will hold it responsible—"that if the communist leaders do in fact start World War III by aggression through their satellites and puppets, we and our associates in the United Nations intend to finish it, in due time, against the Kremlin itself."

LAW OFFICES OF ALBERT A. DOUB
LIBERTY TRUST BUILDING
Norma Lane Billard vs. Paul Eugene Billard. No. 21,849 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.
ORDER OF PUBLICATION
The object of this suit is to procure a divorce a vinculo matrimonii by the complainant, Norma Lane Billard, from the respondent, Paul Eugene Billard.
The bill recites marriage in Rockville, Maryland, November 14, 1949; that no children were born of the marriage; that complainant has always been faithful and chaste wife to respondent; that respondent has committed adultry; that complainant has not lived or cohabited with respondent since she discovered his adultrous conduct and has not condoned same; that complainant is a resident of District of Columbia and respondent is a resident of Allegany County, Maryland.
Since institution of this suit it appears respondent has left Allegany County and his whereabouts is unknown. That two subpoenas issued for him in this case have been returned by the Sheriff, non-est.
It is thereupon ordered by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, this 29th day of August, 1950, that the complainant, Norma Lane Billard, by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some daily newspaper published in Allegany County, Maryland, once each week for four successive weeks before September 30, 1950, giving notice to the said absent respondent of the object and substance of this suit, warning him to be and appear in this Court, in person or by solicitor, on or before the 17th day of October, 1950, to show cause, if any he may have, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

Market Lacks Strength To Carry It To Decisive Gains

NEW YORK, Aug. 29 (AP) —There wasn't enough strength on the buying side today in the stock market to carry through for decisive gains.

Advances that ran from a dollar to two dollars a share were cut back at the close until they covered a spread of a few cents to a dollar.

The market today started its rise under the influence of steels and motors. Within a short time the rails, chemicals and some others joined in the forward march. But prices faltered about mid-way in the session. Thereafter things turned downward. The close found prices at the lowest point of the day but still a little ahead of the losing side.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced .2 of a point to 78.8. The industrial component lost .2 of a point.

"The Authority on Authorities"

IF YOU CAN LOSE ONE

WHEN you hold nine cards of a suit, between your own hand and the dummy, and your only honors are the ace and queen, both in the same hand, the best way to play the combination depends on whether you require all the tricks in order to make your contract or whether you can afford to lose a trick. If you can lose one, but not two, your play of the suit should be different from the usual finesse of the queen on the first round, which is the best play when all the tricks must be taken. To lose one, but give yourself maximum chance to prevent losing two, it is better to lead toward the honors, but play the ace on the first round, then later lead toward the queen.

South played this hand the way that would have been best if he had been in a grand slam contract. Paradoxically, that is not a good way to play it at a small slam, the reason being that in this case the declarer can afford to lose one trick, but not two. He therefore should have employed the surest means of preventing the loss of two, instead of the only possible way to avoid losing any.

West made the cut and dried lead of the diamond K, which the A won. South counted up the situations in the side suits and saw he had no tricks to lose in them, since his own club loser could be discarded on a spade. So all he had to worry about was the trump suit, and that had to be tackled at once.

So to the second trick he led the heart 4 from dummy. After East played the 5, he finessed the Q, which lost to the K. With the J

Trunk Sewer Proposal To Be Discussed

Frostburg Session Planned October 5

Sewage improvement and a proposed trunk sewer from Frostburg to Westernport were discussed at a recent conference held by the Mayor and Council of Frostburg.

Attending the session were Dr. William E. Moseley, Mt. Savage, chairman of the Allegany County Sanitary Commission; County Commissioner William H. Lemmert; J. Henry Schilpp, Baltimore, sanitary engineer of the State Water Pollution Control Commission.

Frank Summers, Washington, of the federal Community Facilities Service, and Gustav J. Requardt of the Baltimore engineering firm of Whitman, Requardt and Associates, also were present.

Dr. Moseley suggested holding another meeting in Frostburg on October 5 at 7:30 p. m. for a full discussion of the proposed trunk sewer.

Representatives from Frostburg and Westernport will meet with officials of the State Department of Health, the Water Pollution Control Commissioner. Summers and Requardt at that time.

Meanwhile, Dr. Moseley volunteered to contact all of the communities in the Sanitary District between Frostburg and Westernport to inform residents of the trunk sewer plan.

Requardt said he would have his firm make a preliminary survey along the Georges Creek Valley and present estimates without charge at the October 5 meeting.

Commissioner Lemmert said he will attempt to secure figures on the assessable basis of the area involved.

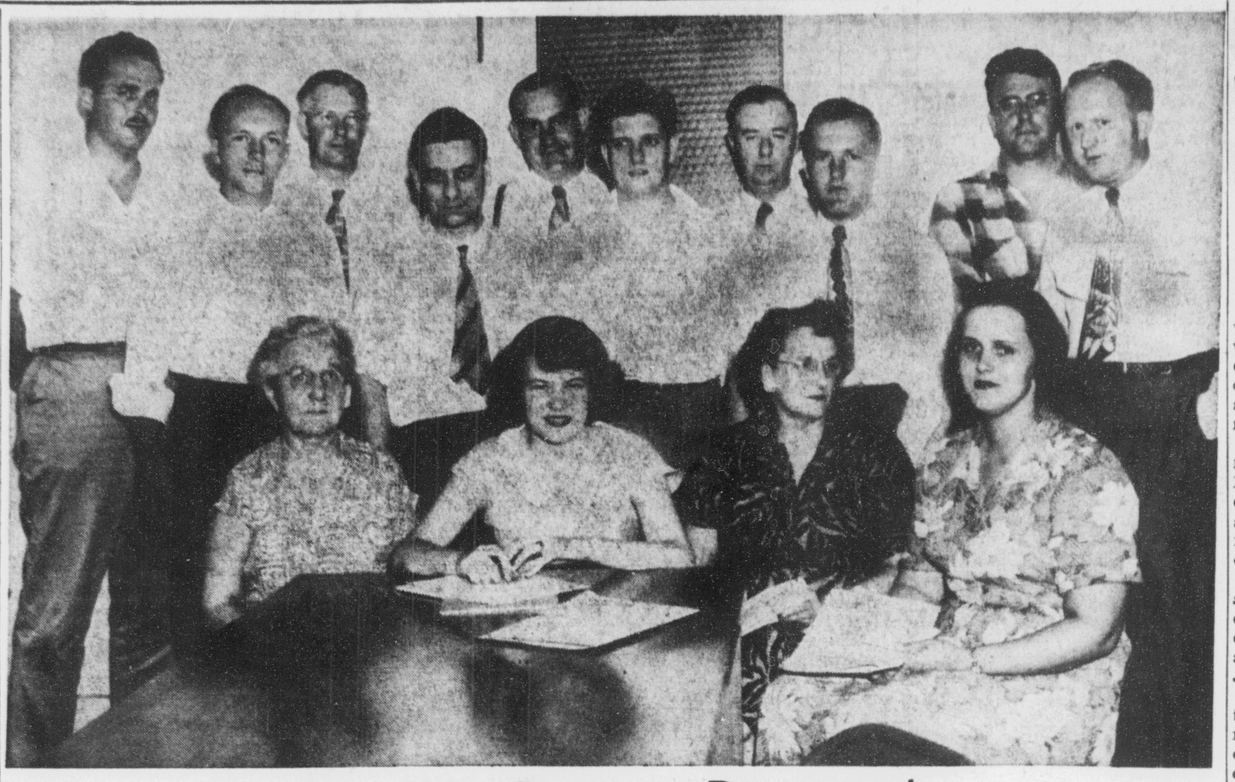
The Frostburg officials expressed a desire to complete the town's sewage system by providing the necessary gravity sewers, pumping stations and force mains needed to convey the sewage to one common outfall.

Sewage treatment will be necessary whether the town eventually provides its own treatment plant or if the proposed trunk sewer is built, Schilpp said.

If the trunk sewer is decided upon, only one treatment plant adequate to handle sewage from all the contributary communities would be necessary, he explained.

Officials attending the session agreed that smaller communities downstream from Frostburg would not be able to finance a sewage system if Frostburg provided treatment facilities.

Although Frostburg and Westernport are not included in the jurisdiction of the Allegany County Sanitary Commission, they are free to participate in mutually beneficial projects.



Land Use Program Discussed

Pa. School Bus Law Is Cited

Maryland motorists traveling in Pennsylvania are warned by Keystone Automobile Club that Pennsylvania's new school bus law becomes effective with the opening of schools in September.

Motorists are obliged to stop within 10 feet of buses discharging or taking on passengers, whether approaching from the front or rear, on highways outside business and residence districts and other designated places, as follows:

1. Upon a highway with separate roadways, when the school bus is on a separate roadway.

2. Upon a limited or controlled access highway, when the school bus is stopped in a loading zone adjacent to or part of such highway and where pedestrians are not permitted to cross such highway.

3. Upon a highway when a school bus is stopped off the highway in a loading zone, the driver need not stop his vehicle upon meeting or passing a school bus.

Buses must be equipped with signals flashing red to the rear and amber to the front.

VA Head To Speak

R. T. Brown, chief of the vocational rehabilitation and educational division of the Veterans Administration in Baltimore, will be guest speaker at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis Club tomorrow at Central YMCA.

County Youth Committee To Begin Work

Homer Higgins Named Chairman

The Allegany County Commission of the Maryland Commission for Youth will meet September 8 in the Juvenile Court Room, Union Street County Building, to consider a seven-point program for evaluating the county's service to youth.

The county group is a unit of the state-wide commission appointed last spring by Governor William Preston Lane, Jr.

The 14-member county group, appointed recently by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, held an organization meeting last Wednesday and elected Homer Higgins, this city, chairman.

Other officers are Miss Mary Jo Schellhaus, this city, secretary, and Miss Ethel Wilderman, this city, treasurer.

At the first meeting of the state commission March 6, 1950, it was decided that state facilities for children should be evaluated on a seven-point yard stick.

To study Local Facilities

Each county unit was asked to form study committees to examine the facilities which exist within their own communities and report to the state commission by October 1.

Phases of youth activities to be investigated include the health, education, recreation, employment, children and youth in trouble, children in their own homes and foster families and children away from their own homes in institutional care.

The commission refers to children up to 16 as children or juveniles to distinguish them from 16 to 23-year-olds, who are called youths.

National Meeting Set

As a general long-range goal, the state commission wishes to provide all children and youths with care, protection, and opportunity for a fair chance in life and the use of community services and assistance without discrimination of any kind.

The state group also was formed to give Maryland a chance to participate in the Midcentury White House Conference on Children and Youth to be held in December.

Among the members of the state commission is Thomas E. Stakem, magistrate of the county Juvenile Court.

Other members of the county commission are Guy Marlow, Frostburg; John Hanna, Westernport; Mrs. Gertrude Smith, Midland; Harry Poling, Mt. Savage; Miss Henrietta Schwarzenbach, Miss Jeannette Bonig, Harold Naughton, Morgan C. Harris, Edmund F. Hoey, Mrs. T. M. Andrews and Police Officer Henry Stitcher, this city.

Police Investigating Grantsville Robbery

Maryland State Police are investigating the robbery at the Casselman Motor Company, Grantsville, where three tires were stolen sometime after midnight Monday.

Charles Bender, owner of the Casselman Motor Company, discovered the theft early Tuesday morning. The glass was broken in a window, but it is believed that the tires were taken out the back door. Although nothing was taken besides he tires, the stocked merchandise was ransacked a little.

Trooper 1st Class William F. Baker and Trooper Blair Buckel are investigating the case.

New Furniture Being Installed At Court House

Clerk's Office Goes Modern

New furnishings for the office of the clerk of court arrived yesterday and a crew of workmen were busy last night installing them.

The furniture includes new steel desks, chairs, filing cabinets and a counter arrangement to provide more convenient operation for personnel in the office as well as better accommodations for the public.

Clerk of Court Joseph E. Boden recalled yesterday he had been employed in the office a great many years and feels that this is one of the finest improvements ever made there.

Under the new arrangement, each clerk who handles licenses and other documents where fees are involved will have his or her own cash drawer, providing for more accurate checking, and all of the equipment is designed so that drawers, filing cabinets, etc. are dust proof.

The counter, at which customers will be served, runs the entire length of the office, and provision is to be made with proper markings to indicate which service can be expected at each section.

For years, there have been no markings anywhere in evidence that would indicate where marriage licenses, trader's licenses, hunting and fishing licenses or other permits could be obtained. People entering the Court House always were required to inquire from clerks or others for what they wanted, causing scores of interruptions in a day's time.

Boden said he has requested the County Commissioners to repaint the office in keeping with the new furnishings and has been told the project will be undertaken.

Boden said the furniture is paid for from excess funds from fees collected in the office and has not been a direct burden on the county's taxpayers.

Permits Granted For Three New Homes

Permits for new homes estimated to cost a total of $11,000 have been granted at the city engineer's office.

Harold J. Robinson, 310 Cecelia Street, obtained a permit to build a $4,000 residence at 703 Hill Top Drive. The one and one-half story dwelling will be of brick construction. N. H. Light is the contractor.

A permit was granted to Carl A. Redinger, 1725 Frederick Street, to build up a one-story frame residence, estimated to cost $4,000, on Lot 17, Block 31, Brentwood Street.

Harry R. Kenney, 3 Orchard Street, secured a permit to construct a one and one-half story frame and inselbrick residence at 172 Holland Street. Estimated cost is $3,000.

Jewell Convalescing

Magistrate C. A. Jewell, who has been ill with bronchitis for several days, is convalescing at his home, 5 Bridge Street, Ridgeley.

Premiums Total $78,236 At 69th Annual State Fair Opening Today

TIMONIUM, Md., Aug. 29 (AP)—The 68th Maryland State Fair opens here tomorrow and, as in almost every other year, the management promises this one will be "bigger and better than ever."

Director Matt L. Daiger estimated there will be at least 6,000 head of livestock exhibited.

Premiums to winning exhibitors will total $78,236, an all-time high.

The fair grounds will open to the public daily from 6 a. m. until 10:30 p. m.

One of the exhibits introduced for the first time will be one showing how the growing of Maryland tobacco has progressed.

Another will be an invitation exhibit of the work of Maryland artists.

No one knows just how many exhibits will go on display in the farm wives' section. A corps of women was tabulating them tonight.

One farm wife alone has entered 300 jars in the canned fruits, vegetables, marmalades, jams, jellies and preserves exhibits.

There will be eight races daily at the Timonium Track during the 11-day fair, with first race post time 2 p. m. daily.

Topping tomorrow's inaugural racing card is the $1,200 Forest Lore Purse, an allowance event at six and a half furlongs.

The livestock exhibits will center around the horse breeder's show tomorrow and Thursday, and on the equitation show Friday.

Art needlework and canned foods will be judged Saturday. A special 4-H Club program will be held Sunday. Cattle and draft horse judging starts Labor Day.

September 5 will be Grange Day; September 6, Farm Bureau and Garden Club Day; September 7, Governor's Day; September 9, Baltimore City Day, and September 9—final day of the 1950 fair—will be Baltimore County Day.

Station WMAR-TV is moving its television studio from the Sunpapers' building in Baltimore to a tent at the grounds for the fair.

Besides the regular studio programs to be televised from the tent, WMAR-TV will televise the first two races each day and other outstanding events at the fair.

Allen Morton Receives Celanese Award

Allen Morton, Lonaconing, was presented a certificate and a twenty-five year emblem yesterday by John Brenneman, who is assistant superintendent of spinning, Celanese Corporation of America. H. C. Givens, Jr., plant manager, presented him with a wrist watch.

Mr. Morton began his career at the Celanese plant August 26, 1925, as a spinner. He is now a charge hand in spinning, and he is also a member of the Lonaconing Republican Club.

Baron To Address Zionist Meeting

Morris Baron, a local attorney who is just back from an air trip to Palestine and the Holy Land, will be the principal speaker at the Cumberland Zionist District meeting Thursday at 8:30 p. m. at Beth Jacob Vestry Room, North Centre Street.

Baron has spent the summer in Israel and he will give a late news and eye witness account of present-day Israel, showing a film produced there entitled, "House in the Desert."

George Ossip, president of the Cumberland Zionist District, called the special meeting.

Hyndman Plans Loyalty Rally

A "Loyalty Rally" will be held in the Hyndman, Pa., Community Center tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock, sponsored by Oscar Jordan Post No. 7375, Veterans of Foreign Wars, of that community, local veteran organizations have been advised.

According to Post Commander Ray Whitehair of Henry Hart Post No. 1411, VFW, who lashed out against the area's communists and their fellow travelers a couple of weeks ago, a delegation from the local VFW will attend.

Whitehair said he had been informed by members of the Hyndman post that there are a number of communists in the Hyndman area, and the VFW there plans to ask every citizen in the community to sign a loyalty pledge.

Speakers at the rally tomorrow night will include Judge J. Colvin Wright, Assemblyman Robert Clapper and other leading citizens of the community and county.

Albert Lynch, commander of the Hyndman VFW, said all members of his post and all members of other patriotic organizations in the town and vicinity are urged to attend the rally.

Republicans Afraid Of Record, Says Tydings

BALTIMORE, Aug. 29 (AP) — Senator Tydings (D-Md) said today that the Republican candidates for his job "are afraid to face up to their party's record in Congress on national defense, both before World War II and since that time."

Tydings, who is candidate for his party's renomination for a fifth term, said in a campaign statement that "if the United States and the free world had followed the Republican position we would be impotent today."

Medical Checkups Cited For School Youngsters

Thousands of children throughout the country will soon be going off to school for the first time. Great preparations have been made for this big event. Most of these youngsters have new clothes and some unfamiliar new tools, like pencil cases and note books.

Unfortunately, for some of these would-be pupils the most important part of the child's preparation for school life will be skipped. This is the complete medical checkup which every child who is entering school should have, the Maryland Tuberculosis Association said yesterday.

To get the most out of his school attendance, the child should be in sound mental and physical condition. Many parents who mean well, but who neglect the child's preschool medical checkup, may be sending that child off to school—into a strange, new life—with one or more serious handicaps.

Many of the imperfections of early childhood could be corrected if discovered early in the life of the child and treated promptly. Where he parents' budget would be strained by the extra expense of a medical checkup, advantage should be taken of hospital or clinic facilities in the community, the association suggested.

Among the handicaps some children face are poor eyesight, impaired hearing, faulty posture, speech defects, injured hearts, nervous and behavior disorders, diseased tonsils, foot deformities, and malnutrition.

Any one of these "childhood deficiencies," if undetected and allowed to go unchecked, will not only impede educational progress, but frequently mean serious illness later in life, the association warned.

Labor Day Picnic To Include Free Rides, Eats, Fireworks

Cumberland's second annual Labor Day picnic and parade sponsored by a joint council of local unions promises to be bigger and better than last year, according to Paul Burley, secretary of the group last night.

Burley said the parade, which begins in South Cumberland at 10:30 a. m., will be at least twice as large as last year's colorful revue, and the picnic at Crystal Park will have a number of added attractions.

In addition all members of the Joint Labor Day Committee and other representatives of organized labor will attend a church service Sunday night, September 3, at Living Stone Church of the Brethren where Rev. Arthur Scrogum, pastor, will deliver a special Labor Day sermon. The service is scheduled for 7:30 p. m.

At Crystal Park following Monday's parade, all children attending will be given two tickets each for each of the several rides in the park. These include a merry-go-round, ferris wheel, loop-a-plane, pony rides, miniature train and others.

The committee also has arranged for free refreshments for the youngsters including milk, ice cream and soft drinks, plus a special program of games and contests supervised by the City Recreation Department. Prizes will be awarded to the winners.

Burley said everything possible is being done to make the affair a real old-time Labor Day outing with attractions for the oldsters as well as the youngsters.

As an extra feature a program of fireworks will be displayed at night, Burley said. The committee has made a special arrangement with Bert Caldara of Mt. Savage, who staked the Optimist Club display at Fairgo and the city's display at Constitution Park, to arrange the exhibit.

The Joint Labor Day Committee will hold a meeting in Teamsters Hall tonight at 7:30 o'clock to complete arrangements and final details for the entire program.

Kelly Workers Will Return To Five-Day Week

Government Curbs Rubber Consumption

Kelly-Springfield Tire Company workers will return to a five-day week and overtime work will be eliminated due to a government order limiting rubber consumption, according to F. T. Bell, personnel manager.

Bell said employes received a notice yesterday from Edmund S. Burke, Kelly president, that a government R-1 order has limited the amount of rubber to be consumed from September 1 to December 31 of this year.

The effect of the order, Burke said, is to reduce the consumption of both crude and synthetic rubber during this period to 4/12 of the amount consumed during the period July 1, 1949, to June 30, 1950.

Burke stated that to carry out the government order, it will be necessary to reduce the daily rate of production and to furlough workers to some extent.

Bell said yesterday the company has not yet had time to decide how many furloughs will be necessary.

However, the six-day week followed since last spring will be discontinued this week when the plant shuts down for the Labor Day holiday.

The Kelly will be closed after the second shift Friday and will reopen at 7 o'clock Tuesday morning, he said.

The Kelly president said that the purpose of the federal order is to permit the government to stockpile crude and synthetic rubber during the next four months.

Burke's message further stated that the plant is planning to use the maximum amount of rubber permissible under the R-1 Order in September, and it is possible there will be slight changes from this level in succeeding months.

"Recently the government has ordered the reactivation of additional synthetic rubber plants; and it is hoped that as production becomes available from these plants, additional rubber will be released for consumption. However, it is not expected that any relief will come from this source prior to the first of the year," Burke concluded.

Group Escapes In Elevator Fall

Sereval prominent citizens escaped serious injury yesterday evening, when an elevator in the Liberty Trust office building dropped rapidly for about three floors.

The mishap occurred at about 6 p. m. as the group was leaving a meeting of an industrial promotion committee in the Chamber of Commerce offices.

Aboard the car when the incident occurred were Mayor Jesse Jacobs and Councilmen William Eberly and Perry Meyers, all of Frostburg; Francis A. Kenney, chairman of the City-County Industrial Promotion Committee; David Kauffman, chairman of the Steering Committee for Economic Development; Earl Chaney, member of the Industrial Promotion Company; and Harold W. Smith, manager of the Chamber of Commerce.

The group was badly shaken and some of them were examined by physicians. No cause of the mishap was immediately determined. Inspectors said safety devices on the car prevented a more serious crash.

$15,000 Suit Lodged Against Cab Company

Suit was docketed for $15,000 yesterday in Circuit Court against Johnny's Cabs Inc., and Albert A. Doub, receiver for the firm, by Thomas Miller, a minor, through his father, Merlyn F. Miller.

According to Harold E. Naughton, attorney for the Millers, one of Johnny's cabs struck the Miller boy last December 4 on Independence Street, as the lad was crossing the thoroughfare.

Negligence is alleged in the suit and the document claims the Miller youth suffered serious injuries about his head and body.

Stewart To Speak

A. Charles Stewart, Frostburg, register of wills of Allegany County, will be guest speaker at the regular dinner meeting of the Cumberland Optimist Club at Central YMCA tonight at 6:15 o'clock.

Harold E. Naughton, club president, said Stewart will discuss the work of the register of wills and his duties with the Orphans Court.

Birth Announcements

Allegany Hospital announces the following births:

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Robertson, 142 Bedford Street, a daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gracie, Mt. Savage, a daughter.

Memorial Hospital announces the following births:

Mr. and Mrs. William Slough, 620 Montgomery Avenue, a daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lindsay, Ridgeley, a son.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred L. Sidaway, Jr., 4 Oak Street, a daughter

Mr. and Mrs. Roy D. Wakefield, 353 Williams Street, a girl, Sunday, August 27.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Finan, 532 Washington Street, a son.

Mr. and Mrs. Estel F. Walters, Hagerstown, announced the birth of a daughter on Tuesday at Washington County Hospital. The mother is the former Julia Stitcher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stitcher, 517 Dilley Street.

The Weather

Except for a few playful feints by a rain cloud or two, yesterday's weather was respectably August-like. The mercury climbed to 87 degrees downtown and 86 in Constitution Park and didn't go below 65. The temperature was at its usual 71-degree mark late last night. Today's weather should be fairly typical, too. The temperature will be warm, clouds will be in evidence and there may or may not be thunderstorms.

Two City Fire Stations Are Being Painted

Annual Testing Of Fire Hose Underway

Painting of the exterior of West Side Fire Station got underway Monday and will be finished by Saturday morning, weather permitting, Acting Fire Chief William L. Lindner said yesterday.

South End Fire Station was painted last week.

Interiors of all four city fire stations were painted two years ago, and Central and East Side Stations were painted inside and out at that time.

After work is completed at West Side, all 82 fire alarm boxes in Cumberland are due to be painted, Chief Lindner said.

Meanwhile, annual testing of the city's 9,000 feet of fire hose got underway last week at Central and is expected to be completed next week.

Testing of hose at all stations will take about two weeks.

Chief Lindner said the standard Fire Underwriters test of 200-pound pressure for two and one-half inch hose and 165 pounds of pressure for one and one-half inch hose is being used to find possible leaks.

Edward F. Lible, Fire Department electrician, has moved Box 21 at the corner of Valley and Centre Streets to a new pole set up by the Potomac Edison Company about 20 feet away from the old location.

The move was necessary because of flood control work in the area, Chief Lindner said. Lible was assisted by Richard Linthicum, who is being trained in Fire Department electrical work.

Death Benefit Payments Drop

Maryland families received $13,573,000 in life insurance death benefit payments in the first half of this year, compared with $14,720,000 in the corresponding period of last year and $9,671,000 in the first half of 1941, the Institute of Life Insurance reported.

The number of policies becoming claims in the first six months was 17,162 which compares with 17,211 in the corresponding period of the previous year and 14,490 in the first half of 1941.

"These payments reflect the greatly increased use of life insurance by the American people in their family financial security plans, during the past decade," Holgar J. Johnson, president of the Institute, said in announcing the figures.

"Death benefits paid in the first half of this year countrywide are nearly 60 per cent greater than in the corresponding period of 1941 even though mortality among policyholders generally is at or near a record low rate," he added.

Ridgeley To Issue Bicycle Tags Thursday

Permits for bicycles will be issued in Ridgeley, W. Va., Thursday between 1 and 5 p. m. at the police station, according to Robert Edenhart, town recorder, last night.

Under a Ridgeley ordinance all bicycles must be inspected and must display a license tag.

According to Arch E. McCord, chief of police, cyclists must be prepared to furnish the name of the bike, the wheel size, the serial number of the frame, the type of the frame and the color of the vehicle.

The wheel also will be inspected as to brakes, warning device and lights if used at night. There is a fee of 25 cents for each bicycle license, Edenhart said.

3 New Polling Places Set For Fall Elections

Registration Will Be Tuesday

Three new sites have been added to the list of polling and registration places for the fall elections in Allegany County, according to Patrick F. King, clerk to the Board of Supervisors of Elections.

Residents of District No. 5, Precinct 6, will vote and register at the residence of Boyd H. Sulser, Bowman's Addition.

Registration for District No. 34 will be held at the Bedford Road Fire Hall.

District No. 35 residents will register and vote at the East Side Rod and Gun Club, Baltimore Avenue.

The additional three bring the county voting place total to 78, King said.

To Deliver Supplies

Preparations already have begun for the pre-primary registration next Tuesday.

According to King, books and supplies will be delivered to poll workers Friday.

Tuesday will be the only registration day before the state and county primary to be held September 18.

The names of several thousands of Allegany County voters have been struck from the books because of their failure to cast ballots in the past years, according to state law.

Edward J. Ryan, attorney to the supervisors, said recently that these persons all have been notified by mail of the action of the supervisors and informed they may have their names restored by re-registering Tuesday.

In addition to persons struck form the records, young men and women who have reached their 21st birthday on or before November 8 are eligible to register.

Others Eligible

Any others who are eligible and have not registered previously may do so Tuesday. To be eligible, a citizen must have been a resident of Maryland for one year and a resident of the congressional district for six months.

Voters will cast ballots for various candidates for county and state offices as well as for a representative from the Sixth Congressional District and U. S. Senator.

After the primary election, two more registration days are scheduled, the first on October 3 and the next on October 10.

These are followed by revision day October 17 when election officials remove the names of persons deceased or are no longer residents and place names of those wishing to transfer from one polling place to another.

The general election will be held November 7.

School Lunch Program Boosts Farm Market

The school lunch program in Maryland provided an expanded outlet for farm products last year, and the share of local farmers and distributors in this growing market amounted to over $3,000,000.

This evidence of the importance of the school lunch program to Maryland farmers was announced yesterday by Joseph H. Blandford, chairman of the Maryland PMA State Committee, on the basis of preliminary reports from PMA's food distribution programs branch.

During the school year which ended in June, over 100,000 youngsters in Maryland's public and private schools ate noon meals under the National School Lunch Program. This was an eight per cent increase in the number of children reached by the program as compared with the 1948-49 school year.

In addition, Maryland school children received considerable quantities of surplus food donated by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Over 90 million pounds of such foods — acquired under the farm price support program of the Department — were distributed to Northeastern schools last year.

News In Brief

A color movie furnished by the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company will be shown at the regular meeting of the Lions Club at Central Y. M. C. A. today at 12:15 p. m.

Civil Defense Head Lists Do's And Don'ts On Attack

A further explanation and additions to the first of a series of instructions issued in order to provide citizenry with accurate information on atomic explosions has been submitted by William G. Barger, county Civil Defense director.

Barger recalled that instructions in the first article released to him by the state director of defense dealt with action before and at the time of an atomic attack. The following instructions, he noted, apply after the attack has taken place and might be termed, "Do's and Don'ts after an Atomic Explosion," he noted:

1. Keep at least one flash light in the house in workable condition. It is preferable to keep it in the cellar but if that is impractical, at least on the first floor. Gas mains may be broken and other fumes will be present in the atmosphere. There is no point in blowing yourself up in this fashion after taking precautions which have saved you from the bomb.

2. Keep your home as free as possible from unnecessary junk — especially in the attic. Old papers and old rags will simply add fuel to a fire that may occur.

3. Don't pick up the telephone and call for help. Help will be forthcoming as soon as possible and the phone will be needed by those endeavoring to assist you.

4. Don't start rumors. Rumors may prove costly both in time and lives.

5. Don't rush out to see what is going on. Stay where you are and do what you can to put things in order in your own home.

Trunk Sewer Proposal To Be Discussed

Frostburg Session Planned October 5

Sewage improvement and a proposed trunk sewer from Frostburg to Westernport were discussed at a recent conference held by the Mayor and Council of Frostburg.

Attending the session were Dr. William E. Moseley, Mt. Savage, chairman of the Allegany County Sanitary Commission; County Commissioner William H. Lemmert; J. Henry Schilpp, Baltimore, sanitary engineer of the State Water Pollution Control Commission.

Frank Summers, Washington, of the federal Community Facilities Service, and Gustav J. Requardt of the Baltimore engineering firm of Whitman, Requardt and Associates, also were present.

Dr. Moseley suggested holding another meeting in Frostburg on October 5 at 7:30 p. m. for a full discussion of the proposed trunk sewer.

Representatives from Frostburg and Westernport will meet with officials of the State Department of Health, the Water Pollution Control Commissioner. Summers and Requardt at that time.

Meanwhile, Dr. Moseley volunteered to contact all of the communities in the Sanitary District between Frostburg and Westernport to inform residents of the trunk sewer plan.

Requardt said he would have his firm make a preliminary survey along the Georges Creek Valley and present estimates without charge at the October 5 meeting.

Commissioner Lemmert said he will attempt to secure figures on the assessable basis of the area involved.

The Frostburg officials expressed a desire to complete the town's sewage system by providing the necessary gravity sewers, pumping stations and force mains needed to convey the sewage to one common outfall.

Sewage treatment will be necessary whether the town eventually provides its own treatment plant or if the proposed trunk sewer is built, Schilpp said.

If the trunk sewer is decided upon, only one treatment plant adequate to handle sewage from all the contributary communities would be necessary, he explained.

Officials attending the session agreed that smaller communities downstream from Frostburg would not be able to finance a sewage system if Frostburg provided treatment facilities.

Although Frostburg and Westernport are not included in the jurisdiction of the Allegany County Sanitary Commission, they are free to participate in mutually beneficial projects.

Land Use Program Discussed

Shown above are representatives of various groups which will take part in the Land Use and Fire Prevention observance in October, as they met last night at the Chamber of Commerce office to discuss plans for the event. Seated (left to right) are Miss Maude A. Bean, county home demonstration agent; Patty Fisher, representing Girls 4-H Clubs; Miss Mildred Willison, Board of Education, and Jean McCoy, also a Girls 4-H delegate. Standing (same order) are David Crocker, soil conservation official; Frank Morgan, Junior Extension; Rev. C. H. Bailey and Rev. Arthur Scorgum, Cumberland Ministerial Association; Harry Hartman, assistant district forester; William Powell, committee chairman of Junior Extension and Senior 4-H Clubs; R. F. McHenry, county farm agent; Kenneth Malone, veterans' farm training representative; Dale Arner, wildlife technician of the Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission; and Joseph M. Steger, assistant county farm agent.

Kelly Workers Will Return To Five-Day Week

Government Curbs Rubber Consumption

Kelly-Springfield Tire Company workers will return to a five-day week and overtime work will be eliminated due to a government order limiting rubber consumption, according to F. T. Bell, personnel manager.

Bell said employes received a notice yesterday from Edmund S. Burke, Kelly president, that a government R-1 order has limited the amount of rubber to be consumed from September 1 to December 31 of this year.

The effect of the order, Burke said, is to reduce the consumption of both crude and synthetic rubber during this period to 4/12 of the amount consumed during the period July 1, 1949, to June 30, 1950.

Burke stated that to carry out the government order, it will be necessary to reduce the daily rate of production and to furlough workers to some extent.

Bell said yesterday the company has not yet had time to decide how many furloughs will be necessary.

However, the six-day week followed since last spring will be discontinued this week when the plant shuts down for the Labor Day holiday.

The Kelly will be closed after the second shift Friday and will reopen at 7 o'clock Tuesday morning, he said.

The Kelly president said that the purpose of the federal order is to permit the government to stockpile crude and synthetic rubber during the next four months.

Burke's message further stated that the plant is planning to use the maximum amount of rubber permissible under the R-1 Order in September, and it is possible there will be slight changes from this level in succeeding months.

"Recently the government has ordered the reactivation of additional synthetic rubber plants; and it is hoped that as production becomes available from these plants, additional rubber will be released for consumption. However, it is not expected that any relief will come from this source prior to the first of the year," Burke concluded.

The Weather

Except for a few playful feints by a rain cloud or two, yesterday's weather was respectably August-like. The mercury climbed to 87 degrees downtown and 86 in Constitution Park and didn't go below 65. The temperature was at its usual 71-degree mark late last night. Today's weather should be fairly typical, too. The temperature will be warm, clouds will be in evidence and there may or may not be thunderstorms.

Two City Fire Stations Are Being Painted

Annual Testing Of Fire Hose Underway

Painting of the exterior of West Side Fire Station got underway Monday and will be finished by Saturday morning, weather permitting, Acting Fire Chief William L. Lindner said yesterday.

South End Fire Station was painted last week.

Interiors of all four city fire stations were painted two years ago, and Central and East Side Stations were painted inside and out at that time.

After work is completed at West Side, all 82 fire alarm boxes in Cumberland are due to be painted, Chief Lindner said.

Meanwhile, annual testing of the city's 9,000 feet of fire hose got underway last week at Central and is expected to be completed next week.

Testing of hose at all stations will take about two weeks.

Chief Lindner said the standard Fire Underwriters test of 200-pound pressure for two and one-half inch hose and 165 pounds of pressure for one and one-half inch hose is being used to find possible leaks.

Edward F. Lible, Fire Department electrician, has moved Box 21 at the corner of Valley and Centre Streets to a new pole set up by the Potomac Edison Company about 20 feet away from the old location.

The move was necessary because of flood control work in the area, Chief Lindner said. Lible was assisted by Richard Linthicum, who is being trained in Fire Department electrical work.

3 New Polling Places Set For Fall Elections

Registration Will Be Tuesday

Three new sites have been added to the list of polling and registration places for the fall elections in Allegany County, according to Patrick F. King, clerk to the Board of Supervisors of Elections.

Residents of District No. 5, Precinct 6, will vote and register at the residence of Boyd H. Sulser, Bowman's Addition.

Registration for District No. 34 will be held at the Bedford Road Fire Hall.

District No. 35 residents will register and vote at the East Side Rod and Gun Club, Baltimore Avenue.

The additional three bring the county voting place total to 78, King said.

To Deliver Supplies

Preparations already have begun for the pre-primary registration next Tuesday.

According to King, books and supplies will be delivered to poll workers Friday.

Tuesday will be the only registration day before the state and county primary to be held September 18.

The names of several thousands of Allegany County voters have been struck from the books because of their failure to cast ballots in the past years, according to state law.

Edward J. Ryan, attorney to the supervisors, said recently that these persons all have been notified by mail of the action of the supervisors and informed they may have their names restored by re-registering Tuesday.

In addition to persons struck form the records, young men and women who have reached their 21st birthday on or before November 8 are eligible to register.

Others Eligible

Any others who are eligible and have not registered previously may do so Tuesday. To be eligible, a citizen must have been a resident of Maryland for one year and a resident of the congressional district for six months.

Voters will cast ballots for various candidates for county and state offices as well as for a representative from the Sixth Congressional District and U. S. Senator.

After the primary election, two more registration days are scheduled, the first on October 3 and the next on October 10.

These are followed by revision day October 17 when election officials remove the names of persons deceased or are no longer residents and place names of those wishing to transfer from one polling place to another.

The general election will be held November 7.

County Youth Committee To Begin Work

Homer Higgins Named Chairman

The Allegany County Commission of the Maryland Commission for Youth will meet September 8 in the Juvenile Court Room, Union Street County Building, to consider a seven-point program for evaluating the county's service to youth.

The county group is a unit of the state-wide commission appointed last spring by Governor William Preston Lane, Jr.

The 14-member county group, appointed recently by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, held an organization meeting last Wednesday and elected Homer Higgins, this city, chairman.

Other officers are Miss Mary Jo Schellhaus, this city, secretary, and Miss Ethel Wilderman, this city, treasurer.

At the first meeting of the state commission March 6, 1950, it was decided that state facilities for children should be evaluated on a seven-point yard stick.

To study Local Facilities

Each county unit was asked to form study committees to examine the facilities which exist within their own communities and report to the state commission by October 1.

Phases of youth activities to be investigated include the health, education, recreation, employment, children and youth in trouble, children in their own homes and foster families and children away from their own homes in institutional care.

The commission refers to children up to 16 as children or juveniles to distinguish them from 16 to 23-year-olds, who are called youths.

National Meeting Set

As a general long-range goal, the state commission wishes to provide all children and youths with care, protection, and opportunity for a fair chance in life and the use of community services and assistance without discrimination of any kind.

The state group also was formed to give Maryland a chance to participate in the Midcentury White House Conference on Children and Youth to be held in December.

Among the members of the state commission is Thomas E. Stakem, magistrate of the county Juvenile Court.

Other members of the county commission are Guy Marlow, Frostburg; John Hanna, Westernport; Mrs. Gertrude Smith, Midland; Harry Poling, Mt. Savage; Miss Henrietta Schwarzenbach, Miss Jeannette Bonig, Harold Naughton, Morgan C. Harris, Edmund F. Hoey, Mrs. T. M. Andrews and Police Officer Henry Stitcher, this city.

Police Investigating Grantsville Robbery

Maryland State Police are investigating the robbery at the Casselman Motor Company, Grantsville, where three tires were stolen sometime after midnight Monday.

Charles Bender, owner of the Casselman Motor Company, discovered the theft early Tuesday morning. The glass was broken in a window, but it is believed that the tires were taken out the back door. Although nothing was taken besides he tires, the stocked merchandise was ransacked a little.

Trooper 1st Class William F. Baker and Trooper Blair Buckel are investigating the case.

New Furniture Being Installed At Court House

Clerk's Office Goes Modern

New furnishings for the office of the clerk of court arrived yesterday and a crew of workmen were busy last night installing them.

The furniture includes new steel desks, chairs, filing cabinets and a counter arrangement to provide more convenient operation for personnel in the office as well as better accommodations for the public.

Clerk of Court Joseph E. Boden recalled yesterday he had been employed in the office a great many years and feels that this is one of the finest improvements ever made there.

Under the new arrangement, each clerk who handles licenses and other documents where fees are involved will have his or her own cash drawer, providing for more accurate checking, and all of the equipment is designed so that drawers, filing cabinets, etc. are dust proof.

The counter, at which customers will be served, runs the entire length of the office, and provision is to be made with proper markings to indicate which service can be expected at each section.

For years, there have been no markings anywhere in evidence that would indicate where marriage licenses, trader's licenses, hunting and fishing licenses or other permits could be obtained. People entering the Court House always were required to inquire from clerks or others for what they wanted, causing scores of interruptions in a day's time.

Boden said he has requested the County Commissioners to repaint the office in keeping with the new furnishings and has been told the project will be undertaken.

Boden said the furniture is paid for from excess funds from fees collected in the office and has not been a direct burden on the county's taxpayers.

Premiums Total $78,236 At 69th Annual State Fair Opening Today

TIMONIUM, Md., Aug. 29 (AP)—The 68th Maryland State Fair opens here tomorrow and, as in almost every other year, the management promises this one will be "bigger and better than ever."

Director Matt L. Daiger estimated there will be at least 6,000 head of livestock exhibited.

Premiums to winning exhibitors will total $78,236, an all-time high.

The fair grounds will open to the public daily from 6 a. m. until 10:30 p. m.

One of the exhibits introduced for the first time will be one showing how the growing of Maryland tobacco has progressed.

Another will be an invitation exhibit of the work of Maryland artists.

No one knows just how many exhibits will go on display in the farm wives' section. A corps of women was tabulating them tonight.

One farm wife alone has entered 300 jars in the canned fruits, vegetables, marmalades, jams, jellies and preserves exhibits.

There will be eight races daily at the Timonium Track during the 11-day fair, with first race post time 2 p. m. daily.

Topping tomorrow's inaugural racing card is the $1,200 Forest Lore Purse, an allowance event at six and a half furlongs.

The livestock exhibits will center around the horse breeder's show tomorrow and Thursday, and on the equitation show Friday.

Art needlework and canned foods will be judged Saturday. A special 4-H Club program will be held Sunday. Cattle and draft horse judging starts Labor Day.

September 5 will be Grange Day; September 6, Farm Bureau and Garden Club Day; September 7, Governor's Day; September 9, Baltimore City Day, and September 9—final day of the 1950 fair—will be Baltimore County Day.

Station WMAR-TV is moving its television studio from the Sunpapers' building in Baltimore to a tent at the grounds for the fair.

Besides the regular studio programs to be televised from the tent, WMAR-TV will televise the first two races each day and other outstanding events at the fair.

Baron To Address Zionist Meeting

Morris Baron, a local attorney who is just back from an air trip to Palestine and the Holy Land, will be the principal speaker at the Cumberland Zionist District meeting Thursday at 8:30 p. m. at Beth Jacob Vestry Room, North Centre Street.

Baron has spent the summer in Israel and he will give a late news and eye witness account of present-day Israel, showing a film produced there entitled, "House in the Desert."

George Ossip, president of the Cumberland Zionist District, called the special meeting.

Hyndman Plans Loyalty Rally

A "Loyalty Rally" will be held in the Hyndman, Pa., Community Center tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock, sponsored by Oscar Jordan Post No. 7375, Veterans of Foreign Wars, of that community, local veteran organizations have been advised.

According to Post Commander Ray Whitehair of Henry Hart Post No. 1411, VFW, who lashed out against the area's communists and their fellow travelers a couple of weeks ago, a delegation from the local VFW will attend.

Whitehair said he had been informed by members of the Hyndman post that there are a number of communists in the Hyndman area, and the VFW there plans to ask every citizen in the community to sign a loyalty pledge.

Speakers at the rally tomorrow night will include Judge J. Colvin Wright, Assemblyman Robert Clapper and other leading citizens of the community and county.

Albert Lynch, commander of the Hyndman VFW, said all members of his post and all members of other patriotic organizations in the town and vicinity are urged to attend the rally.

Allen Morton Receives Celanese Award

Allen Morton, Lonaconing, was presented a certificate and a twenty-five year emblem yesterday by John Brenneman, who is assistant superintendent of spinning, Celanese Corporation of America. H. C. Givens, Jr., plant manager, presented him with a wrist watch.

Mr. Morton began his career at the Celanese plant August 26, 1925, as a spinner. He is now a charge hand in spinning, and he is also a member of the Lonaconing Republican Club.

Republicans Afraid Of Record, Says Tydings

BALTIMORE, Aug. 29 (AP) — Senator Tydings (D-Md) said today that the Republican candidates for his job "are afraid to face up to their party's record in Congress on national defense, both before World War II and since that time."

Tydings, who is candidate for his party's renomination for a fifth term, said in a campaign statement that "if the United States and the free world had followed the Republican position we would be impotent today."

Group Escapes In Elevator Fall

Sereval prominent citizens escaped serious injury yesterday evening, when an elevator in the Liberty Trust office building dropped rapidly for about three floors.

The mishap occurred at about 6 p. m. as the group was leaving a meeting of an industrial promotion committee in the Chamber of Commerce offices.

Aboard the car when the incident occurred were Mayor Jesse Jacobs and Councilmen William Eberly and Perry Meyers, all of Frostburg; Francis A. Kenney, chairman of the City-County Industrial Promotion Committee; David Kauffman, chairman of the Steering Committee for Economic Development; Earl Chaney, member of the Industrial Promotion Company; and Harold W. Smith, manager of the Chamber of Commerce.

The group was badly shaken and some of them were examined by physicians. No cause of the mishap was immediately determined. Inspectors said safety devices on the car prevented a more serious crash.

$15,000 Suit Lodged Against Cab Company

Suit was docketed for $15,000 yesterday in Circuit Court against Johnny's Cabs Inc., and Albert A. Doub, receiver for the firm, by Thomas Miller, a minor, through his father, Merlyn F. Miller.

According to Harold E. Naughton, attorney for the Millers, one of Johnny's cabs struck the Miller boy last December 4 on Independence Street, as the lad was crossing the thoroughfare.

Negligence is alleged in the suit and the document claims the Miller youth suffered serious injuries about his head and body.

Death Benefit Payments Drop

Maryland families received $13,573,000 in life insurance death benefit payments in the first half of this year, compared with $14,720,000 in the corresponding period of last year and $9,671,000 in the first half of 1941, the Institute of Life Insurance reported.

The number of policies becoming claims in the first six months was 17,162 which compares with 17,211 in the corresponding period of the previous year and 14,490 in the first half of 1941.

"These payments reflect the greatly increased use of life insurance by the American people in their family financial security plans, during the past decade," Holgar J. Johnson, president of the Institute, said in announcing the figures.

"Death benefits paid in the first half of this year countrywide are nearly 60 per cent greater than in the corresponding period of 1941 even though mortality among policyholders generally is at or near a record low rate," he added.

Ridgeley To Issue Bicycle Tags Thursday

Permits for bicycles will be issued in Ridgeley, W. Va., Thursday between 1 and 5 p. m. at the police station, according to Robert Edenhart, town recorder, last night.

Under a Ridgeley ordinance all bicycles must be inspected and must display a license tag.

According to Arch E. McCord, chief of police, cyclists must be prepared to furnish the name of the bike, the wheel size, the serial number of the frame, the type of the frame and the color of the vehicle.

The wheel also will be inspected as to brakes, warning device and lights if used at night. There is a fee of 25 cents for each bicycle license, Edenhart said.

School Lunch Program Boosts Farm Market

The school lunch program in Maryland provided an expanded outlet for farm products last year, and the share of local farmers and distributors in this growing market amounted to over $3,000,000.

This evidence of the importance of the school lunch program to Maryland farmers was announced yesterday by Joseph H. Blandford, chairman of the Maryland PMA State Committee, on the basis of preliminary reports from PMA's food distribution programs branch.

During the school year which ended in June, over 100,000 youngsters in Maryland's public and private schools ate noon meals under the National School Lunch Program. This was an eight per cent increase in the number of children reached by the program as compared with the 1948-49 school year.

In addition, Maryland school children received considerable quantities of surplus food donated by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Over 90 million pounds of such foods — acquired under the farm price support program of the Department — were distributed to Northeastern schools last year.

News In Brief

A color movie furnished by the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company will be shown at the regular meeting of the Lions Club at Central Y. M. C. A. today at 12:15 p. m.

Pa. School Bus Law Is Cited

Maryland motorists traveling in Pennsylvania are warned by Keystone Automobile Club that Pennsylvania's new school bus law becomes effective with the opening of schools in September.

Motorists are obliged to stop within 10 feet of buses discharging or taking on passengers, whether approaching from the front or rear, on highways outside business and residence districts and other designated places, as follows:

1. Upon a highway with separate roadways, when the school bus is on a separate roadway.

2. Upon a limited or controlled access highway, when the school bus is stopped in a loading zone adjacent to or part of such highway and where pedestrians are not permitted to cross such highway.

3. Upon a highway when a school bus is stopped off the highway in a loading zone, the driver need not stop his vehicle upon meeting or passing a school bus.

Buses must be equipped with signals flashing red to the rear and amber to the front.

VA Head To Speak

R. T. Brown, chief of the vocational rehabilitation and educational division of the Veterans Administration in Baltimore, will be guest speaker at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis Club tomorrow at Central YMCA.

Permits Granted For Three New Homes

Permits for new homes estimated to cost a total of $11,000 have been granted at the city engineer's office.

Harold J. Robinson, 310 Cecelia Street, obtained a permit to build a $4,000 residence at 703 Hill Top Drive. The one and one-half story dwelling will be of brick construction. N. H. Light is the contractor.

A permit was granted to Carl A. Redinger, 1725 Frederick Street, to build up a one-story frame residence, estimated to cost $4,000, on Lot 17, Block 31, Brentwood Street.

Harry R. Kenney, 3 Orchard Street, secured a permit to construct a one and one-half story frame and inselbrick residence at 172 Holland Street. Estimated cost is $3,000.

Jewell Convalescing

Magistrate C. A. Jewell, who has been ill with bronchitis for several days, is convalescing at his home, 5 Bridge Street, Ridgeley.

Medical Checkups Cited For School Youngsters

Thousands of children throughout the country will soon be going off to school for the first time. Great preparations have been made for this big event. Most of these youngsters have new clothes and some unfamiliar new tools, like pencil cases and note books.

Unfortunately, for some of these would-be pupils the most important part of the child's preparation for school life will be skipped. This is the complete medical checkup which every child who is entering school should have, the Maryland Tuberculosis Association said yesterday.

To get the most out of his school attendance, the child should be in sound mental and physical condition. Many parents who mean well, but who neglect the child's preschool medical checkup, may be sending that child off to school—into a strange, new life—with one or more serious handicaps.

Many of the imperfections of early childhood could be corrected if discovered early in the life of the child and treated promptly. Where he parents' budget would be strained by the extra expense of a medical checkup, advantage should be taken of hospital or clinic facilities in the community, the association suggested.

Among the handicaps some children face are poor eyesight, impaired hearing, faulty posture, speech defects, injured hearts, nervous and behavior disorders, diseased tonsils, foot deformities, and malnutrition.

Any one of these "childhood deficiencies," if undetected and allowed to go unchecked, will not only impede educational progress, but frequently mean serious illness later in life, the association warned.

Stewart To Speak

A. Charles Stewart, Frostburg, register of wills of Allegany County, will be guest speaker at the regular dinner meeting of the Cumberland Optimist Club at Central YMCA tonight at 6:15 o'clock.

Harold E. Naughton, club president, said Stewart will discuss the work of the register of wills and his duties with the Orphans Court.

Labor Day Picnic To Include Free Rides, Eats, Fireworks

Cumberland's second annual Labor Day picnic and parade sponsored by a joint council of local unions promises to be bigger and better than last year, according to Paul Burley, secretary of the group last night.

Burley said the parade, which begins in South Cumberland at 10:30 a. m., will be at least twice as large as last year's colorful revue, and the picnic at Crystal Park will have a number of added attractions.

In addition all members of the Joint Labor Day Committee and other representatives of organized labor will attend a church service Sunday night, September 3, at Living Stone Church of the Brethren where Rev. Arthur Scrogum, pastor, will deliver a special Labor Day sermon. The service is scheduled for 7:30 p. m.

At Crystal Park following Monday's parade, all children attending will be given two tickets each for each of the several rides in the park. These include a merry-go-round, ferris wheel, loop-a-plane, pony rides, miniature train and others.

The committee also has arranged for free refreshments for the youngsters including milk, ice cream and soft drinks, plus a special program of games and contests supervised by the City Recreation Department. Prizes will be awarded to the winners.

Burley said everything possible is being done to make the affair a real old-time Labor Day outing with attractions for the oldsters as well as the youngsters.

As an extra feature a program of fireworks will be displayed at night, Burley said. The committee has made a special arrangement with Bert Caldara of Mt. Savage, who staked the Optimist Club display at Fairgo and the city's display at Constitution Park, to arrange the exhibit.

The Joint Labor Day Committee will hold a meeting in Teamsters Hall tonight at 7:30 o'clock to complete arrangements and final details for the entire program.

Civil Defense Head Lists Do's And Don'ts On Attack

A further explanation and additions to the first of a series of instructions issued in order to provide citizenry with accurate information on atomic explosions has been submitted by William G. Barger, county Civil Defense director.

Barger recalled that instructions in the first article released to him by the state director of defense dealt with action before and at the time of an atomic attack. The following instructions, he noted, apply after the attack has taken place and might be termed, "Do's and Don'ts after an Atomic Explosion," he noted:

1. Keep at least one flash light in the house in workable condition. It is preferable to keep it in the cellar but if that is impractical, at least on the first floor. Gas mains may be broken and other fumes will be present in the atmosphere. There is no point in blowing yourself up in this fashion after taking precautions which have saved you from the bomb.

2. Keep your home as free as possible from unnecessary junk — especially in the attic. Old papers and old rags will simply add fuel to a fire that may occur.

3. Don't pick up the telephone and call for help. Help will be forthcoming as soon as possible and the phone will be needed by those endeavoring to assist you.

4. Don't start rumors. Rumors may prove costly both in time and lives.

5. Don't rush out to see what is going on. Stay where you are and do what you can to put things in order in your own home.

6. Be careful of the food and water you consume. The food in your ice box is not likely to be contaminated in any way. It is best to use food from cans and other containers. Wash the containers before opening them.

7. Turn on the radio; if the power in your neighborhood has not been put out of service you will
